British Politicians Start Great Movement That May Be Carried Out.

Members of Parliament Again Demand Privilege of Franking.

(By PAUL LAMBETH.)

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The latest and most important news in British politics is a movement to unite English, Irish, Scotch and Welshmen who favor Home Rule. The proposition is being seriously urged.

The Angles Liberal Association, recently unanimously adopted a resolution to co-operate with the Scottish Nationalists in promoting the movement, have now communicated further on the matter with every Liberal organization in Wales. The Welsh National Liberal Council had a similar resolution on the calendar recently.

APPEALS TO SCOTCH

A remarkable document has been issued by Comyn Nan Albanach (The Scots National League). The document, which is headed "A Manifesto to the Scottish People" makes the following appeal: "Scotsmen! Which would you rather—a land, your own and filled with the peaceful homes of your kindfolk, preserving inviolate your old traditions, and informing your institutions with your old time characteristic genius, or a land, not your own, despoiled of men, to form a playground for the cosmopolitan. Does it please you, see Scotland's sons acting as children, valets, and lackeys to their unlovely, cruel and Scotland's daughters in the ignominious position of tire-women and hand-maids to their wives and daughters? Surely it need not be asked. You know in your heart that nothing can compensate for the loss and perversion of your people. Awake in your strength! Not with empty boasting and vain-glorious, but with unflinching determination, set yourselves to the task. Grasp with both hands your destiny, and fear not at all. Raise the lamp of freedom on high till it gleams from your land to the uttermost ends of the earth. And this be your slogan and your hope, your high resolve and your victory—Scotland free, Scotland sovereign, Scotland a nation once again."

DEMAND FRANK.

Once more members of Parliament are demanding the privilege of franking their correspondence—which is generally heavy.

Not only to such an extent that once a member of Parliament is free of bounds from Sussex to a midland county, but franks were freely given away in payment for political service, or money was raised upon them by imprudent members who had only to sit down and write their names on several hundred envelopes.

To such a pitch came the scandal of franking that not only did the number of bona-fide franks far outweigh the letters paid for, but fraudulent franks were freely used. King George gave his own postage as did Queen Victoria.

INVENTION INTERESTS.

Scotland Yard is taking a keen interest in an invention which, if it is truly successful, will make it possible to call up a policeman or tax collector by the simple pressing of a button. The device consists of a telephone apparatus which can be fixed to the front of an hotel, shop, or building at any desired height. By the pressing of a button a Hertzian wave signal is transmitted over an area of about 25 to 300 yards, reaching any vehicle fitted with a receiver.

C. E. Kelway, the inventor, suggests that a policeman may carry in his belt a small receiver which, when the waves from the button are sent, will emit a buzzing noise indicating to the constable that his assistance is required.

CHURCH FINANCES LOW;
PASTOR SEEKS A JOB

CHESTER, Pa., Nov. 1.—Finance, it is alleged, may be the cause of the loss of the Rev. C. E. Sargeant, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, who has been compelled to get a job and has secured a position in a Philadelphia department store. The conditions are brought about, it is said, by conditions following the action of the Rev. John Priest, a former pastor of the church, who dissolved the Women's Aid society and created a Pastor's Aid society, compelling the former organization that had always been active in raising money for the church, to retire.

Today a number of the women who have been members of the Women's Aid went to Philadelphia to call upon District Superintendent Frank R. Lynch relative to the church and its financial affairs, and to help him to have the Women's Aid reinstated. The trouble with the Rev. Priest was brought about, say the women, over the selection of a carpet and other furniture for the parsonage. He was not liking the color of the carpet nor the style of the upholstery of the chairs.

ELEPHANT RESCUES
THOUSAND FROM RIVER

CALCUTTA, Nov. 5.—During the sudden rise of the river Ganges near Sorghol recently, while thousands of pilgrims were bathing in the river and being swept away by the flood, a certain Jang Bahadur, saved, it is said, at least a thousand lives with ropes attached to his shoulders. It repeatedly swam to the distressed pilgrims, who clung to the ropes, and pulled them to safety. Two hundred of the pilgrims were drowned.

Search for Monk Maccock Succeeds; Slayer Confesses His Crime.

Tells Sensational Story of How He Murdered His Brother.

(By GEORGE FRASER.)

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 5.—Disquieting news concerning the health of the Czarina reach here from Tsar Nicholas. The Czarina is said to be in a very unsatisfactory condition. She suffers from what her own physicians call melancholia. She was so ill last lately it was quite impossible to arouse her for several days. Her entourage are very depressed.

FUGITIVE MONK CONFESSES.

I told last week of the search for the Monk Maccock wanted for the robbery of the shrine of Czestochowa in Russian Poland, and the murder of his own brother. The fugitive has been captured at Warsaw and has confessed. His confession constitutes one of the most horrible records of crime on record. Detailing the murder of his brother, Maccock said he made the deed in his cell on July 24, and belabored him with a hatchet. Then he absolved the living man of his sins and strangled him. The motive of the crime was his brother's threat to inform the police that he had plundered a shrine of very valuable treasures.

The monk's servant, Zaloga, who is still at large, advised him to put the body into a large trunk, but one of his brothers could not be obtained. Wrapping the corpse in an old fur coat they stuffed it into a safe, and hired a coachman to take it at night to the river, where it was sunk. Maccock told the police that the disposal of the body in this manner was in the interests of the church, and bound him to secrecy by a solemn oath before the crucifix.

FIND JEWELS.

The police have since succeeded in finding part of the jewels stolen by Maccock from the shrine and treasury of the monastery at Czestochowa. They were hidden in the ground near the monastery. Maccock told the police that he had hidden the jewels in the ground near the monastery, and that he had also hidden the body of his brother in the same place. The police have since found the jewels, but the body has not yet been recovered.

ANOTHER ARREST.

To the many sensational arrests recently made in Russia is now added that of the Imperial Court, who is well known, together with Mme. Bezobrazoff and Abaza, in connection with the famous case of the Yaku River, which was the subject of a sensational trial immediately preceding the war with Japan. M. Vonitarsky follows his own on a staff captain, into prison primarily as being involved in the case of the Yaku River, which was the subject of a sensational trial immediately preceding the war with Japan. LUTHER'S MANUSCRIPT
IS FOUND IN BELFRY

BERLIN, Nov. 5.—Valuable relics of Luther and Melancthon, the leaders of the Reformation, have been found in a very curious place at Wittenberg, in Saxony Prussia. The leatherbook of the principal church in the town was being repaired, when the workmen found a metal ball under the cross. This ball was hollow and made to open, and inside were discovered two ancient documents. One dated 1539 is signed by Martin Luther, who himself had written three of the four pages, the fourth being a certificate affirming that Luther had written it himself. The second document, which is dated 1556, is also of four pages, and is written by Philip Melancthon, friend and disciple of Luther. Both Luther and Melancthon are buried in the church above, and these writings of theirs had been hidden for nearly four centuries.

BADLY INJURED IN WINNING 'FOOL' BET

CALCUTTA, Nov. 5.—Chapters have been written upon strange bets and some odd things done as the result of them. At a little khana on the balcony of Green's restaurant, in Bombay, a few nights ago, a young sub-editor of the "Times of India," named Knox, met an acquaintance named Knox—the son of Sir George Knox, the Chief Justice of the Allahabad High Court—one hundred rupees that he dare not jump over the balcony on to the nearest tree and slide to the ground. Knox at once won his bet—a mad attempt, seeing that the trees in the compound are only of the wet Papaya variety. Results, Knox's arms were broken, and the patient is still in danger of completely losing the use of his right arm.

MANUEL JOINS CIRCLE OF EXILES

The Former Ruler of Kingdom Must Live Life of Country Gentleman.

(By LADY MARY MATTHEW.)

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The pathetic circle of kings in exile has received the Portuguese regent and doubtless the young ex-King Manuel will gradually assimilate himself to the life of an English country gentleman, and will not have any real employment than he did when he was trying to balance himself on the tottering Portuguese throne.

The young king may or may not have finally lost the throne of Portugal, but he is still high sultan of the Hatter and Punter Africa Seas, also Lord of Guinea—and, if rumor be correct, of safely lodged guineas as well—master of navigation and commerce of Ethiopia, Arabia, Persia and India, while his father is sufficiently elastic to be worn for life.

MANY IN EXILE.

The days when an Emperor and Empress of France, a Queen of Spain, and a King of Hanover were in exile at the same time are now over. The rulers in exile of today are Orient's despots, the Shah of Persia, a pensioner of Russia, and Abdul Hamid, not really an exile, but hidden behind the walls of the Villa Abdol in Salonica. To see with the widow of that cosmopolitan scamp, ex-King Milan, and the aged ex-Empress Eugenie, complete the list. And yet the lives of the majority of royal and princely exiles seem cast in peasant places. Endowed with the spirit of the peasant, they live as long as they live up to the rather elastic moral standard permitted to princes they enjoy the honors and pleasures of royalty without the responsibilities.

DANGER OF WAR IN BALKANS
ELIMINATED FOR LONG TIME

Statesmanship of Count von Aehrenthal Gets in Its Good Work and Atmosphere is Clarified, According to Diplomatic Circles in Vienna.

(By EMIL ANDRASSY.)

VIENNA, Nov. 5.—That the statesmanship of Count von Aehrenthal has so far eliminated the danger of war in the Balkans has been generally felt in diplomatic circles here.

This impression has been strengthened by a recent statement made by Count von Aehrenthal to the Foreign Committee of the Hungarian delegation. He said: "We can give the new regime in Turkey our friendship and support. I have the satisfaction to know that a complete understanding with Constantinople exists. Like other Powers, we have deep interest in the consolidation of Turkey, as thereby we shall be relieved of the trouble and danger of concerning ourselves with the internal affairs of that Empire. Immediately after the events of 1908 the Vienna cabinet recognized that a totally altered situation had been created in regard to which a material change in the position of the powers had become inevitable, a point of view in which the other Powers concurred. I can only repeat we follow the efforts of the new regime in Turkey with a sincere good will, and await from it the establishment of a good government and the strengthening of its power within and without."

So gallantly disposed is the Austrian government towards its former subjects that the postal authorities have decided to devote special parcel delivery vans to the transport of the extremely large hats which are the mode in Austria just now.

Many complaints were received from their customers by the leading military firms of Vienna that the costly "creations" reached their destination in the form of an unrecognizable tangle of velvet and feathers.

Representations were thereupon made to the postoffice with the result that special "hat collecting vans" are to be brought into service in Vienna.

SOLDIERS OF FORTUNE SWEEP DOWN ON PORTUGAL, EAGER TO SELL ARMS

GIBRALTAR, Nov. 5.—From all parts of the compass "The Vultures" have been swooping down on Portugal. These are modern soldiers of fortune, who are willing to sell their swords in any cause, however desperate, so long as there is fighting or plunder to be got. Several of them have been in Gibraltar endeavoring to press their services upon King Manuel, and many more are on their way to Lisbon. Some had only to cross the strait from Morocco, where for the last few years they found a congenial field for their activities.

Little-known details of the Wellington pedigree is that Wellington's great naval contemporary and fellow-hero, Horatio Nelson, was likewise a lineal descendant of the Lady Elizabeth Plantagenet, but through her elder daughter, Eleanor, who married the first Earl of Ormonde. The pedigree comes down through Mary Boling (sister of Queen Anne), wife of Sir William Carey, and through the Woodhouses to Anne Woodhouse, who married Robert Suckling, and was grandmother of Catherine Suckling, Nelson's mother. The great Admiral was the sixteenth in direct descent from King Edward, and it is certainly a point of no little interest that the greatest soldier and sailor England has ever produced should have been able to trace their common ancestry to the greatest King—from a military point of view—who ever wore the English crown.

SCHOOL BOYS'

Beslon Meets Old Enemy by Chance, Wines and Dines Him, Then Slays

Sixteen-Year-Old Boys Held for Stabbing a Bank Messenger

(By PAUL VILLIERS.)

PARIS, Nov. 5.—A crime that surpasses anything in the history of American feuds was perpetrated recently at St. Enogat. It was the culmination of a simple school boy's fight which occurred twenty-six years ago. The victims had forgotten all about it.

The assassin, one Beslon, chanced upon his victim, a man named Gatois. The recollections of Gatois were of the most friendly description. He could not make sufficient of the individual who struggled with himself to murder the "three Rs." He gave him a good dinner and showed him over his shop, and introduced him to many of his friends. The unrepentant Gatois had him again to lunch. They had a good joke and then went into the garden.

Beslon suddenly drew a revolver. "You brute," he shrieked. "Do you remember what you did to me twenty-six years ago?" Beslon watched Gatois as he fired, and as his old comrade fell smashed his skull with the revolver. Neighbors who had heard the shot took the man prisoner. Gatois was taken to a hospital where he died the same night. Beslon, a gentleman of "Twenty-six years ago," is said, "that man struck me when I was defenseless, I have been waiting a chance to revenge myself."

CHIMPANZEE SUITOR.

The other day as twenty working girls came out of a dressmaker's shop in the Rue Belleau at midday an arm encircled the waist of one of them.

The girl protested indignantly. The too callous tailor was well dressed, but he was a hideous little person.

The girls began making fun of him, when suddenly he caught hold of one and put his face close to hers. She was a chimpanzee, the pet of an explorer living near at hand. He was captured after a struggle and carried off by his master's cook, who went to fetch him at the police station, there he had spent the night.

An amusing item of the story is that the magistrate put very angry with the chimpanzee when he was first brought in because he refused to answer any question. It was wisely indicated when told that he was talking to a chimpanzee. His honor being near sighted, did not know that.

BOYS SLAY VICTIM.

The authorities are puzzled as to what disposition they should make of the two sixteen-year-old boys, George Tisler and Paul Demarest, who planned and carried out one of the most deliberate murders known in this city. The victim was a boy named Andre, who was killed by the boys. The boys were found with a knife which they knew Andre would be required to collect at Tisler's residence when due.

Tisler is the son of a widow, a meat vendor, who lives in a tenement house. He and Demarest were born when the bank collector called. The boys killed Andre and then bound his body, fearing the state would inflict capital punishment on a fatal crime.

The victim was lifeless, however. The murderers left the house together, after dividing the gold found in their victim's box, laughing as they went. They bought new clothes and went to the bath in the bathing establishment they visited the paper money which they had obtained, and separated for an hour to "fit themselves out as gentlemen."

They then took a new car and went to their new outfit there, and, hiring a taxi-cab, went for a drive. In the evening the murderers dined at a good restaurant, and took a box at the Chatelet Theater.

CRIME DISCOVERED.

Next morning the crime was discovered by the constables of the house where Tisler lived. His mother had returned home late from her work expecting to find her son there. As he did not return, and she had no keys to the flat, the constable gave her a key for the night. In the morning, as Tisler had not appeared, the constable broke open the door and came rushing downstairs for the police, saying the boy had committed suicide. But when the police came the victim was identified.

Descriptions of the two lads were sent broadcast, especially to reporters, it being thought that they might slip for America. The detectives succeeded in discovering them through the new newspaper. Two women on whom the youths had been spending money lavishly, and who were horrified when they learned where the money had come from.

The two confessed with the utmost effrontery, when they were taken to police headquarters. "We intended to do it before," Tisler said, "and I had forged a bill on myself for an earlier date. But we reflected the bank messengers were likely to have more money at the end of the month, and wanted to make good a haul as possible. Demarest added, 'We had two glorious days, and we still only get a few years in prison, as we are too young for the gallows!'"

The youths are types of a class that is rapidly growing here. The police, despite the boys' confessions believe that the crime was planned by a professional criminal and carried out under their directions. The boys never had any experience in handling

RIVALS FIGHT
DUEL OVER WOMAN

Revolver Battle Wages Fercely
With Door Between the

Germany Happy As Nation
Whose People Marry Young.

(By MALCOLM CLARKE.)
BERLIN, Nov. 5.—A real duel was fought here recently. The parties to it were a baron, who is something of a wine shop statesman, and a bank clerk, and the cause of the duel was a lady. The affair took the clerk by surprise, as he was reclining in an easy chair in his bedroom in a West End flat, being snored.

Suddenly the progress of the razor was checked by a vigorous rattling of the handle of the locked door that he, too, had a revolver in his hand, and it came to a question of shooting which probably proved to be the better marksman of the two. To this the baron added an inquiry as to who the stranger was and what his business might be. The intruder then announced himself as Baron von K., ex-cavalry officer, and said that he had come to reclaim a young woman who had formerly acted as his housekeeper and had left his service to enter that of the bank clerk in a similar capacity.

DUEL THROUGH DOOR.

To this the lady's new employer responded that his interest in her was not of a nature to justify him in embarking on an affair of honor on her account, and he called upon the infuriated baron to leave the premises without delay. Crack went the baron's bullet through the door, whereupon the clerk also fired, and the door was shattered. The duel continued through the riddled door until both had exhausted all their ammunition. Meantime the agonized barber, flourishing his soap-brush, had been waiting loudly through the window for assistance. A squad of police arrived and arrested the infuriated duellists. They were taken to the police station, where they found the lady who was the cause of the quarrel. She was in a favorable mood, and the baron, who suspected her of having transferred her affections to the clerk, the baron said as he was pushed into a cell: "The end of this is not yet." No blood was shed.

MARRYING YOUNG.

If Lord Beaconsfield's dictum, "Happy is the nation whose people marry young," were correct, then Germany may claim to be fairly happy.

During 1908 there were 23,000 marriages, 1900 were those of women under twenty and 556 between forty and forty-five. As for men, the greater number of those who marry are 30 years of age. This is a probable cause for the fact that every man is liable to military duty during the best years of his life. Marriage rates are falling in London, but are going up in Berlin. In effect, the war of 1870 is shown in charts, which indicate an abnormal increase in the number of births in Paris and Berlin during the war and a steady fall in both cities ever since.

The woman of most continental cities, however, marry at an earlier age than those of England. Of 35,000 London marriages recorded in 1908 24,000 were those of people between 20 and 30 years of age. Of the total number married 2279 were girls under 21. One of them was under the age of 16, her husband was 20.

WILLS HER DOG.

The Princess Tiesburg Dudding Mee-holz of Hessen, who died last December, left an estate worth £250,000 to her will. Her will bequeathed her fox terrier dog Tasso to Miss Nellie Smalley of Stockport, England. "The dog," she directed, "shall be sent to her free of cost if she should die before she is unable to take her, and the dog shall be sent as passenger baggage in the quickest train also the transport case must be marked so that the dog is fed by the live officials and the dog shall be given water to drink."

MURDERS MASTER.

Marie Busch, a ladies' maid shot her master with a revolver in his study at Frankfurt, and then telephoned to the police acquainting them with her act.

When the police arrived on the scene they found that the girl had blown a hole in the master's head. Marie had murdered her master and then shot herself. The girl, whose child had been adopted by her employers, murdered the child in a fit of madness two years ago, and was released from her confinement in an asylum last August. Fault is found with the authorities for having released her.

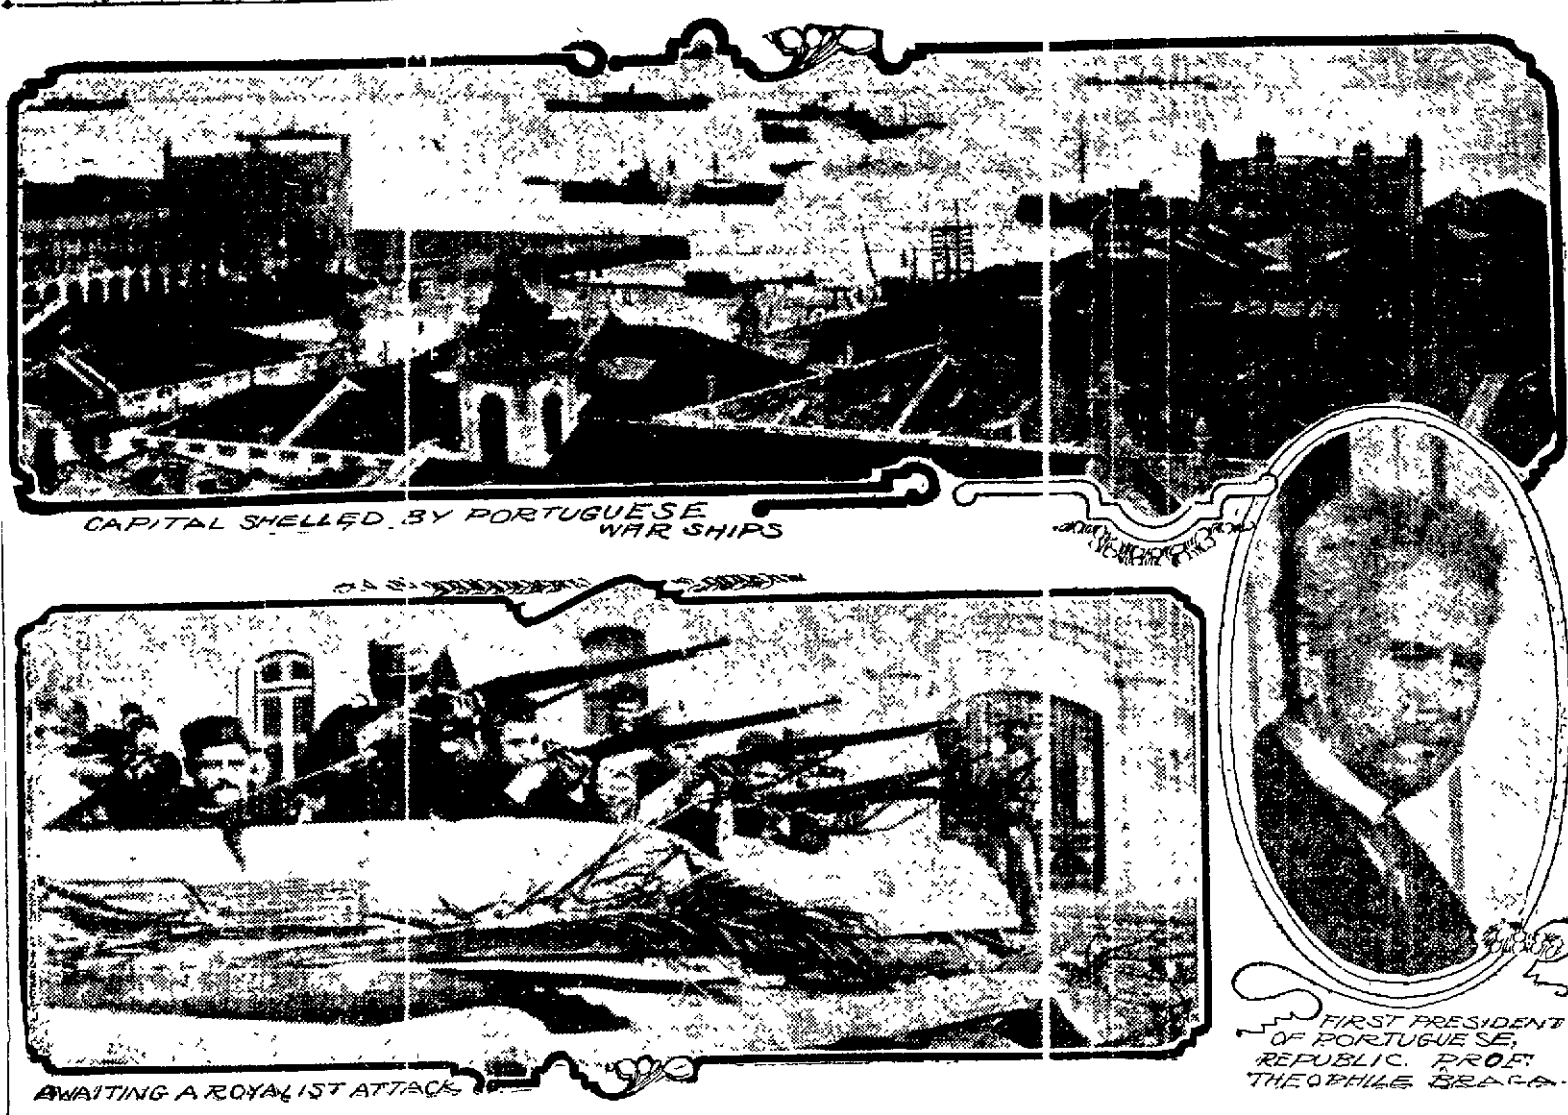

Referring to the discovery at Amden of maps and photographs alleged to be incriminating for Brandon and Trenb, Englishmen arrested on the charge of espionage at Borkum, the Tagblatt publishes an article, said to be written by a naval officer, showing the ease with which information such as would be of great value to the navy could be obtained along the North Sea coast, and that an expert would have no difficulty in making what note he wanted upon them, since the works can be seen by any passer-by.

ABOLITION OF SLAVERY
ORDERED IN PORTUGAL

LISBON, Nov. 5.—One of the most welcome results of the new regime in Portugal is the prospect of a speedy abolition of slavery in the Portuguese colonies. The inquiry of the slave traffic in the Azores islands of San Thomé and Principe has long been in international scandal. The late Portuguese government refused to take any action in the matter, and the leading British chocolate manufacturer instituted a boycott of cocoa from these islands.

The republican government has resolved to establish "absolute justice and freedom to natives."

(By THOMAS EMMET.)

DUBLIN, Nov. 5.—In line with what I presented recently in regard to the tendency of English officials to get in a fling at the United States and Americans generally, I give a synopsis of a hearing held a few days ago in the court of petty sessions, where a man named Ennis Kerry was arraigned for assault. Kerry said the complainant struck him on the temple.

Defendant—Had I a knife in my hand? Complainant replied that he had.

Hon. Captain de Vere Perry R. M. (to defendant)—Remember you are not in America now, where they can carry knives.

The captain repeated several times that the defendant might carry a knife and strike people across the head with a stick in America, but he would not be allowed to do it here.

Personally, he had "old his brother" and that he was in favor of sending the defendant to jail. "How long are you in this country?" he asked.

Defendant—Since I was born.

Captain de Vere Perry—I thought you were in America? Were you ever there?

Defendant—No.

Captain de Vere Perry—I thought you were. You have a strong American twang.

Defendant—That is where you make a mistake.

Explorer Mansfield Tells of the Fight He Waged Against Treacherous Ice.

Ship Locked in by Great Icebergs; Many Lives in Danger.

(By ERIC GRUNDMARK.)

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 5.—An intensely interesting story of arctic adventure reaches here from Tromsø, where the explorer, Ernest Mansfield, has just returned from the land of ice.

He chartered the steamer Aurora, of 41 tons, and left Tromsø on August 22. The vessel encountered an ice-pack off Bear Island, through which it wormed its way, arriving at Bell Sound on August 27, with ten hours' coal supply aboard.

After having landed men to gather timber supplies for erecting the new settlements of Millar and Williamson, the ship sailed immediately for Advent Bay for coal, returning on the following night to Tromsø.

Though the ice was closed in the explorer succeeded in getting his stores ashore, and then retreated into Lowe Sound. There was ice around and fog prevailed for several days, so that it was impossible to get out. Mansfield, therefore, went through the ice in a small boat to superintend the erection of a camp at Millar settlement.

JAMMED BY ICE.

The Norwegian craft, Hvidfisklen, was jammed into Bercherg Bay by the ice at the same time and in the same manner. Captain Svensson, a crew of ten, and the Finnish ornithologist, Ludvig Munsterhjelm, all without any provision.

The encroaching ice forced the Aurora to seek shelter in Braganza Bay, where it was stuck. The captain, pilot, and all the crew except the engineer, abandoned the vessel on September 17 and started for Advent Bay. Failing to reach it they returned in a furnished condition to Camp Millar, where Mansfield's manager supplied them with food. After the ship had been abandoned by them Mansfield assumed command and chose a crew from among his workmen. Three days later a terrific easterly gale came on. The anchors broke, and the vessel, drifting ashore through the massive ice, was crushed and threatened with destruction. The ship, however, steamed through the gaps between floes, finally anchoring amidst huge masses embedded in the ice.

HOPELESSLY FROZEN.

Nine days after his departure the captain was brought to the ship by three of Mansfield's Camp Millar men with the news that the Hvidfisklen was hopelessly frozen in by the young ice, that all hands were lying on one blanket, and that the ship had been crushed and was wrecked in Bell Sound.

Two geologists, who were acting for Mansfield, were stranded on Axel Island, and all the rest of the party were stranded on the mainland. Mansfield informed the captain that by abandoning his vessel he had forfeited his right to command her and that he himself would command her. The vessel several times would not be heeded, and would take all back as passengers.

But if they agreed to enter his service they must all engage in their former positions and never, otherwise, he would take the vessel back. Everyone was ready to agree, and Mansfield sent relief to the distressed men and a message that he would relieve them.

He then took his ship to Advent Bay, where he landed with coal and returned immediately to Camp Millar and Williamson, which he provided with the necessary winter fuel. He next sailed to the edge of the ice, where the Hvidfisklen was imprisoned, and picked up Captain Svensson and his passengers, crew, ship, and sledges, and stranded geologists, and sailed for Norway with 27 all told aboard—23 Norwegians, 3 Finns and himself.

GERMANY REJOICES

TARIFF WAR

Statistics Prove Struggle Is As

(By FREDERICK KWERNER.)

BERLIN, Nov. 5.—Statistics just published here show that tariff wars are almost as expensive as real ones, and that the people of Germany have every reason to rejoice at the provisional agreement which put an end to the long tariff war between Germany and Canada.

The tariff war ceased at the end of February, and the new provisional agreement came into force on March 1. During the first six months it brought about an average of 10 per cent. reduction in the tariff on goods imported from Canada

Previous to his war service Wood was a life of adventure from the time he was 14 years of age. At that time he left the little town of his birth for a place where he was born, and made his way to Wisconsin where he worked for three years as a lumberman. At the age of 17 he got together a party with six votes of oxen and a mowing machine, supplied with service at Pike's Peak. He underwent a hard trip to Pike's Peak and on arriving there he sold out his interest in the outfit to two other Vermont boys and returned back to his birth place. He remained back in the city where he enlisted for three years in the army which was then just beginning and here he became a terror in the criminal classes.

After the murder of Jesse Pomeroy as well as Piper who was afterwards hung for his crime.

After fifteen years as a police detective Wood resigned in 1874 and opened a saloon of his own in the old Herald building.

After thirty-one years experience as a private detective he has handled many murder cases all over New England.

On his retirement Mr. Wood transferred his business to his son James B. Wood Jr. who is the manager of the Wood-Morgan agency, No. 61 Court street.

Along life's weary way?
A friend whose heart has eyes to see
The stars shine out o'er the darkening day.

"SONNETS FROM PORTUGUESE."

"Sonnets From Portuguese." (Paul Elmer & Company) bids fair to be one of the most attractive books of the holiday season. The sonnets are printed, with Latin interludes, by Elizabeth Barrett Browning, edited with preface, notes, and appendix, by Arthur Guitelman.

Unlike all other arrangements of this kind, and tendered of sonnet sequences, it is a presentation of the work as the "Sonnets From Portuguese," just published by Paul Elmer & Company sets forth the sonnets as Robert Browning, to whom they were addressed, would read them—that is, with his wife's lyrics on the same personal theme as interludes.

The preface and notes by Arthur Guiterman, throw new light upon slightly obscure passages in the sonnets, and make them still more vividly human by showing to what episodes in the courtship of the two poets' specific lines refer. Robert Browning's poems to his wife are also included in the appendix; in fact the edition is so arranged as to present the whole beautiful lyric love story of the Brownings. The book is exquisitely bound in Caslon Italic old style type.

The "Cynic's" calendars of the last five years, the best things of which appear in this cynico-revered essence of them all, will reinforce how good the "Cynic's" "Cynic" just published by Paul W. Compare, must be. The many illustrations and the very decorations in red and black, are full of laughter. And the perverted proverbs which form part of the contents, are funnier and often much funnier than the originals. Among the funny perverted proverbs are these:

"There are enough serious things in life, without considering yourself one of them."

"Be family, 'Grace,' thank God they couldn't come."

"Don't borrow trouble; it is cheerfully given."

"Born with a silver spoon in your mouth, and somebody hopes you choke."
"O wad some power the g' h'e gie us,
To see some people before they see us."
"You may lead an aas to knowledge but you cannot make him think."
"Now the well of truth is an endless well."

The illustrations are very cleverly done, and the book is along original and very humorous lines.

WHOLLY CHARMING.

The Bobbs-Merrill Company of Indianapolis promise us this month another story by Marie Thompson Davies, who wrote that most successful story, "Miss Sellina Lue." The title of the new book is "The Road to Providence" and a very

Now and then there appears a story with a title so wholly charming that the reader is captivated before he even opens it. "The Road to Providence," who does not want to travel it, and dallying between its pleasant borders forget for a space the hard sensations of the city.

at the start, and without exaggeration, that Miss Davies' new book is just as good as its name wholesome, sweet with human kindness, juicy with humorous philosophy. Mother Mayberry, its chief character, is own cousin to Miss Selma Lee, who, with her soap-box bubbles, made such a host of friends when she appeared on the radio.

On the pages of the author's previous story last year. As Miss Selma Lee, who with her scab-box babies, made Bluff, so Mother Mayberry looks after Providence and its vicinity. A Tennessee country doctor's wife the mother of a distinguished physician, she herself is equal to curing any ailment from teething to tic. Large, radiating, capable, she "lives by the side of the road," and is a friend to every man, woman and child who passes.

With comes along it. Cheer, clothes, cake, roses, whatever is needed, she gives with free hand and warm heart. Naturally, being kin to Miss Selina Lee, Mother Mayberry is inclined not only to mothering but to epigrams. When she speaks, the milk is in the cocoanut every time. "Wondering how Eve stood things muster took Adam's mind offer himself to a very comforting degree."

But sentiment, piety, worldly wisdom, human sympathy, blended in Mother Mayberry, and surprising as it may seem, they all mix thoroughly, with the result that life seen through the compound is a beautiful, dignified, useful, serious, happy affair. Doctor Tom Mayberry, who has been away from home, is commissioned by the government to study the causes of pellagra among the people there, and he himself has confided to his mother's ministrations.

A number of the members of Sierra Council attended initiation of ten subjects at La Cote Council, Berkeley, last week, which was the banner class for the year.

The three mothership clubs are vying with each other and are practicing a regular "free-for-all," as with the joining of new members, and inflation of new money are noted. The appointment of new committees at the next

Local Promoters Also Demanded Payment for Giving Up Their Plans

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Just as arrangements were about to be completed between Israel Ludlow, representing the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association of San Francisco, and the aviators who took part in the recent aviation meet at Belmont Park for an aviation meet to be held in San Francisco November 23 to December 2, inclusive, a telegram was received by Ludlow from the Manufacturers and Merchants' Association in San Francisco declaring the meet off. No reason was given for the action, but the general belief that the $30,000 in addition to the $70,000 already raised by the business men of San Francisco was not forthcoming.

At a meeting last night between Mr. Ludlow and the managers of the aviators, the aviators gave their consent to go to San Francisco to take part in the meet, providing their committee in charge of the tournament in San Francisco would raise $100,000 for expenses and prize money.

READY TO ACCEPT.

Ludlow wired the committee in San Francisco to this effect. Mr. Ludlow today called the aviators together and showed the reply he had received from San Francisco. Agreements to go to San Francisco were then signed by Arch Hoxsey, Walter Brooks, Roland Garros, Edmund A. DuMars, Charles K. Hamilton, Claude Grahame-White, Ralph Johnstone, Harry S. Harkness and others.

Just as John B. Moisant was about to sign up, the telegram declaring the meet off was received from San Francisco.

SELLING MACHINES.

Following the announcement, J. Borel, manager of the French team which participated in the recent international meet here today told a Bioriot monoplane to Charles K. Hamilton for the sum of $7000. Borel said the craft because he believes he will be unable to use it in America in account of the Wright's interference in the San Francisco meet. Most of the foreign aviators are watching these negotiations as a guide to their future activity in America. They now believe that they will be unable to go here and intend to go home.

SHOT OF A HOLDUP.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—Local merchants who had planned an aviation meet, which was to surpass anything yet held on the Pacific Coast, to be held the latter part of this month, appear to have been so disgusted with the attitude taken by the man-birds in New York that they have decided to call the whole thing off.

LOCAL MEN'S DEMAND.

"I do not know what action may have been taken by the committee," said Schlessinger, "but I imagine that they decided that the recent demands made upon them were in the nature of a holdup. I am not familiar with all of the arrangements, but I might say that two things were reasonable for cancelling the whole affair, if it has been called off. First, the reported demands of the aviators for a $15,000 bonus and second, the fact that the members of the committee could not come to an agreement with the local promoters who were to give away in their plans of holding an aviation meet to the Merchants' Association in the meeting of the subcommittee it was mentioned that these

WAR TO KNIFE IN EXPRESS STRIKE

Companies Throw Down Gauntlet to Union Workmen in New York City.

Infuriated Mobs Threaten Violence; Leaders Discuss General Walkout.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—A joint letter from the representatives of the express companies to Mayor Gaynor this afternoon snapped off every negotiation for peace with their striking workmen, brought nearer to the entire business of the city a monster strike of every union teamster in the city and called together within an hour in Manhattan and Jersey City infuriated mobs intent on violence.

Within that hour also Patrick Roach, one of the strikers, was fatally shot by John Perry, a guard on an Adams express wagon at Broadway and Seventy-fifth street in this city. Perry declares he fired the shot in self-defense when the mob of strike-sympathizers attacked his wagon.

LETTER IS SURPRISE.

The letter from the express men came as a surprise after W. H. Aston, general organizer of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, leader of the strike, and a committee of workmen, representing every company, had vainly waited at the mayor's office throughout the day for word that all would be settled.

Whether the committee had been misled by misunderstood verbal messages or some one had blundered, is not known. The men had been waiting and were expecting a receive word that they could come back to work, irrespective of any union affiliations. The word that came was that they would be taken back and would not be discriminated against because of having left the employment. They were, therefore, greatly disappointed when the express companies issued the following statement in reply to the suggestions for a compromise.

TEXT OF STATEMENT.

"Although no demand was made on any express company by the strikers except by a small body of helpers of the United States Express Company for an increase of wages, the men will be recognized in their former positions and at their former salaries without discrimination against any for having left the service upon their individual application not later than Monday, November 7, 1910.

"After resumption of work and without delay the companies will endeavor to arrange wages satisfactory to the men and the company."

"Yours truly,
"Adams Express Co., J. Zimmerman, General Manager.
"American Express Co., H. I. Juler, Vice-President.
"National Express Co., T. N. Smith, General Manager.
"United States Express Co., Frank H. Platt.
"Wells-Fargo Express Co., E. A. Steadman, Vice-President."

THREATEN GENERAL STRIKE.

The men left the city hall in anger and tonight the city was full of rumors that within a few days "every thing on wheels in the city" would be at a standstill.

The truth of this could not be definitely learned tonight, as Daniel Tobin, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, and Valentine Hoffman, vice-president of the teamsters' organization, were in conference discussing the question.

"The general strike is the one thing we do not want to call," said Tobin. "It is our last weapon. We hate to injure innocent business men, but we must fight to the end. The express companies have played with us, they have fooled Mayor Gaynor, Governor Peck of New Jersey and every other person. They must take the consequences if they do not agree to so reasonable a proposition as ours."

LEADERS TO CONFER.

The labor leaders will have a conference tomorrow and at that time they will be joined by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor. This is taken to mean that the entire Federation may be drawn into the fight in New York City and it may mean a paralysis of the entire teaming business of the East and Middle West.

ROOSEVELT IS TO BE SUED BY JUDGE

Candidate for Governor Plans to Punish Ex-President for Alleged Slander.

S. Baldwin Wants Redress in Court for Reported Statement.

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 5.—Judge S. Baldwin, formerly chief justice of Connecticut, now Democratic candidate for Governor, said tonight that he had decided to sue Theodore Roosevelt for slander.

He issued the following statement, announcing his plans:

"I have asked ex-President Roosevelt to retract a statement which he made in a speech in New Hampshire as to my holding a certain view on a point of law. He denied that he made the statement in the form in which it was reported by the stenographer and widely published. He asked if I understood the letter of November 2 he had written me that the statement, if made, was true.

WILL BRING SUIT.

"I shall waste no more words upon him, but intend, when I have leisure to a tend to it, to bring suit on account of his making the statement, which I have no doubt was, in fact, correctly reported. I should have been pleased if he had made a fresh retraction. As he has refused to do this, I regard it as my duty to bring him to justice."

It is understood that Judge Baldwin will engage as his counsel Judge Alton B. Parker of New York and that the suit will be brought in New York State.

It was said that MacVeagh is to remain in the cabinet, but content plates withdrawal from active business. The report was said to be a rumor, and Charles M. '$8,000,000' Widow Serves Papers In Divorce Suit Against Philip Van Valkenburg Through Mails

MRS. PHILIP VAN VALKENBURGH, who is ready to bring divorce action against husband.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Mrs. Philip Van Valkenburgh, known as the "Eight Million Dollar Widow," although she is no longer a widow, said today at the Hotel Netherlands that everything is now ready for the prosecution of her divorce action in the Connecticut courts.

"I can only say," she said, "that Mr. Van Valkenburgh was served in Paris at the office of his banker."

Paris dispatches today cleared away the mystery of this matrimonial tangle. When Van Valkenburgh prepared to sail to Europe last June under an assumed name his wife went to Newport. He got away without papers being served upon him. He was traced to England, and there was lost sight of.

Mrs. Van Valkenburgh followed her husband to Europe, going to Vienna and then to Paris, where she lived in seclusion.

On October 17, when Van Valkenburgh appeared at the office of his bankers, Munroe & Company, he picked up an envelope addressed to his wife's handwriting. What he found therein appeared to Van him. What he said of the case has not been recorded.

He had successfully eluded the watchers set for him at his office and had kept his identity unknown to the hotel managers, but he could not escape when Mrs. Van Valkenburgh took the task of serving the papers into her own hands.

The amount of the divorce suit is a final financial settlement following an agreement made before the secret divorce was granted by Justice Mills in the Dutchess county supreme court at Poughkeepsie. All the papers in the case were put under seal.

The amount of the suit is said to have been fixed by mutual agreement. Rumors had it that Colonel Astor had made a cash settlement of several million dollars in lieu of alimony. It now appears that he paid a large sum in cash and is to pay in addition more than $100,000 a year during Mrs. Astor's lifetime. Since the final separation only in 1909 Mrs. Astor's alimony, the daughter, has been living with her mother and Vincent, the son, has been in the father's care.

Man Fails to Escape and Mother Waits All Night in Vain

Search of Ruins Next Morning Reveals Charred Body of Young Man

IRVINGTON, Nov. 5.—After waiting all night in vain for the return of her son and only support, Mrs. Manuel Lewis was informed by neighbors this morning that he had been cremated last night in a fire which destroyed the building in which he conducted a small shoe repairing shop.

Frank Lewis, 19 years old, had evidently returned to his shop last evening to complete some work which he had on hand. Shortly after 9 o'clock persons in the vicinity heard an explosion and soon afterwards the entire building was in flames. Nothing could be done to save it and it was allowed to be consumed, whilst unknown to bystanders the shoemaker was within.

BODY FOUND IN RUINS.

When he did not turn up this morning his widowed mother became alarmed. Search was made in the ruins of the structure and his body was found. It is believed that he accidentally ignited some oil or gasoline while at work, the explosion setting fire to his clothing so quickly that he was unable to summon aid or get out of the place before he was overcome.

Lewis was the only son and support of his mother and never hesitated to put in a few hours' extra labor at night in order to increase their income.

Owing to the lateness of the hour few persons were on the streets when the fire occurred, and it was some time before the alarm had spread and a sufficient number of voluntary fire fighters had appeared on the scene.

TRY TO SAVE BUILDING.

A vigorous attempt was made to save what they believed to be only the property consisting of a low building, as there was no indication that anyone had been within. The flames spread quickly as if the whole inside had been sprinkled with some inflammable substance, likely due to the explosion.

Deputy Coroner John Fredricks of Centerville took charge of the body after its removal from the debris this morning and an inquest will be held in an effort to determine what caused the fatal explosion.

Miss Elkins Not to Become Duke's Wife

Parisian Artist Says Girl's Papa Is Against Foreign Marriages.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Miss Elkins, the Duke of the Abruzzi, according to Miss Louisa D'Artem, a Parisian artist who arrived here today on the French ship La Sola, Miss Elkins recently made a portrait of the Duke's family, which included Senator LaRoche, Mrs. Elkins and Miss Elkins.

"Do you think that in the future it is possible you may be called upon to paint Miss Elkins and the Duke in one portrait?" Miss D'Artem was asked. "I have longed to do so," she replied, "but I am not hopeful of it, for Senator Elkins told me at one time that he would never consent to his daughter marrying a foreigner and that, of course, included the Duke."

"Senator Elkins was very emphatic when he said this and undoubtedly meant what he said."

BABY PARLOR OF THE NATIVE SONS GIVES SUCCESSFUL DANCE

MISS JENNIE MAIDES, Prominent Worker for Success of the N. S. G. W. Ball.

FRUITVALE, Nov. 5.—One of the most successful dances that has been given by the Fruitvale or "Baby" Parlor of the Native Sons, was held last night in Eagles Hall. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion in flowers and greens, draped by the deft fingers of the members of the committee of arrangements, which consisted of many women members of the parlor of Native Daughters. The dancers tripped to the strains of dreamy music rendered by unseen hands, for the orchestra stand was hidden behind a mass of evergreen and flowers.

George Zimmerman, An one Rose, Edward Brandt, James Leering and Jack Blodsworth completed the committee of arrangements and the dance.

One of the most prominent of the women workers for the success of the affair was Miss Jennie Maides, who worked both night and day for the good of the cause.

Roosevelt Passes Lie to Harmon, Greets Hundreds And Stumps Part of Ohio

CLEVELAND, Nov. 5.—Theodore Roosevelt today stumped a part of the state of Ohio, made a personal attack on Governor Harmon in connection with Harmon's investigations into the work of Paul Morton and endorsed him in Harding and said that if Harding became governor the people of Ohio would put through the oil bill, successfully placated a young woman who insisted on giving him health food and a hand-made pocket handkerchief, addressed great audiences at Toledo and Cleveland and made twenty-five speeches at railroad stations throughout Indiana and Ohio. Indorsed P. L. Howard for Congress and added to his praise of Beveridge for the Senate and rested the tariff plank of the Ohio platform.

CROWDS GREET ROOSEVELT.

Crowds gathered and greeted the former President everywhere, and former Secretary Garfield, who accompanied him, says that Roosevelt's appearance has made the state safely Republican. Garfield made no prediction as to the vote.

Governor Marshall of Indiana said he regarded the reception as worth a battle from a political standpoint.

The Democrats are safe in Indiana, said the governor. "Blaine drew the same kind of crowds. The men and women came to the station to see a meeting simply out of curiosity. There were twice as many men to hear me last night as greeted Roosevelt at Elkhart. I am devoting to new Nationalism a large part of my speeches. It simply a new kind of hero."

TEARS FOLLOW STORY OF DEATH OFFERS BIG SUM FOR MRS. CHIPPEN

Dr. Martin Case Goes to the Jury After Arraignment by Prosecution.

FRIDAY, Nov. 5.—The closing day of the trial of Dr. Martin Case for the death of his wife, the specific charge being neglect by a physician to give proper treatment, was marked by a break-up of the part of Martin when the prosecuting attorney described the death of his wife. Mrs. Brittain the dead woman's sister and other women in the audience wept.

The prosecutor brought out vividly the story which first aroused the community last spring when Martin quietly took his wife's body East before the city had realized that she was in ill health. He neglected the final declaration to the court that the young woman had died of a heart attack, and finally his refusal to admit any personal responsibility in the death of his wife, when she, in despair, had twice attempted suicide, were placed as rational bases of the charge that the husband had intentionally neglected to give the woman proper medical treatment while she was suffering agony and later deeds of self-destruction.

In the afternoon the members of the jury came into court to ask if they might return a verdict with an accompanying explanation. This was refused by the court. It was considered probable that the jury members considered the evidence to be bringing in a judgment of "not proven" under the law, but with a personal explanation of their feelings toward the defendant.

Friend of Condemned Slayer Willing to Pay $50,000 for Her Alive.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—To back his belief that Belle Elmore, the wife of Dr. Martin Case, still lives Dr. J. M. Munson of Philadelphia offered a reward here tonight of $50,000 to any one who will produce her. "I will even pay it," he said, "if she will come forward in time to save her husband."

"Believe," continued Dr. Munson, who formerly employed Elmore, "that either the woman is hiding, or else that she has been carried away by some one else. I know of no other way to save her."

The thumb was the first taken off by the law. After getting the injury, Dr. Case was hauled off to the hospital.

AVIATION MEET DECLARED OFF

San Francisco Merchants Decline to Pay Bonuses for the Men Birds.

men were demanding $500 to $1000 apiece to draw out and this, the committee thought, was exorbitant.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED.

The resolution is as follows: Resolved, That although an amount more than sufficient to guarantee the necessary fund for holding the proposed aviation meet is a direct, on account of the existing demands and threatening attitude of certain parties claiming to be promoters of this proposed aviation meet, and the uncertain attitude of the aviation committee, and the limited time in which to clear away difficulties, it is the unanimous opinion of the executive committee that the proposed aviation meet, set for November 23 to December 1, be postponed until a later date.

The executive committee returns thanks to the public for its hearty and substantial support, and to the Pacific Aero Club of San Francisco, and Dr. F. B. Dinkel, its president.

The resolution was signed by F. F. Scott, chairman, Henry T. Scott, Fred Shanon, Lieutenant Paul W. Beck, William H. Crocker, Charles T. Crocker, I. B. Dinkel, F. Dehmann, Jr., Colonel John H. Knapton, Leopold M. Nichols, E. O. McCormick, Colonel George H. Pippy and M. H. Robbins Jr.

The committee had $100,000 subscribed for the great event, including $25,000 in cash. It was not a lack of money that caused the postponement. The twelve aviators wanted out here would not be paid down to a definite proposition. While seemingly eager to come, they kept telegraphing additions to their original contracts. This difficulty might have been bridged over.

PROMOTERS MAKE CLAIM

A new complication yesterday was what angered the members of the committee. They were served notice by S. Greenberg, O. M. Preston, that they had a legal claim on the proceeds of the aviation meeting through an agreement they had made with President I. B. Dinkel of the Pacific Aero Club to get the bird men to come out here.

President Dinkel admitted that he had arranged with those men at the outset to get permission from the National Aero Club to hold the meeting here. He had got the permit and they had promised to finance the matter. This they had failed to do and he did not see why they had to come out here.

The committee members agreed that Dinkel's contention was right, but they said these men seemed bent on a lawsuit. So rather than have the affair jeopardized in any way, they thought it best to let it go over to some indeterminate date.

INDICTMENTS TO BE DRAWN TODAY

Preparation of Papers Against San Mateo Trio Will Be Finished.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—District Attorney Fickert, his assistant, B. A. Lane, and representative of the Attorney General's office will meet at noon tomorrow and prepare the indictments, which will be returned in court tomorrow by the Grand Jury against Joseph Francis, San Mateo Supervisor, Joseph Debenedetti, former Supervisor, and Carl J. Colburn, who aided the state in bringing up the hoodie ring of San Mateo county.

The indictment against the men was based upon the general extortion statute of the State. Debenedetti is not a Supervisor, but, according to Marshall, he made it plain that if money were not paid obstacles would be placed in Marshall's way in collecting the money due his firm from San Mateo county. Supervisor Francis is Debenedetti's son-in-law.

After midnight Friday Dr. Blackburn was arrested by Detective Minahan at the former's apartments in the Stratford Hotel. Minahan made several trips to the Stratford, but did not find Blackburn. In the indicted Supervisor returned late at night after he had secured bondmen.

The bondsmen, who are Jesse Palmer and John Caughey, farmers of San Mateo county, qualified on the bond, which was fixed at $5000 by Judge Van Ness. The police could not case against them. The still pending and his cash $5000, which was furnished by McDonald Brothers, bail brokers, is still or deposit in the bond and warrant clerk's office.

CRITICISES USE OF THE NAME OF EVANS

The Army and Navy Register Objects to Stock Advertisements Involving Admiral.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The use of Admiral "Bob" Evans' name in broadside and advertisements of stock in California oil company of which he is president is the subject of editorial criticism in the Army and Navy Register, a weekly publication of this city devoted to the news of this service. The parading of an officer in a stock-selling enterprise is severely condemned.

"I don't give a damn for the Army and Navy Register, but I do have concern about the use that has been made of my name, and I have done everything I could to stop it," said the admiral this evening in commenting on the editorial. "I am president of the California Oil Company, which owns property in the Midwest, Kern River and Coalinga fields."

"I am no longer a naval officer, but a retired admiral with nothing to do. It is perfectly proper for me to engage in a private enterprise so as to have something to do. A bond and trust company bought the stock of us and is selling it on the market without my permission. It has misused my name in a manner I have protested again. The officers have assured me that they will hereafter refrain from the offensive advertising."

SEES BOURBON MAJORITY IN CONGRESS

New York Herald Predicts Election of Democratic House of Representatives.

Battle in Ohio May Have Important Bearing on Next Presidential Election.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The New York Herald tomorrow, in making its final forecast of the election to be held Tuesday, says: "Democratic victories in New York, New Jersey and Ohio and the election of a Democratic House of Representatives are indicated in the country-wide impartial canvases completed by the Herald at the close of the first week of the campaign. In New York, according to the best information obtainable at this time, John A. Dix will receive a plurality of approximately 50,000, and the result will be very close on the balance of the ticket. Ohio has a similar situation. While the consensus of opinion is that Governor Harmon, the Democratic nominee, will be re-elected by from 10,000 to 40,000, no predictions are made that he will carry through the bulk of the ticket.

CONGRESS TABLE
The Herald's Congress table, which is prepared only after the opinion of unbiased experts in every State in the Union has been obtained, indicates the election of 217 Democrats and 174 Republicans, which, singularly enough, is an exact reversal of the present make up of the House.

"They are striking hard blows out in Ohio—the home of the President—and the struggle there is being watched as is the battle in the entire country, for the same reason, with keenest interest, because of the vital bearing its result may have upon the next Presidential campaign. Should Governor Harmon be elected he would loom up as the next Democratic nominee for President.

VICTORY FOR WILSON.
Information gathered in a State-wide canvass of New Jersey indicates the election of Woodrow Wilson by something like 7000. The fight there will be carried right up to the polls, and a shift in the situation at the last moment would not cause surprise to persons who have familiarized themselves with conditions in New Jersey.

"In Connecticut, where a most remarkable contest is being waged, indications point to the election of Charles A. Goodwin Republican, over Judge J. E. Baldwin. His plurality is placed from 800 to 12,000.

DRAPER'S VICTORY FORECASTED
"In Massachusetts the prediction is made by careful observers that Governor D. S. Draper will be re-elected by something like 20,000. Democrats declare that they will carry the State, controlling the next Legislature and insuring the reelection of Senator Henry C. Lodge.
"Robert C. Bass apparently will triumph over his Democratic opponent in New Hampshire and Governor Potter, Republican, will be re-elected in Rhode Island.
"In the Middle West and far toward the Rockies, indications point to Republican victories with the exception of Indiana, according to the present outlook, which shows the election of Governor Harrison, thus forcing the retirement of Senator Albert J. Beveridge.

REPUBLICAN VICTORIES.
"Iowa will go Republican.
"In Wisconsin the Republicans will win. They will also be victorious in Minnesota, and in Kansas Governor Stuart will be re-elected by an increased plurality.
"In making their canvasses the correspondents of the Herald were instructed to ascertain just how deeply the national questions were affected by the election in Massachusetts and Ohio and what effect that will have in the elections next Tuesday. Failure to discover any great sentiment over the issue which marked the New England elections and the decisions of experienced political chiefs who have been nursing a grievance remains silent, but an element of uncertainty enters into all calculations. The impression prevails that the high cost of living and the tariff will be the issues in a burning question in the campaigns throughout the country."

Republican Victory Predicted for Iowa

Today B. J. Carroll gave out a statement in which he predicted the election by a good majority of the Republican ticket and the Democratic candidates in most of the congressional districts.

NEW ISSUES IN FIGHT MAKE CAMPAIGN LIVELY ALL OVER THE NATION

Insurgency, Prohibition and Woman's Suffrage to Be Decided at Polls on Tuesday; 24 States to Elect Governors; Review of Situation

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—With insurgency and prohibition among the issues contended for, the present political campaign in the East has been conducted along lines entirely new in the nation's history.
It is a fight within a fight in many instances. Not as in former years will the contest center in a struggle for supremacy between the Democrats and Republicans. The insurgent movement will be an important factor and in some of the states the liquor question undoubtedly will have a strong bearing upon the final results.
Baldern in previous campaigns have so many speakers of the best talent from outside into the state campaigns.

GREAT BATTLE IN ILLINOIS.

Fight for control of the legislature overshadows everything else in Illinois. Alleged graft and corruption in the last general assembly has furnished all the parties with an issue, and all are campaigning for a betterment of conditions, each side seeing it obtainable only through the election of candidates of their party. Reform measures sought through the medium of the "little ballot," a number of warm congressional fights and a contest for control of Cook County. The election of candidates that goes with them, are the other questions which make this campaign a lively one.
With the exception of governor, Indiana elects a full ticket this year, members of the legislature who will elect a United States senator, and 13 members of congress. The chief issue in the Hoosier state is whether Albert J. Beveridge is re-elected to the United States senate or John W. Kern, the Democratic aspirant, succeeds to the toga. The latter question is expected to play an important part in the campaign.

HOT FIGHT IN OHIO.

Ohio, too, is in the midst of a hot campaign. Twenty-one congressmen and an entire state ticket will be chosen. A Democratic United States senator, Dick also will be elected. Judson Harmon, gubernatorial fight is one of the liveliest parts of the campaign.
The liquor issue is a big factor in Nebraska. Interest centers in the fight for the gubernatorial office. The Democratic Governor Dahlman of Omaha, repudiated by Evans, is making a hot gubernatorial fight. Upon this may hang the fate of United States Senator Burke.
The "dry" and "wet" are fighting it out in Minnesota. County option and "progressiveness" are the chief issues. The battle in Michigan also is in full blast. The election of a successor to Senator Burrows is the basis of the struggle. The Democrats express a hope for victory.
In Kentucky the fight is one sided, the Democrats being apparently sure of electing nearly all the congressional candidates.
The tax amendments providing for the Panama Exposition in New Orleans in 1915 overshadow the election in Louisiana.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE AN ISSUE.

Woman suffrage is the one big issue in South Dakota. County option is to be decided. The state officers hold over. Prohibition is the bone of contention in Alabama, but the insurgent movement also figures in the campaign.
In New York Roosevelt is the issue. The direct primary fight has been lost sight of in the struggle of the "Old Guard" to defeat the power of the advocate of "New Nationalism." The attempt to re-elect John D. Shafroth for governor is the main point in the Colorado battle.
Statewide prohibition urged by Democrats and local option on the union form the nucleus of the war in Utah. The state officers hold over. The "American party," opposed to the Mormon church, fights for the upper hand.

NEW CONTESTS IN SOUTH.

In both Florida and Mississippi there is little strife. Opposition Democratic nominees in the former.

state probably will be snowed under, while in the latter probably all the Democratic Congressional candidates will be elected.
North Carolina, however, has a real battle. The Democrats openly charge the Republicans with raking a "corruption fund."

While there are numerous contests in Pennsylvania, the fight centers in the effort to defeat John Dainoff for Congress.
The election in Georgia will be confined to two members of Congress, the state ticket having been elected in October.

WILL ELECT GOVERNORS.

The following states will elect governors: Alabama, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas and Wyoming.
Maine, Vermont, Arkansas and Georgia have held their state elections, but the two latter states will elect Representatives in Congress. Maryland, Mississippi, Virginia and West Virginia, likewise, will elect Congressmen. Maine and Vermont have already chosen their Congressmen and state officers.

MEMBERS OF LEGISLATURE.

A number of the states will elect members of the legislature. The terms of thirty United States Senators expire March 3, 1911. The legislatures of Alabama, Maryland and Vermont have elected their Senators. The sixty-second Congress will be elected.
South Carolina and Louisiana have each but one ticket. The Democratic ticket in Louisiana is headed by Governor Breaux. The administration Democrats and Republicans controlling the situation.
This combination last time enacted state-wide prohibition and changed the election laws, taking all the state machinery out of the hands of Governor Patterson and vesting it in the legislature.
The Republican platform and the platform of the Democratic party are the same. The Democratic party who endorsed the Republican candidate, decide for no backward step in prohibition.
The Democratic platform takes no stand on the prohibition question, but the opponents of the law will support Taylor.

BACK HARMON TO WIN.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 5.—Hugh L. Nichols, chairman of the Democratic legislative committee, issued a statement today saying that the Democratic party of Ohio claims the re-election of Judson Harmon as Governor of the state by the largest majority. Nichols said that the Democratic candidate for state office since the formation of the Republican party.
"We believe his majority will be so heavy that there can be no doubt of the election of the whole Democratic state ticket."

LEGISLATURE SAFE.

"We claim that the legislature will be safely Democratic on joint ballot. The election of four Democratic congressmen seems well assured."
The Democratic party of Ohio issued a statement today which says that the state ticket will be elected by a substantial majority and that the legislature will be Republican.
The claim is that the Republican congressional delegation will be increased.

SEES BOURBON VICTORY.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 5.—Jack S. Rosenthal, well known as political prognosticator, yesterday predicted a Democratic landslide this year. For the past thirty years Rosenthal has been making ante-election forecasts, and with two exceptions he has been uniformly successful.
In his prediction Rosenthal states that the Democrats will control the next House of Representatives by at least twenty majority. He expects the Democrats to sweep New York, New Jersey, Ohio and possibly Indiana. Rosenthal says:

PREDICTS NEW MAJORITY.

"My forecast is for a great Democratic victory, namely, that the Democratic party will probably gain about sixty seats, wiping out the present Republican majority of 82, thereby making the next Congress Democratic with a majority of about 100; that Dix will be elected governor of New York; that Dr. Wilson will be elected governor of New Jersey; that Governor Harmon will be re-elected governor of Ohio; that Governor Marshall will probably be re-elected governor of Indiana, and that wherever the Republican party is successful next Tuesday it will be by strikingly reduced pluralities."

CHEERFUL AND COMFORTING.

"It is part of the woman to protect against the little annoyances. It is their part to be cheerful and comforting and to keep the entire atmosphere harmonious. No one but his wife can do that for a man, plenty of people can solicit votes for him."
"Do you like to have Mr. Dix in politics?"
"I will have to wait until he has been in a little longer before I can answer that," he laughed. "When Mr. Dix first told me he had accepted the nomination I had the queerest mingling of feelings. It was both joy and sorrow. Joy for him and sorrow for myself. For I knew that all our household arrangements would be changed and yet—I was so proud of him! He has made a great sacrifice in entering the campaign."

WOULD BETTER PEOPLE.

"Mrs. Dix, what is your own pet, private, individual platform?"
She shook her head with a thoughtful little smile.
"It's nothing that I could possibly embody in a law," she admitted. "It is a shadow and genuine desire to have an American people as a whole better and happier. It seems to me that takes in all the little things."
"I am interested in this matter," she admitted. "I think there should be no child labor of any sort."

CARMACK'S DEATH MAIN ISSUE IN CONTEST

Most Remarkable Campaign in Tennessee Since Civil War Came to Close.

Factions of Democratic Party Wage Bitter Fight to Capture Governorship.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 5.—Just two years to the day, November 5, since former United States Senator E. W. Carmack was killed by D. B. Cooper and his son Robert, the people of Tennessee will cast their ballot in an election in which that killing has been the real issue. The Carmack Democratic faction indorsed the Republican nominee, D. W. Cooper, for governor, while the Patterson wing, in a re-organization convention, following the withdrawal of Governor Patterson from the race, nominated Robert L. Taylor, the defeated Carmack for the United States Senate four years ago.

COOPER'S PLEDGE.

Governor Patterson pardoned D. B. Cooper within an hour after the Supreme Court had affirmed his conviction and the declaration of three members of that court that Patterson had attempted to influence the jury in the trial of the fatal shooting of Carmack. The chief basis of the final split in the Democratic party of the state.
This most remarkable campaign in Tennessee closed tonight, although both opposing candidates for governorship will speak Monday. While both sides claim victory, the being is strongly in favor of Cooper, whose adherents claim for him a majority of 100,000. The Taylor Democrats claim from 10,000 to 20,000.

DEMOCRATS ARE ACTIVE.

Almost without exception the congressional candidates are keeping hands off and there is no present indication that the present representation will be changed, two out of the ten districts electing Republicans. The legislature, in all probability, will be practically of the same complexion as the last one. The administration Democrats and Republicans controlling the situation.
This combination last time enacted state-wide prohibition and changed the election laws, taking all the state machinery out of the hands of Governor Patterson and vesting it in the legislature.
The Republican platform and the platform of the Democratic party are the same. The Democratic party who endorsed the Republican candidate, decide for no backward step in prohibition.

CHEERFUL AND COMFORTING.

"It is part of the woman to protect against the little annoyances. It is their part to be cheerful and comforting and to keep the entire atmosphere harmonious. No one but his wife can do that for a man, plenty of people can solicit votes for him."

WOODROW WILSON BRINGS THE SCHOLAR INTO POLITICS

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—For the first time in years the United States has witnessed the entrance into the broad field of American politics of a genuine scholar, a man whose intellect has made him the talk of the country. This man who takes for his precedent in leaving the walls of a college and interrupting abruptly a life devoted to teaching the example of such men as Thomas Jefferson, John Quincy Adams and Henry Cabot Lodge, is Woodrow Wilson, until recently head of Princeton University, and now candidate on the Democratic ticket for governor of the state of New Jersey.

Woodrow Wilson's entrance into politics has given occasion for a revival of the old expression, "The scholar in politics."

In years past it was no uncommon occurrence for men devoted to college life to take interest also in the political destinies of their country, but of late these intellectual men have been seen to take as little part as possible in things political.

NEVER ENTIRELY ABSENT.

Men of scholarly type have never been entirely absent from our politics, of course. It is seldom, however, that their influence has been lasting and in most cases they have become somewhat isolated in their efforts to achieve political success.
Perhaps all the fault has not lain with the college professors. There is unfortunately a strong feeling among the "common people" against men whose main qualification for public office is their intellectual ability and remarks about "high brows" and "dreamers" have usually been the thanks they got for mixing in. The country has always disposed to count its political fortunes to such candidates.

When one views, however, the enthusiasm that is greeting Woodrow Wilson throughout the length and breadth of New Jersey it would appear as though the people were beginning to realize that because a man is highly educated it does not necessarily follow that he is a "bumby-pumby" or a "dreamer."

Woodrow Wilson has had a good campaign. Great crowds heard his speeches in command in the United States Senate. This nomination is based upon returns received by the Tribune from its correspondents in every State in the Union and their comparison with the claims and concessions made by the campaign managers of the rival political parties.

FORECAST OF RESULTS.

There are 391 congressional districts under the present constitutional apportionment. The Democratic party is forecast the result from the non-partisan reports. It may be epitomized as follows:
Safe Democratic 132.
Doubtful 42.
The votes in the forty-two doubtful districts will decide the issue of the battle and the size of the victory. The party that gets the lion's share of the votes will capture the House of the next Congress.

Bell Favorite in Betting Across Bay

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—Bell is gaining in strength in the betting as election day approaches, and he is now a decided favorite at odds of 10 to 1 that he will carry San Francisco, without any takers. It is expected that he will be a close contest in this city. He is an even-money choice now that he will carry the city by 35 to 40 per cent.

DRAPER'S RE-ELECTION IS NOW INDICATED

BOSTON, Nov. 5.—The indications tonight point to the re-election of Governor Draper and the balance of the Republican ticket. Were it not for the bitter factional fight among the Democrats in Boston, the result would be different. Draper succeeds in getting the Boston factions together he may yet pull through. Dr. Wilson is generally conceded the favorite of Boston and, with a normal Democratic majority there, his election would be certain.

BUILDERS' EXCHANGE HEARS BELL SPEAK

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—Theodore A. Bell addressed the Builders' Exchange, in Jessie street, near Third today during the election. He was given a cordial reception by the members of that organization. He was introduced by former Supervisor Ralph McLean and in his address outlined some of the ideas he had for advancing the general prosperity of the state. In part, he said:
"I am just as much in favor of eliminating William F. Herrin and the political bureau of the Southern Pacific railroad from the politics of the state as any one, but after that is done I believe that we speeches and applauded. When never disgraced by pedantry, he illustrates his high ideals of public life by drawing freely on his store of knowledge of biography and history. Wilson is not only a scholar, but a man who has kept his eyes wide open in his contact with fellow men and in his relation to the affairs of his country.

The scholar has a much stronger position in politics abroad than he has in this country, particularly in Germany, England and France.
Professor Munsterberg recently criticized the lack of support given by Americans to men of learning when speaking of the death of Simon Newcomb, the astronomer. "Newcomb's death did not cause even a ripple of excitement," said Professor Munsterberg, "but a baseball man who died a few days later was mourned by all America."

NEW CHARACTER.

Wilson is an entirely new character as a politician. Even if he were defeated now he would still be ambitious. He has a grand new set of ideas to try and it is more than likely that he will keep on plugging until he gets the chance to try them.
Another educator who has been prominent in American politics is Harry Augustus Garfield, son of the late President Garfield. Garfield was president of Williams college, but left that post to head the chamber of commerce during Cleveland's administration. He also was chairman of a special committee which reorganized the United States consular service.

SETH LOW IN COLLEGE.

Still another man who may be mentioned as among those who have left careers at college to enter politics is Seth Low, former mayor of New York. Low at the time of his nomination was at the head of Columbia University. The future ahead of him was brilliant. It was a long time before those who wanted the educator to head the Republicans of his city could get his consent.
What he was finally elected he made one of the best mayors that New York has ever had.

should prepare for what we see ahead of us.
"The opening of the Panama canal means a new era in the history of the United States. It will give us a new courage capital in investing in California. I believe that the attitude of the Government in the union and the influence on investors. We want to keep capital within bounds and make it obey the law, but after that we should throw the law and constitution will warrant."
There were about 200 members present and they gave the Democratic standard bearer the closest of attention during the course of his remarks.

IOWA WILL STAY IN REPUBLICAN COLUMN

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 5.—According to the most authentic news from Iowa, the congressional delegation will continue to consist of ten Republicans and one Democrat, although it is admitted that the Democrats have a chance of winning a fourth.

WALL STREET PLANS TO KEEP OPEN HOUSE

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—A dozen Wall street commission houses have decided to follow the precedent of presidential years and keep "open house" through election night. The tradition for more than a dozen years has been that in elections vitally affecting the financial situation, the stock exchange would be closed. The present representation is ten Democrats and six Republicans.

SILENT VOTE MAKES INDIANA DOUBTFUL

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 5.—The result of the election in Indiana lies with the silent vote. In no campaign in the history of the state has this been so true as in the one now drawing to a close.
State Chairman Lee predicts a Republican victory, but will give out no figures.

BURKETT PROBABLE WINNER IN NEBRASKA

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 5.—The nominees for United States senator are Elmer B. Burkett, Republican, and Gilbert A. Hutchinson, Democrat and Populist. Under the Oregon plan, the people vote direct for choice of senator, the legislature being supposed to ratify the choice of the November election.
The chances are slightly in favor of the success of Burkett, but the result must be counted.

INDEPENDENCE LEAGUE WINS FROM 'TIGER'

Contests in Court Brought Against Candidates of New Party Thrown Out.

Nominees Now Assured of Right to Place on Ballot in Coming Election.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The Independence League party has won a sweeping victory in the courts in defending the contests brought by Tammany Hall in many districts to take bona fide candidates off the Independence League ticket. This victory gives the party practically every nomination as originally filed and insures to the nominees their rights to a place upon the ballot of the Independence League column.

GREAT VICTORY.

One nominee bitterly contested by Tammany Hall in this contest, Jacob W. Block, the Independence League candidate for Congress in the Ninth District of Manhattan, who later was nominated by the Republican party for the same office. Tammany recognized in Block a most dangerous opponent to Congressman Gold, one of the favorite bosses at Tammany Hall.

LEGAL POINT RAISED.

In fighting the Republican nomination of Block the point was raised that the temporary or permanent chairman was not a delegate to the convention. The municipal division of the Superior Court ruled that that did not make any difference and ordered Block reinstated on the Republican ticket. Nearly a dozen other legal contests that Tammany had precipitated in assembly and senatorial districts were quashed by the decisions of the Appellate Court.

SOCIALISTS WILL NOT SUPPORT BULLOCK

SAN MATEO, Nov. 5.—The Socialist party of San Mateo county, through its secretary, Hy Meyer, has issued a statement concerning the fact that District Attorney Joseph J. Bullock and other office seekers at the primary election received the Socialist nomination, although not Socialists. "The Socialist party does not indorse any candidate for county office except that of assemblyman, and we would request the voters that intend to support any of the county candidates to vote for them under their regular party heads."

ROOSEVELT LOSES BIG FEE BY GIVING ADDRESSES FREE

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 5.—Theodore Roosevelt's father violent insurgent political address here last night led to complications that left him short about $1500. Roosevelt was brought here by the Iowa State Teachers' Association under contract for $2000.
Seats at the association meeting were sold for 75 cents. But Roosevelt consented to give other free lectures in the city, including one at a political meeting which he attended when he left the state teachers. Thousands flocked to the free political meeting where Roosevelt lauded the insurgents.
But the State Teachers' Association was miffed at the free lecture and Roosevelt finally settled, it is said in local papers tonight, for $400, which he claims was his actual expenses.

figures. State Chairman Jackson of the Democrats is an optimist, but is as equally silent on probable majorities.

PREDICTS MISSOURI WILL BE DEMOCRATIC

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 5.—That the "Mysterious Stranger" will be driven into oblivion Tuesday is the prediction of Missouri Democratic leaders. A forecast was made by William J. Cochran, political editor of the Republic today.
He thinks the Democratic nominees for state offices will be elected. The present representation is ten Democrats and six Republicans.

FALLS OUT OF AUTO; KILLED INSTANTLY

Husband Arrested at First But Later Released by the Police.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5.—Mrs. Vesta Stafford, wife of H. B. Stafford, said to be connected with the California Trust Company, sustained a fracture of the skull when she fell from the automobile in which she was riding with her husband early today and died before she could be taken to the receiving hospital. The accident occurred at Seventh street and Norton avenue and was witnessed by only one man, E. A. Talbot, who reported to the police that the two were quarreling as they were driving along in the machine, and that the woman either fell or was pushed from the machine. Stafford was detained at police headquarters until detectives made an investigation, but was later released. An inquest will probably be held today.

GEORGIA IS FREE FROM CORRUPTION

Governor-Elect Hoke Smith Points With Pride to State's "Clean" Laws.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—"Come to Georgia, young man." This was the slogan of Governor-Elect Hoke Smith of Georgia, who was elected on June 1st in one of the stormiest campaigns in the history of the state, at Hotel Walcott today. "My main effort," he said, "during my next term as governor, will be to forward the movement to make Georgia the nation's garden spot. "There is no buying or selling of legislation in Georgia, such as is being exposed in various northern and western states," declared the governor-elect, with a ring of pride in his booming voice. "Of this every Georgian is proud. Since the days of reconstruction we have had no corrup-

FACE CLEARED BEAUTIFULLY

All Traces of Acne Are Gone—Poslam's Power Over All Skin Diseases

"For six years I had what some skin specialists term 'acne,' writes Miss Olive Brown, 927 West Delaware avenue, Buffalo, N. Y. 'I doctored with some of the best physicians, but instead of improving it became worse. I used poslam faithfully, and after a month my face has cleared up beautifully, without a single scar. However, I still continue to use poslam as a cleanser and preventer, and then, too, it has such a soothing effect.'"

Poslam is probably the most widely recommended remedy available to the public. Any one will appreciate why this is so after sending to the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City, for a sample (mailed free in plain wrapper) and seeing its work demonstrated in the quick removal of pimples, rashes, eruptions, undue redness or in clearing the complexion over night. Poslam is used whenever the skin is afflicted with such as eczema, tetter, scabies, itch and like surface skin troubles yield to it readily, itching being stopped at once. Poslam is sold by all druggists, particularly The Owl Drug Co., in two sizes, at 10 cents and 25.

MISS LANG, who is destined to become a great painter.

Great Artist Has Confidence in His Pupil

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—That Miss Lang, who is a student at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, is destined to become one of the foremost American portrait painters, is the opinion of William M. Former Bank Cashier of Los Angeles Disappears After Squandering $200,000.

SEATTLE POLICE THINK HE COMMITTED SUICIDE

Leaves Room at Club Disguised as Tramp and Armed With Revolver.

SEATTLE, Nov. 5.—F. E. Porter, aged 32, formerly cashier of the South Side Bank of Los Angeles, who is said to have squandered $200,000 in the last two years, has disappeared from this city under circumstances which cause the police to believe that he has committed suicide.

Porter registered at the Seattle Athletic club several days ago, and began to spend money lavishly. In payment of a bill he gave a check on the South Side Bank of Los Angeles, and the check was returned stamped "No account." Porter went to his room at the club yesterday, changed his clothing from a neat business suit to a shabby one, put on a cap and placed a revolver in his pocket.

Before going out he wrote a note to a woman friend in this city, telling her that a check which he had issued on the Los Angeles bank had been returned and that it was the last time he would ever do a trick of that kind.

He left to the keeping of his companion several deeds and personal papers and said he was going on a long journey.

Search was made for him by his friends without avail, and the police were notified.

STEAMER IN STORM ON TRIP FROM THE NORTH

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—The Pacific coast steamer Maaila, with a full list of passengers, arrived from Puget Sound and Victoria this morning. The trip was pleasant until the night of November 3, when off Cape Flattery heavy weather was encountered.

Two huge seas broke over the steamer, sweeping even the hurricane deck, and the heavy impact of water broke a couple of cabin coors and several windows. The water driving through the openings created a panic among the passengers, but they were quickly reassured by the ship's officers. A considerable amount of personal effects belonging to the travelers were ruined by the wetting.

NEW LINER IS TO BE OIL-PROPELLED

Cunard Company Plans Monster Vessel Which Will Be Luxurious.

(By CHESTER OVERTON.)

LONDON, Nov. 5.—There has been great excitement for the past few days in the shipbuilding world. Since the mammoth White Star liner Olympic was launched, the wildest rumors have been circulated regarding the plans of the Cunard line. The Cunard officials decline to say anything but their secret cannot be kept long and a few weeks hence it will be common knowledge that the company has decided to build the first large liner propelled by oil fuel.

This ship will be 520 feet long and have a greater beam and tonnage than the Olympic. Two famous firms have been invited to tender bids, Swan, Hunter & Richardson of Newcastle and the Joseph Brown Company of Clyde Bank, who have built many famous Atlantic liners. It now remains to see which of these two firms will secure the contract.

TO BE LUXURIOUS.

The Cunard company has no intention of building an ocean greyhound. In fact the vessel will be slower than the Mauretania, but will be far more roomy and luxurious. It is calculated that with increased space for cargo and greater tonnage a saving of a million dollars per annum. It is known, too, that the Hamburg-American line has placed a contract with a German yard for a liner that shall easily eclipse the Olympic in size and speed. Although here, too, great secrecy prevails, it is stated by those who ought to know that the new German vessel also will be oil-propelled. The German company is making desperate efforts to get her completed before the Cunarders can launch their great experiment.

MERCHANTS COMPLAIN OF LACK OF DOCKAGE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—Merchants that have cargoes consigned to them in some of the sailing vessels that have lately arrived in port complain because they are often compelled to wait before the vessels can find room to dock. It is claimed that Howard street dock No. 1 is practically the only place now available for sailing vessels.

On the other hand, it is claimed that many of the merchants receiving cargo at this wharf do not haul it away as rapidly as the loading is done, which causes the ship to lay at the dock much longer than would otherwise be necessary.

The ships carrying the heavy class of cargo, such as coal and oil, are variable dock at the Howard street wharf, which is not in good condition. Every shipper and stevedore now using the dock has made complaint. The State Harbor Commission says, however, that they are not relieving as rapidly as the funds permit.

They acknowledge that some of the docks are in bad condition and that the old Union street dock should have considerable work done on it, but say that it would be unwise to spend any funds until after election when in event the bond issue passes the work done could be of a permanent character. In the meantime, it is said that the only thing that can be done to relieve the temporary condition of congestion is for the merchants to make an effort to remove the cargo with a greater degree of promptness.

FREIGHT BY WATER 23 DAYS FROM NEW YORK

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—The Pacific Mail Steamship company's steamer Pennsylvania, which arrived here from Ancon November 3, was the first steamer of the company's new line inaugurated express service between New York and San Francisco. The Pennsylvania made her trip between Ancon and this port in twenty days, five hours and twenty minutes and brought cargo which left New York on the Pennsylvania-Pure Oil Railroad company's steamer Colon, October 13.

The time in transit of this cargo which was only 23 days, which is equal to the time of a transcontinental railroad in the opinion of those who are conversant with the situation, this speed which will hereafter be regularly kept up, will greatly increase the amount of freight now carried by water.

RIVAL SCHOLARS IN BLOODY FIGHT

Two Policemen Swept Aside in Row Over Pennant; Girl Saves Day.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—While 500 boys of Mission and Lowell high schools fought for the flag of the Mission high at the President's athletic grounds this afternoon at the close of the annual Rugby tournament, the two schools, women and girls, entered in a row over a pennant. Two policemen tried to quell the disturbance and Kenneth Laren, Jr., sophomore of the Lowell high, was unconscious on the field under the feet of the opposing factions. The first sign of a fight was seen when the flag was saved the Mission high's flag. Mission high won the game 8 to 0. Mission high, triumphant and willing with delight at winning the game, saw that their pennant was in danger, and a warning was given. When Mission called for the defense of the flag, Lowell boys were swarming up the pole attempting to pull down the pink and green banner of the victorious school. The Missionists charged repeatedly. There were first fights and bloody wars on the flag and sailors to capture the flag, and the sailors of Mission high were charged again and again by the Lowellists. Many girls of both schools were there, with their teachers, and as the noise grew louder they stood in the grandstand and screamed. They came to see a Rugby game, not a bloody battle. The contest was not a bloody one, but the crowd was so excited and the fighting but were swept aside and found themselves helpless in the mob clinging about the Mission banner. Finally the flag was pulled down and a girl, who was not a member of either school, saved the day. Kenneth Laren was removed from the field in an ambulance, and taken to a hospital. 2400 Valley street at first it was thought that he had several ribs broken, but he recovered at home.

SAYS HUSBAND HAS SEQUESTERED PROPERTY

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—A new angle to the Geneva P. against Alfred A. Micheletti divorce case was turned today by the wife, who asked Superior Judge Graham to permit her to file an amended complaint naming her husband's mother, Mrs. Liberata Micheletti, also as defendant. She claims that on February 9 her husband transferred $50,000 of his property to his mother without consideration for the purpose of defrauding his wife out of her rightful share of the community property. In behalf of Micheletti it was argued that the transfer of such a large sum should be proved, occurred before the divorce suit was filed and was consequently not made with intention to defraud. Micheletti was formerly the cashier of the Italian-American Bank. His wife commenced a divorce action against him, charging extreme cruelty. In his answer and cross-complaint Micheletti alleged habitual intemperance, beat for burns, scalds, fever, drinking incapacitated her for household duties.

STATE'S ATTORNEY FACES ACCUSATION

He Is Charged Before Chicago Bar Association With Jury-Fixing.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—State's Attorney Wayne was put on trial by the grievance committee of the Chicago Bar Association today on the charge of jury-fixing made against him by Attorney Charles E. Ebbesen and Arthur McBride.

It was a strange anomalous situation, absolutely unprecedented in the legal annals of the country, for only a few hours before Ebbesen and McBride had surrendered and given bonds for $100,000 each on charges of conspiracy, based upon the very accusations they were now facing before the bar committee. McBride took the stand as the first witness and pointed out Wayne as a jury-briber.

He told of meeting Wayne in the

DYING MAN PINTS OUT HIS ASSAILANT

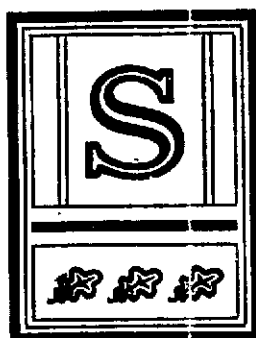

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—Lying on his deathbed at Lane Hospital, Frank Foster, 1713 Eddy street, a milk wagon driver who was shot down at Eighth and Buchanan streets last month, pointed out John P. Moran to Police Judge Shortall as the man who had shot him. "I am not the man," said Foster. "Foster said that he could not be mistaken. Shortall held court for a brief period in the hospital while he lived to Foster's testimony. Foster was shot early in the morning while he was delivering milk. A man whom he had caught stealing milk bottles. Foster was later arrested and charged with the offense. Foster is expected to die.

PANAMA PLANS TO GREET PRESIDENT

Large Quantities of Decorations Are Taken to Isthmus For Celebration.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—President Taft's visit to the Panama Canal will be celebrated elaborately by the ships at the Isthmus. Large quantities of decorations for the Panama Canal are being carried to Colon on the Prinz Joachim of the Hamburg-American line, which is sailing from New York today. The Prinz Joachim will steam into Colon harbor in gala dress with a profusion of bunting fluttering from the rigging. She also carries more than 2000 electric lights, to be used in illuminating the Isthmus. "Welcome Taft" to run the length of the ship. The Prinz Joachim sails with a well-filled cabin. Among the passengers are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kilmer, Miss Kilmer, L. C. Stages, J. L. Stages, David M. Denison, D. N. Denison, Mr. and Mrs. A. Miguel, A. de A. Casco, A. L. Moreno and son, Mrs. N. M. Upjohn and A. de Bolos.

Strange Bedfellows Politics Has Made THIS FALL

Republican bolt. In combing his memory he recalls that:

Henry H. Faught was elected a Democratic Governor back in the 60's—and the good Dr. Taylor was his Secretary—because there was a Republican revolt from George C. Gorham;

William Irwin was elected a Democratic Governor because the Republicans split up between Bidwell and Phelps;

George Stoneman was elected a Democratic Governor because the German Republicans bolted the Sunday law platform of the Republicans;

Washington Bartlett was elected a Democratic Governor because the "American" Republicans would not stand for John F. Swift and went cavorting after P. D. Wigginton and the Pixleyites;

And James H. Budd was elected a Democratic Governor because Morris M. Estee attacked the Southern Pacific and alienated the "Regular" Republicans.

Now, as there is no doubt of a Republican defection this year among the "Regulars," the estimable Dr. Taylor figures that another Democratic Governor is to be the result.

But Such a Mix-up

But as there is a Republican defection so much in sight that a blind man can see it with his teeth, there is also a Democratic defection that is amusing on its own account. What if George A. Knight, Republican National Committeeman, is working tooth and claw for Bell? There is Joseph J. Dwyer, former Democratic National Committeeman, working with all his might and main for Johnson.

Now, to be sure there are George Stone and Phil Teller, former chairmen of the Republican State Central Committee who are praying hard for the success of Bell. But there are Frank H. Gould and Ex-Senator J. C. Sims, former chairmen or executive heads of the Democratic State Central Committee, who are praying just as hard for the success of Johnson.

It is admitted that Tim Sullivan, former head of the Republican County Central Committee, is aiding the cause of Bell. But what of Tom Hickey, former chairman of the Democratic County Central Committee, who is winking away for Johnson? Oh, we have plenty of the topsy-turvy this year.

The McNab family is said to present the most amusing case of a hot turn-over in all the political view. Gavin McNab is, of course, the Democratic leader in San Francisco. He is for Johnson. John McNab is, of course, the Republican leader of Mendocino who was mentioned for the Governorship. He is for Bell. But Jim McNab, the merchant-capitalist, is seen on the Johnson platform and on the Johnson circulars, but if you could see his ballot next Tuesday I'll bet you'd find a cross opposite Bell's name.

The Policy of Rule or Ruin

If it is possible to defeat Hiram Johnson this year his defeat will be due to the assinine management of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League leaders who are conducting his campaign. They seemed to lose their heads entirely after their victory at the primaries. They have ever since acted as if the fight were all over. They are just waking up to the fact that there may be danger ahead.

They started right out to rule or ruin. Instead of saying to the Anderson and Stanton and Curry men: "Well, we've had a good scrap! Now let's shake hands and beat the tar out of the Democrats!" Instead of that wise policy they said: "Get out of here! This is our house. We don't want you around." As a consequence, everywhere you go you find the Anderson, Curry and Stanton men lined up behind Bell. Practically all the big leaders are actively or covertly that way. From the Governor down they are against Johnson, and they all might have been held in line with a few kind words and a little decent attention.

Then came the smash at President Taft. What was to be gained by that? Why not compliment the head of the party in the customary way? Why not say a few soft-soap sentences, even if they mean nothing? A little palaver would have kept all the Federal brigade in the ranks; and the fact now is that practically every one of that brigade is at work for Bell, because of the insult to the President.

The Governor was ready to take the stump and help out. He was slipped in the face for his kind offer. Even Senator Perkins was ignored, except when he was asked for a belated subscription to the fund—which he refused. If Senator Flint had been here he would have been treated with the same discourtesy. Do these new managers think all these leaders have no friends? Do they think they can win without friends or votes?

Made Them "Hit the Floor"

The appearance of M. F. Tarpey as an active factor in the Defocratic campaign has put heart into the great unwashed. For Tarpey has both energy and sense; and of late in Democratic counsels those who had sense had no energy, and those who had energy had no sense. Everywhere Democrats are heard to say: "Oh, if we only had Tarpey for our candidate!"

He is referred to as "the last of the Old Bills," and he certainly has substituted the lionine roar for the snake-like whisper in campaigning. You can hear that Tarpey is in action a mile away, and that was the Democratic fashion in the days when that party was in the habit of winning victories. And he has put the littered Democratic house in order, and is bringing a cosmos out of the chaos of past campaigns.

Tarpey's first swing into California politics was over in your county in 1882. He got in to help his old friend Charlie McCleverty win the Shrievalty. Taking hold of the wraith of a county organization he soon had things humming and in tune. He hustled up money, planned a campaign of meetings, made combinations and rattled the dry bones as they never had rattled before.

Then came a demand that he make a speech before the Hancock Fire Brigade that had a meeting place under the Galindo hotel. Here Tarpey came rear to being stumped. He could work night and day, but he didn't fancy speech-making. It was a new trick and he was shy of it. But the brigade insisted and off went Tarpey with his heart in his throat to make his maiden speech.

When he came back to headquarters they asked: "How did you get along? Did you make a good speech?"

"Well, good or bad, I made 'em hit the floor!" Since then Tarpey has spoken before and held the crowds of great Democratic national conventions, but he still remembers his trepidation when he had to face the Hancock Fire Brigade and their red shirts in that vacant store room under the Galindo hotel.

Wouldn't That Make a Mess?

At the Palace hotel a lot of political veterans were telling the other day how the unexpected had happened in political campaigns in times past, and one of them suggested that a Bell landslide might carry with it into power a Democratic Legislature—something unheard of since the days of George Hearst and Steve White. At once some one asked:

"Then who would be United States Senator?" Now isn't that a bit of a poser when you come to look it over? Nobody seems to have thought much about the chances of such a political miracle. But stranger things have happened—though not many of 'em, I'll admit. Just supposin', however, the Democrats should get in?

Well, here's Jimmy Phelan away and helping Johnson from afar. Gavin McNab is sulking in his tent and helping Johnson covertly. Down in the south George S. Patton has been active, and the south would be sure to claim the place. But Tom Gibbon wouldn't have Patton and Patton wouldn't have Tom Gibbon; and John Gaffey wouldn't have John Mitchell, and John Mitchell wouldn't have John Gaffey. So where would you get your senatorial timber? They might turn to Tarpey or James V. Coleman, but there would be the funniest scrap ever seen in a Legislature since Tom Nosler was old enough to sit up and take notice—and Tom is said to have been on earth before they poured the water in the bay. It would almost be worth while to have the miracle happen just to see the fun.

Up With the Fists Again

What is a prize fight, anyhow? Do men have to weigh a certain number of pounds, or carry variegated colors, or stand-up and have at each other for a certain number of rounds before it is a prize fight under the law? Or how does the thing figure out, anyhow?

It is only a few weeks since we were going to have the militia ordered out to stop two plug-uglies from cruising each other at Blot's arena. The whole force of the nation was to be called on to prevent Jeffries and Johnson from clashing in San Francisco. We couldn't even have the prize fight pictures on the screens. Everybody was going to do up prize fighting in short order.

Well and good. But where's all the hysteria now? Here the other night a smasher named Bat Nelson and a biffer named La Grave fought fifteen bloody rounds. No militia. No edicts. No police—save such as got in free to see the show. And now Jimmy Coffroth is matching Nelson and Moran for Blot's arena for twenty rounds. Nobody threatens to arrest him. There is never a peep from any official quarter.

What's all this about? If the fight between Jeffries and Johnson was bad, when it would have brought a lot of money to the town, why are not these other prize fights bad, when they merely take money away? It's a puzzler to me.

The Same Thing in Another Direction

And I might also ask: What is a Passion Play? And why can one such play be produced in public while another cannot?

Older people will remember Salmi Morse and his Passion Play, where James O'Neil took the sacred role. The actor played the part with reverence and in tears—but that play was not permitted to go on and Morse lost his money.

Clay M. Greene has put on a Passion Play at Santa Clara college and it has made a wondrous hit on two occasions. In it the Savior does not appear, though the top of a cross is seen staggering along behind a wall. But when it was proposed to put this play on in New York there was a howl and the project was abandoned.

But then came along Ben Hur with the Presence represented by a light—and no one made any fuss. And here comes Sara Bernhardt with Rostand's "Samartaine," where there is an actual view of The Man of Nazareth. To be sure the Chicago ministers have made some protest, but I haven't yet heard that the militia had been called out to prevent the preaching of a sermon from the stage. The strange thing is that some prize fights can be held and some cannot, and that some Passion Plays go along gaily while others are suppressed.

He Belonged All Right

Clinton Day, the famous architect, tells one on himself that shows that all the wit is not among the members of the clubs. Mr. Day was walking along Market street. He has no very high opinion of labor unions and the boycott is a bore to him.

As he passed along he saw in front of Roeder's well-known saloon the little donkey used to picket the places that are under the union ban. Seeing that the donkey had a man in attendance the architect, who stammers a good deal as he talks, stepped up to the attendant and asked:

"W-w-what u-u-union d-d-does that j-j-jackass belong to?"

"To the Citizens' Alliance," was the sharp reply.

High Life Under Proposed Law

Is Oakland setting up a rivalry against San Francisco to the claim of being the "Paris of America"? I am impelled to ask the question because one of your councilmen, I am informed, has introduced an ordinance to abolish the curtained boxes in the cafes and restaurants and to forbid the serving of wines or liquors of any kind to women in boxes or private rooms. But the same ordinance, I am assured, expressly excepts hotels. In the case of the latter, wines and liquors may be served ad libitum in private rooms and in banquet halls. It is only cafes and restaurants that are tabooed.

The French restaurants have not been slow to notice the distinction. Two or three of that class have been quick to discern the possibilities which Oak' and offers under the ordinance, should it become law, to carry on their peculiar business which has been more or less under a cloud here among the moral set.

These keen-witted French restaurateurs see in the proposed Oakland ordinance a wide-open opportunity to establish their peculiar institutions there under the special exception in it favoring hotels. Naturally enough, they argue, there's nothing in a name, a "hotel" will sound just as good for our purpose as "restaurant" or "cafe."

Of course, if your curtained cafe boxes, which are, in themselves, the least objectionable on moral grounds, are abolished and the hotel feature is retained, it is plain that the father of the ordinance, whoever he may be, is seeking to introduce into your community that highly popular Parisian feature into its night life whereby, under the inspiration of cocktails and champagne served in the privacy of hotel rooms, the edifying female performance of kicking the chandelier and dancing "au naturel" may be carried out without blunting the moral sense of decency or violating law. In such an event, we will be forced to concede to Oakland the distinction of being "the Paris of America."

Claims of the Campaigners

The election next Tuesday in so far as San Francisco is concerned, will reveal the state of mind of its citizens, rather than determine any political issue based on party lines. The electors of this city are not considering Johnson or Bell personally, but rather what each represents, or has behind him. The two candidates are but stalking horses for economic and moral conditions that the people will meet—many of which are non-political, but may find their remedy at the polls.

Not the least of these is that of municipal sanitation and relieving San Francisco of the last vestige of a festering incubus under which it has rested for the past four years, and which oppressive and offensive burden has received its political sustenance from a combination of many aliases and at present known by the names of Lincoln-Roosevelt League and Insurgents.

It is this condition that will probably prevent many a citizen from hewing very close to the party line when he goes to the polls on Tuesday, the welfare of the city and State taking precedence with him over mere political partisanship.

This State campaign has been a somewhat strenuous one as conducted locally. There have been headquarters for the political parties, platform work by the orators at the call of factions, campaign "literature" by the ton sent through the mails, mass meetings and all the details of campaigns of the past revived and presented to the public in increased volume.

In no recent campaign has so much printed matter in the form of letters, circulars and cards been sent out. At Republican State headquarters alone, 40,000 pieces of mail matter is a low daily average. The efficacy of the political circular is being questioned, and there are many who believe that it is rapidly being consigned to the past along with the campaign buttons, large stocks of which were left on the hands of the manufacturers in the last national campaign, they having ceased to be an attractive novelty.

The mass meetings have been well attended, but no longer are an index of the outcome of a campaign. Bell's final big rally in this city last Wednesday night filled the Dreamland Rink, the capacity of which is 5000, and several hundreds, estimated at 1500, were turned away. The crowds blocked the aisles in violation of the municipal ordinance on that subject, and the passageways were cleared by the police and the surplus forced from the building.

The following night Johnson filled the structure. The police, profiting by the experience of the night before, closed the doors as soon as the place was filled to the limit permitted by law. The campaign managers were prepared for the overflow and held an outdoor meeting, the orators speaking from the steps to several hundred citizens.

Both Johnson and Bell have arranged to conclude their canvasses for Governor in San Francisco and the other bay counties. Each expresses great confidence that the result of the election will be favorable to him. Johnson's managers claim San Francisco for that candidate by a small margin, although they display no excessive confidence. The Bellites make claim of carrying this city by majorities ranging from 1500 to 15,000, while some Democratic enthusiasts claim as high as 25,000.

The southern Republicans are claiming Los Angeles by a large majority, and that they will come to Tehachapi with from 12,000 to 20,000 for Johnson. Democrats in the south claim that they will hold Johnson down to 7000 below the ridge, while others express the opinion that the two candidates will break about even at the Tehachapi.

Both sides claim the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys; in brief, both Bell and Johnson are claiming that they will carry practically all and the same sections of the State, so it is apparent that one of them must be riding to a fall. Even that long-time, staunch Republican county, Humboldt, is placed in the Bell column by his adherents, so it is evident neither side is restrained by any large degree of modesty in their efforts to prove political title to California.

Supreme Court Clerk Caughy, whose political balliwick is Mendocino, visited that county recently with the belief that it was for Johnson by a large majority, but returned much in doubt because of the strong Bell sentiment he encountered. Similar conditions are reported from Solano. At present the campaign seems to have resolved itself into a contest for superiority of claimers, and in this race the candidates for Governor are running neck and neck, with a slight advantage to the one heard from last.

The tag will drop with the closing of the polls next Tuesday, and, of course, not until then will the claims of the contestants be determined.

Betting On Election

As tending to indicate the condition of public opinion throughout the State in relation to the outcome of the election next Tuesday, a recent experience of one of the leading Federal officials in this State is of interest. This Federal officer has deputies in every county of the State, and recently he wrote them a personal letter asking for a fair and impartial view of the political situation in their various counties in its bearing upon the State election. Now comes the singular feature of this correspondence. Of the return communications 75 per cent contained substantially the following paragraph: "This county looks like Bell, but my best information is that the State will go for Johnson."

The Federal official is back where he started and left to draw his own deductions, whatever they may be.

The betting has also contributed in a degree to confuse those who would get a line on the outcome of the election next Tuesday. There have been repeated publications of the statement that there was a great abundance of money in this city waiting to be placed on Johnson at odds of 2 to 1 in favor of the Republican candidate. Men of sportive proclivities have sought in vain to get some of that 2 to 1 money. Reports of this large accumulation of Johnson coin in this city apparently reached Los Angeles, for money was telegraphed from the southern city last week to cover some of it.

The actual betting here has been very light, although paper wagers have been numerous. At one of the local poolrooms there is between $6000 and $7000 waiting to be laid as soon as 2 to 1 can be gotten for it on Johnson carrying the State.

Leaguers Change Front

There has been, during the past week, a marked change in the attitude of the leaders of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League toward the members of what has been known for years as the regular Republican Organization. Following the primary election the leaders of the League were haughtily indifferent to the electors, the latter being told in actions, if not in terms, that the Insurgents were sure of carrying the election anyway and did not care whether the regular Republicans voted with them or not. Threats were openly made to kick regulars out of the party.

There has been a reversal of this attitude of hostility to regular Republicans and now it is not an uncommon thing for one of the old guard to find some person high in the councils of the League sitting on the doorstep awaiting his return home at night. The former kicker pleads with the kickees to let bygones be bygones and come to the rescue of the League in its State campaign. The insurgent or mugwump almost wrestles in prayer with the advocate of regularity in politics to take an active part in supporting the ticket named by the combination that threatened a few weeks back to drive him from the Republican party forever.

Some of these doorstep pleadings are described by their victims as exen pathetic, and at times ludicrous.

The Spy System

The eavesdropping and spy habits prevalent in San Francisco during the past few years, and which have cast so much odium upon this community to which these vile practices previously were practically unknown were recently given new illustration in the attempts of the local footpadery to give color of political conspiracy to a meeting of Earl Rogers, the Los Angeles lawyer, and Frank E. Hering of Indiana, who is speaking in California to advance the canvass of Theodore A. Bell for Governor.

Hering and Rogers are friends, and both hold high office in a fraternal organization. In this order a defalcation has caused some troubles, which have been discussed at its recent conventions and other meetings, there being a difference of opinion among the members as to whether the defaulter, having made restitution of the money embezzled, should be prosecuted or his offense condoned by reason of the money having been repaid. It was on this subject that Rogers called at the Palace Hotel to see Hering. Stepping to the clerk's desk he found that Hering was not in his room, and he accordingly had his card paged in accordance with the usual custom, a hotel page calling the name of Hering in loud tones throughout the main corridor and public assembly rooms, that the card of the visitor might be delivered to the guest.

Hering was located in the dining-room, the visitor's card delivered to him and the two men met and held a conference in regard to the fraternal matter in which they were officially interested. But the next day the meeting of Rogers and Hering was heralded in type by a portion of the local press as a conspiracy to prepare some more investigations to Hiram Johnson, the Republican nominee for Governor.

The same day also produced another startling "conspiracy," being a published allegation of a meeting between Patrick Calhoun of the United Railroads and Theodore A. Bell. It mattered not that these men were two thousand miles apart, the President of the United Railroads being in the Middle West at the time the campaign roorbach was committed to the type. The apparent purpose of this false statement was to show political collusion between Calhoun and Bell, who had never met.

The visit of Bell to San Francisco early last week, and which gave rise to these campaign roorbachs, was for the purpose of conferring with his campaign managers at the State Committee headquarters here. The committee was in possession of certain campaign material and as Bell was deeply interested in the outcome of the canvass they did not wish to use it without consulting him and receiving his endorsement of their course. Bell cut out one day of his speaking itinerary, came to San Francisco, the conference was held and the candidate for Governor went back to the lower San Joaquin Valley and resumed the stump. In this incident the accuser seems to have crawled out on the limb and then sawed it off.

San Francisco, under the "reform" influences with which it is beset, is rapidly taking on the conditions of Constantinople, in which city, when three Turks are seen together, it is accepted that at least two of them are spies.

Tale of Stock Deal

Seemingly the ramifications of the failure of the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company have no end. Another one of them has just come to light. Some months ago R. A. Bradford, who was a secretary of outside ventures for W. J. Barnett and the Treadwells, died. By some means 2350 shares of Western Pacific stock that were in his name came into the possession of Miss Jeannette L. Lowrie, formerly with the Western Union Company. She left the State with the stock not long ago before H. C. Hass, administrator of the estate of Bradford, could take action against her to try and obtain possession of the shares, which are worth today at the very lowest figure $20 a share. Since then in New York Miss Lowrie has made an affidavit that Bradford was a friend of hers and gave her the stock as a present before he died. A few days ago she deposited the stock with the Western Pacific people in New York for transfer on the books of the company from Bradford's name to her own. Hardly had she deposited the stock before three attachments were slapped on it, and now there will be a merry battle over its ownership. The Western Pacific people have attached it to help recuperate their losses as a depositor of the bank. The Depositors' Association have a second attachment, while a third one was made by Administrator Hass, who claims the stock belongs to the Bradford estate. The two former parties insist that the stock is an asset of the defunct bank.

A Campaign Story

Some good stories illustrating their contentions and arguments are dropping from the lips of campaign speakers at the various political meetings about town. The other night at a Democratic rally in Lyric hall on Larkin street the presiding officer was Dr. Rollins Cadwallader. The medico proved a good and enthusiastic talker, and, according to him, the opposition has lost its bearing, and is totally undecided as to what is what in the domain of politics today. The opposition's dilemma reminded him of a story. A negro decided to take a day off and go fishing. He was not long in having a nibble at his hook. It proved to be a big fish and the negro had a hard tussle trying to land it. He would pull with his pole and line and then in turn be pulled back. This see-saw game kept up until the man was perceptibly tired and perspiring profusely. During a lull in the hostilities while wiping his brow with his coat sleeve the fisherman audibly said in all seriousness:

"Is this nigger fishing or is that fish niggering?"

Sara's Coffin

I would be inclined to think the press cable dispatch of a few days ago to the effect that Sara Bernhardt, the noted French actress, on her forthcoming tour of the United States is to carry as part of her baggage a coffin so that in case of her death, which she is represented as thinking will take place in this country, her body can immediately be placed in it and shipped to France, is the tale of a wideawake press agent were it not for what a Southern Pacific passenger official told me yesterday. The latter has been in correspondence for several weeks with a resident passenger official of the company in New York over details of Bernhardt's itinerary over a part of the Hartman system. These details relate to such matters as her private car, the number of people in it, stopovers en route and baggage. There is a large quantity of the latter and among the pieces there is mentioned a coffin the actress insists on carrying with her wherever she travels. My friend understands the coffin is duly boxed so as not to attract attention. In all cities where she stops the coffin is to be taken care of in the baggage rooms of the railroad and the check for it giving Bernhardt's secretary in case it cannot be left in the baggage car. This latter fact is, to say the least, consoling. The divine Sara is going to spare us possible greswome displays of her eccentricity. She is not going to cart that coffin along with her personal baggage into every American hotel where she designs to become a guest.

Rich Divorcees

We have had two fair divorcees with us during the past few days. One is Mrs. Emma K. Wright, fresh from the Reno divorce mill, who is at the St. Francis with her child and a nurse. Mrs. Wright, who has assumed her maiden name, divorced James F. Mendels, a Wall street man. Mrs. Wright is pretty and has a rich father. Rumor has it that she is not averse to another matrimonial experience and that probably within the next twelve months she may become the bride of a man who arrived at the St. Francis the day after she registered. The other woman has also divorced a Wall street man, but her case was adjudicated in Los Angeles. She is Mrs. William P. Loizeux. She and her husband had a secret marriage and it was some months before her father, a wealthy iron merchant, and the groom's father, a minister, found it out. Loizeux made a fortune in Wall street just before he was married and lost it soon afterwards. His former wife is a very beautiful woman. Both of these women got divorces on grounds of cruelty and neglect.

Why Ames Cannot Pay

Garnishments and attachments against Worthington Ames, whose wife is one of the beautiful daughters of the late E. F. Preston, develops the fact that a lack of ready cash is also the reason why he is no longer a member of the Bohemian Club. Ames' name was posted some time in the club for being in arrears for his bills there. Not long afterwards his name was erased from the membership roll. Whether he paid his club bills, or any part of them, I do not know. Ames made a big "killing" in the stock market here several years ago, and was looked upon for a long time as a very shrewd and successful speculator. The fact that he is embarrassed financially and has been for some time was known only to the few. So it was cause for surprise to the many when he was attached a few days ago by William H. Metson, Frank C. Drew and Jufet Lindeberg, who had indorsed his note for $10,000. If Ames lost the snug fortune he made in the stock market by further speculation under the impression that he could continue to win, he is one of many hundreds here and elsewhere who have had the same experience. Only one out of 10,000 can keep at the game and not get into the financial slough. The late Harry Wise, the son of John F. Wise, was a striking example of this fact. Harry made in the wheat market fully $250,000. He then went to Chicago with the intention of performing wonders in the wheat market there. It was a shame how the Lake City crowd took his money away. It was done quickly and easily.

How He Borrowed From His Wife

This tale is reliably vouched for. Two years ago Mrs. ——— suspected her husband of infidelity. He was in business and wanted the $20,000 she had just felt heir to in order to enlarge it. She refused to give it to him because of her suspicions about his conduct. She did not tell him what she suspected, but was determined to divorce him if she could prove misconduct on his part. Desiring to place her $20,000 out at interest, she communicated with a certain San Francisco man of repute. He agreed to handle the money. By a coincidence the husband called on this man one day and asked him if he had money to loan on good security. The husband then told why he wanted a loan, saying he desired to increase his business plant and would give the latter as security. Realizing the security was good, the man advised the wife to make the loan for two years at 10 per cent. This she agreed to do through him as agent, and the husband did not know he was borrowing his wife's $20,000. Later on the wife got evidence of her better half's conduct and divorced him, getting alimony at the rate of $100 per month. Ten days ago the loan fell due and the agent collected it for the former wife. The ex-husband has prospered much of late and is now seeking to win back the love of his former wife. It is said she has let him know through mutual friends that his cause is hopeless because she detests him more than ever.

Not for Them

I very now and then one runs across some incident which reminds us forcibly what a potent factor in life superstition still is. It is a familiar story of how in deference to the beliefs on the part of thousands that there is bad luck in the numbers 13. No hotel in the United States has any room numbers with 13 in them. Ask managers of hotels like the Palace, St. Francis and Fairmont about this and they will frankly say they could not in a large majority of cases, whether men or women, rent rooms in which the figures 13 were included in the room numbers. Foolish, of course, they say, but they are face to face with the fact and have to meet it by ignoring those figures. Realizing this condition of the public mind, I was nevertheless startled the other evening while standing at the register counter of the Palace to hear an elderly and younger woman just arrived from Pittsburgh refuse to take suite 2173, one of the finest in the big caravansary. Assistant Manager Brownell expressed surprise, saying to them that as they had telegraphed ahead for a fine suite he had been at pains to give them the best, which, unfortunately, happened to be vacant when their message was received. He asked if the price was unsatisfactory. Both quickly said in unison they had no objection to the price. Brownell, courteous and obliging always, jilly concealed his perplexity. His evident embarrassment was quickly relieved by one of the women remarking:

"You see, the number of the room, 2173, makes, when added, 13, and wouldn't you give us some other suite?"

The assistant manager soon had his guests happily quartered in a suite on the next floor numbered 3415.

By George, they're making combinations of 13 on us now; wouldn't that stump you?" was Brownell's sad reflection on the episode.

Hering's Humor

Frank E. Hering, the Indiana college professor and orator, who has been campaigning in California for our five weeks for his friend, Theodore A. Bell is an enthusiastic Democrat and has caught the fancy of the party's following here. There is a good story told about him. Once when asked what he thought of a Republican victory in a Maryland Senatorial election several years ago, Hering is said to have replied somewhat dryly: "Well, Maryland, you know is a mighty queer place. Down there they are all chronic kickers. I have even known many of the natives to find fault with a phonograph on the ground that it lacks originality. Perhaps, however, their latest protegee may be lucky enough to have all the original qualities sufficient to satisfy their multifarious whims. If not, I hope for his own sake he has sufficient foresight to have the seat of his overalls amply padded."

Japs Good Whisky Drinkers

Many prominent Japanese have been passing through the city lately on their way home or going to Europe. These up-to-date Orientals have caused much comment at the Palace, Fairmont and St. Francis for the large quantities of American cocktails and champagne they consume without showing any pronounced effects in their appearance. The American woman may be copying from her Japanese sister the latter's styles in the way of kimonos, the mandarin jacket and other garments, but the Japanese man in his modernized form is outdoing his American brother with the latter's drinks. Cocktails in the early morning and the same drink for several hours before retiring is what these Japanese have been consuming, much to the astonishment of men about town who think they can drink. They have not only dallied with the whisky decoction, in the intervals between these drinks they have tackled the laughing water. Because of their positions in politics, finance and business in their own country, these men may be taken as a fair example of what the Occidentalized Japanese like to drink and their capacity for indulging. One of four Japanese members of parliament now here en route home from London seems to be proud of his ability to drink people under the table. He did that thing to several New York clubmen. The other night he was out with a couple of local clubmen to whom he had letters of introduction, and who knew of the episode in New York. The local men can drink, too, and when the M. P. from the land of the M-kado evinced a desire to drink champagne they conspired to give him a whirl. It is not necessary to mention where this drinking bout took place. With the twentieth bottle, the lawmaker from across the Pacific, tall for his race and seemingly all bone and muscle, dozed at the table for three. The San Franciscans, who were by no means sober, winked at each other over what they considered his Waterloo. They chatted and smoked while their companion dozed. In about ten minutes he awoke, was profuse in his apologies for what he considered a violation of good form, and insisted on more drinks. He drank and drank, getting fresher all the time. At 3 o'clock in the morning the local men figuratively threw up their hands.

"Why, he started on cocktails after all that champagne and we simply had to quit," was the way one of the San Franciscans afterwards told of the ending of the night of liquid revelry.

Vesta May Wed

Frank Goad, a prominent figure in society and clubdom, is home from a long European trip. He is telling his friends that Donald de V. Graham, an Englishman who was much of a pet in club and society circles for awhile several years before the fire, and who wisely saw fit to depart from San Francisco when his popularity was on the wane, is now keeping a curio store in Italy in the city of Florence. Many are the stories which could be related of Graham hereabouts concerning his vogue as a singer, how he was feted by some, and about his eccentricities. Goad left young Joe Eastland in Paris, where he says he intends remaining for a couple of years. Pre-umably Joe is sour on San Francisco because Vesta Shortridge Bruguere some months ago denied the truth of his cable message to the San Francisco morning papers that they were engaged. Goad thinks that is why young Eastland is prolonging his stay in Europe. Probably Joe is sensible in doing so, for the repeated rumors that Mrs. Bruguere is to marry young William Havemeyer are strengthened by the report that Newman & Levison have an order from her to have a trousseau ready for her next February. On her many trips between her Monterey home and the St. Francis hotel, the fascinating young woman always has with her a photograph of Havemeyer, according to her friends.

Women and the Bohemians

The recent agitation in the Bohemian Club to admit the female relatives of members to the midsummer jinks at Bohemia Grove, beginning next summer, has by no means been shelved. The movement is very much alive and the members favorable to the innovation are planning for its adoption by the club. Vice-President James McNab, James Graham, chairman of the midsummer jinks committee, and Vanderlyn Stow are three of the prominent members who favor the radical change. Not long ago at a well-attended meeting of the club these men were not sure of their ground and by good parliamentary tactics avoided having the matter put to a vote. Instead, on a motion by Stow, the vice-president, in the absence of President Harry Melvin, was authorized to appoint a committee to submit a report, with recommendations, on the subject at a meeting to be held in January. This committee has been appointed and it is said a majority will report in favor of the change. Meanwhile the friends of the measure are doing missionary work among the recalcitrant members. They are pooh-poohing the objections being made in the opposition camp that the admission of women to the midsummer jinks may result in scandal and certainly will bring about unpleasantness of various kinds, besides destroying a unconventional, permissible and delightful, among men in such an outing.

Good Meals in the Navy

Uncle Sam is going to try and get more recruits for the navy by appealing to unemployed young men through their stomachs. This is the meaning of an exhibit the navy authorities are arranging, and which will be shown in many of the large cities, according to the statement of several navy officers at present in the city. The exhibit is to consist of a model ship's galley and bakery. There will be electric ranges, bake ovens, potato peelers and other kindred things. The standard navy ration will be prepared, as it is done on shipboard, and will be given as a sample to visitors. The Navy Department has authorized the use of the model of the battleship Connecticut for the exhibit, which will be under the care of Paymaster F. P. Williams, who is well known on this coast, where he was formerly stationed. San Francisco is one of the cities where this exhibit is to be displayed. For several years the navy has had much difficulty in getting a sufficient number of recruits and various advertising propositions have been resorted to for the purpose of overcoming the reluctance of able-bodied young men to enlist. This exhibit is the latest scheme and naval officers are much interested as to what success will attend it.

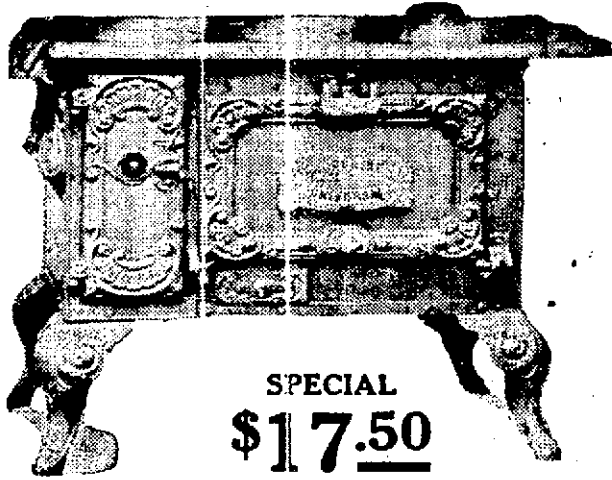

Lucy's Elopement

So Mrs. Lucy Banning-Bradbury-Greenleaf of Los Angeles has eloped with a young man named Ross. This is the second time in thirteen years that this dashing brunette has thrown the conventions to the winds in this manner. It was in 1897 that the then Mrs. Bradbury created a big sensation in Los Angeles and San Francisco by eloping to this city with an Englishman named Captain Russell Ward, who had a family in England. They were arrested here and had a sensational trial in the police court. The matter was finally dropped on the second day after their arrest. The late Major Hooper of the Occidental Hotel, a friend of her family, shielded the beautiful young woman as much as he could and successfully pleaded that she be accepted back home. Ward met a terrible end at his own hands several days after being released from arrest. Buying a ticket on the San Francisco and Chicago limited train, he deliberately jumped through an open window of the Pullman car on the Union Pacific road while the train was running through Wyoming fifty miles an hour, and was instantly killed. A gentleman living here saw him commit the act before anybody had time to stop him. His body rolled 200 feet from the track. Ward was a man of fine presence, soldierly appearing, cultured and light-hearted. He had been the jolliest passenger on the train up until a few minutes before he took his awful leap from the car window.

UGLIEST ACTRESS PLANS TO RETURN

Mlle. Polaire, She of Wasp-Like Waist Line, Coming to America Again.

PARIS, Nov. 5.—Thinner and more beautifully ugly than ever since her return from America, Mlle. Polaire is drawing large audiences to the amount of 1000 francs per performance and 10 per cent of the receipts. Mlle. Polaire is enthusiastic about her American tour and expects to return to New York for a ten weeks' engagement in January. She has a new play which she is sure will please Americans. She is also expected to play a return engagement in London soon. Mlle. Polaire recited how during her last engagement at the Palace in London, the Prince of Wales, now King George V, sent word after the performance that she had made the most profound impression on him of any actress he had ever seen. Mlle. Polaire is very proud of this royal praise, but she is greatly surprised that she did not receive an offer of marriage while in America. Anyhow, she says she prefers her liberty, which permits her to devote herself entirely to art.

She explained to your correspondent that she is no longer the ugliest woman in the world. When she began her career she consented to become the ugliest woman to advertise herself. But that her reputation is established there.

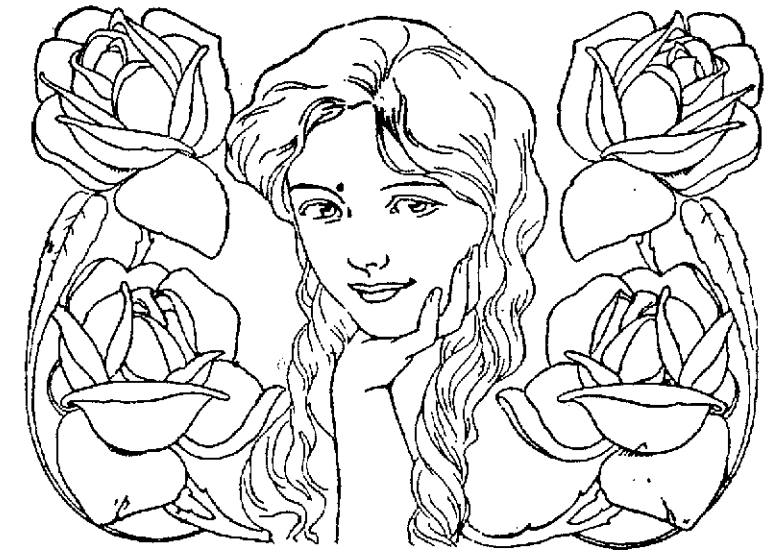

WIFE IS GUILTY OF FOUL MURDER

Life Imprisonment for Texas Woman Who Killed Husband While He Slept.

WACO, Texas, Nov. 5.—Mrs. Minnie Lee Straight, charged with the murder of her husband, T. B. Straight, at McGregor, Texas, June 18, last, was found guilty of murder in the first degree in the fourth district court here today. Her punishment was fixed at life imprisonment. The defendant who was lying on a cot, which she has been forced to occupy for several weeks, sobbed convulsively when the verdict was announced, but did not speak. Straight, one of the best known papermen in the state, was shot in the forehead with a pistol and killed. His wife admitted the killing but asserted that Straight, as a result of domestic troubles, had attempted to cut her with a razor. The state claimed that Straight was asleep when shot. Counsel for the defense will ask for a new trial.

There is no need of that, and she insists she is not guilty at all. "As to the American press," she said, "it just takes the cake. There, that is the best English I have learned. Good-night."

AMERICAN COLONY AGOG OVER PHELPS DIVORCE CASE

Herbert Pell Arrives in Paris From America to Aid Aunt in Suit.

HUSBAND BECOMES EXPATRIATE IN FRANCE

Seeks Division of Half of Rich Pell Estate Valued at $20,000,000.

(By VANCE THOMPSON.)

PARIS, Nov. 5.—Herbert Pell, a grandson of Mrs. James K. McKee, and nephew of Mrs. Harris Phelps, has come over to help out his aunt in her divorce suit against her husband. The case comes up this month and will be a case celebre in the American colony.

It is safe to say that not since the divorce suit of Henriette McKee and pretty Constance Felt has the colony looked forward to a trial with such absorbing interest.

Meanwhile Herbert Pell and Harris Phelps, Jr., have constituted themselves a bodyguard for Mrs. Phelps. The reason why Harris Phelps became a French citizen about six years ago has now become plainly evident to his wife's family.

FORCED INTO DIVORCE.

He has long been contemplating forcing his wife to get a divorce and has been making his financial preparations accordingly by becoming a French citizen. Mrs. Phelps has more than a fighting chance of securing half of her big fortune, which is placed at more than $20,000,000, and which came from the Pell estate.

At the time of his marriage Phelps had nothing. As the Frenchman he may claim a division of the property according to French law, unless there is a special contract.

Mrs. Phelps' friends say that such a contract exists, but Phelps has procured large sums for her for which he cannot as a Frenchman be made to account for.

In her plea for divorce Mrs. Phelps charges cruelty, including threats with a revolver; reckless extravagance with her money and extreme eccentricity. When in society Harris Phelps never allowed his wife to answer a question. If anyone put a question to her he answered it himself.

SPOKANE TO HOLD BIG APPLE SHOW

More Than 2,000,000 of the Fruit Will Be Entered in Contests.

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 5.—The third annual exposition of King Apple will take place in this city November 14-18. Twenty thousand dollars is the aggregation of the prizes which will reward contestants in every possible branch of the industry.

One of the main features will be a series of apple packing contests for county, state, national and international championships, with suitable trophies and cash premiums to the winners. There are also regional packs of the various recognized types in regulation Northwest boxes will be used in single, five and ten box contests, open to all. It is also likely there will be a contest for teams in packing a full car of 50 boxes. There is much rivalry among packers in the several valleys in the Northwest, where grading and packing has reached a degree of perfection not yet attained elsewhere, and it is expected that many of the racks in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and other states, possibly Colorado and California, will enter.

More than 2,000,000 apples were shown in 1908, while in 1909 there were 1,526,331. There will be more than 2,000,000 apples entered in the various contests this November.

A large parade ground will also be one of the features of the park.

Lest You Forget

Here Are a Few Vital Points to Remember Before You Buy Any Automobile

REMEMBER: THE NAME—E-M-F "30."

REMEMBER: THE PRICE—$1000 f. o. b. Detroit, fully equipped with magneto, five lamps, acetylene generator and tube horn.

REMEMBER: THE GUARANTEE—For one year against breakage "from any cause whatsoever."

REMEMBER: THE RECORD—Over 18,000 E-M-F "30" cars today in hands of owners and every owner boasting—ask them.

REMEMBER: THE SAVING—E-M-F "30" at $1000 saves you $500 as compared with the same size and power and quality others ask $1500 for; and $250 from price of "assembled cars" that list at $1250 and cannot sell for less because of having to pay the extra parts makers' profits.

REMEMBER: That the $250 difference pays $20 per month toward your rent; or it is saving bank interest on $6250, while $500 that you save on a car of equal quality is interest on $12,500 for a year.

REMEMBER: That the difference between price of E-M-F "30" and would-be competing cars at $1250 will pay, twice over, your year's maintenance account—gasoline, oil, tires, repairs and an annual overhauling—twice over, no matter how hard your drive your E-M-F "30."

REMEMBER: That no other thirty or thirty-five horse-power car is made of such excellent materials, and is therefore as light, therefore as economical in operation and maintenance.

REMEMBER: That the E-M-F Company has over $7,000,000 invested in plants and that, not only in every part from the Pig Iron and the Raw Steel bars made in our own factories, but that every pound of steel or brass or other metal that enters into these cars is first made from our own formula; then analyzed to prove its quality, and finally tested to prove its efficiency.

REMEMBER: That cars for which you must pay more are "assembled" product—that while their makers may prate loudly about quality, they don't know what material actually goes into their cars, but must take the word of others who are making the parts for profit and who have no interest in the ultimate user of the car.

AND FINALLY, REMEMBER the record of the E-M-F Company—never repudiated a guarantee or a promise, written, verbal or otherwise. Remember that when we guarantee our cars for a full year we know whereof we speak, for we have made every part and we know absolutely the strength and quality of every piece of steel in it. Remember, that we are the largest automobile manufacturers in the world—that we now have thousands of delighted owners recommending our product and that, in view of our tremendous output, we need a lot more of such friends. Remember that we have always said "a satisfied owner is the best salesman"—and that we have always kept that in mind and seen that every owner was satisfied.

U. S. HAS MUCH TO LEARN, HE SAYS

We Have Cities That Need Beautification, Declares Consul.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—"Municipal decoration is one of the many things that the United States has yet to learn from the twenty sister American republics," writes United States Consul General R. M. Bartmann of Buenos Ayres, Argentina, in a report to the Department of Commerce and Labor. Speaking of Buenos Ayres, he admits that there is no city from which more can be learned, not merely in municipal decorations alone, but in the way that private interest is subordinated to the public welfare, as is shown in the fact that the commercial element never demands that squares shall be utilized as sites for skyscrapers. Bartmann comments on the fact that in the last nine years more than 142,000 acres have been planted and there has been ceaseless activity to make Buenos Ayres a city beautiful.

Probation Officers to Lecture on Crime

"Some Probationers I Know" will be the subject of a talk on the failures and successes of probation by Chief Assistant Probation Officer Otto P. Saddington before the young people of Trinity Methodist church, corner of Allston Way and Ellsworth street, Berkeley, this afternoon at 5 o'clock before the newly organized Social Questions club, among the young men and women of the church. R. E. Allen is president of the new organization.

"The Crime of Being Weak" will be the subject of a lecture by Probation Officer Reuss' topic this evening at the Shattuck Avenue Methodist church in Oakland, corner of Sixty-third and Shattuck avenue. Reuss will develop the idea that crime is weakness, and that the morally sick should be punished for being sick, but should instead be treated individually in the appropriate way. He will draw the parallel between the methods of treating physical and moral disease. The address is one of the series arranged by the education committee of the Child's Welfare League, consisting of Mrs. Nellie Nelson and Miss Thompson.

Illustrated Lecture on Civil War Battles

A lecture for the benefit of the Intermediate Society of the Centennial Presbyterian church of East Oakland was held in East Oakland settlement hall Friday evening. The speaker was the Rev. W. H. Hayes, pastor of the church, introduced the lecturer. Mrs.

Something to Give Thanks For.

Every sober-minded citizen of California ought to give thanks this Sunday morning that the political campaign which has been raging, after a fashion, in this State for months past is about over. It has been noisome and disgusting as an exhibition and instructive only as an example of political degeneracy and unleashed demagoguery. Never was there a campaign in California when there was so little discussion of the affairs of government and so much personal detraction; so much said in self-laudation and so little said about how the public business should be managed; so much boasting about personal honor and so little regard for the decencies of debate; so much vaunting of high motive, coupled with foul aspersions, base accusation and vulgar denunciation.

It will be a grateful relief to have it all ended—the vicious appeals to passion and prejudice, the violent interchange of epithets and the hail of charges and counter-charges. The public has been surfeited with the storm of fustian oratory, self-glorification and blackguardly assault on private character.

The issue put before the people is, Which of two candidates is the most relentless foe of the Southern Pacific Railroad? What the people will decide will be, Which is the lesser of two evils? It is a sorry choice. It can only be made in a spirit of resignation and with hopes for the best. At any rate, every decent citizen will be glad it is over; that a campaign which opened with, began with, declarations of exalted patriotism, high moral purpose, and superior virtue and speedily descended to gutter-snipe personalities has become a thing of the past, something of which folk of sane, sober minds are ashamed and would like to forget.

Theodore A. Bell predicated his campaign on the assumption that any man of his own party who disputed his claim to the nomination for Governor thereby confessed himself a servant of plundering corporations and a traitor to the people. Hiram W. Johnson made his campaign in the Republican party on the same assumption. No other man could aspire to the gubernatorial nomination and be honest. He said his party organization was rotten, its leaders corrupt and the history of the Republican party in California a forty years' record of betrayal of the public interests to corporate greed.

Prior to the primary election Mr. Bell and Mr. Johnson cheerfully recognized each other as the only honest men aspiring to office. Both were nominators, and straightway both fell to denouncing each other as hypocrites and flimflugs. And their recriminations have been the burden of all the campaign speeches. The public has been edified by each of the two only honest men trying to prove the other a crook. Having eliminated all other aspirants on the ground that they were honest and sincerer than their neighbors, they fell upon each other with the fury of fishwives, tearing at their respective reputations and striving to prove that what they said of others is true of themselves.

Meanwhile the real questions of state have been ignored. The relative force and statesmanship of the Big Stick is all that the people are left to decide. The issue is not inspiring, the outcome in doubt and the consequences unpromising. It is an equation of billingsgate. The apostles of political purity have turned State's evidence on each other, and the people are giving a credence to their testimony that makes voting a painful duty. Thank the Lord, the curtain is about to rung down on a farce that may be worthy of the leading actors, but is a shame to the State.

Kermit Roosevelt must be something of a wit. It is reported that he said recently, "Dad always wants to be the bride at a wedding and the corpse at a funeral." This moves the Minneapolis Journal to say that the paragraphers' union should send Kermit a diploma. He certainly hit the bulls-eye.

Nominees Who Should Be Elected.

As the result of the August primaries the Republicans of Alameda county nominated an exceptionally good county ticket which should commend itself to the voters of the county generally. Every nominee should at least draw out the full party strength, which will assure his election with a large margin to spare.

District Attorney Donahue is a candidate to succeed himself. He has made such a good public officer that he enjoys the entire confidence of the people. As the successor of Judge Everett Brown in the District Attorneyship he has made good every expectation that was centered in him at the time of his appointment.

George W. Bacon, the Republican and Union Labor candidate for County Recorder, was formerly County Auditor, and as such made a splendid record as a public officer. That he will make an equally good record in the office of County Recorder is reasonable to expect.

There is scarcely a resident of Alameda county who is not personally acquainted with Perry A. Haviland, the County Surveyor, and no one has anything but a good word to say for him as an efficient and painstaking county official. Mr. Haviland is the party nominee to succeed himself and his election is absolutely assured as a reward of genuine merit.

Dr. H. B. Mehrmann, who is the Republican and Union Labor nominee for Public Administrator, was appointed to the office by the Board of Supervisors to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of George Gray, which followed the exposure of mismanagement. Dr. Mehrmann's probity is above suspicion. The affairs of the Public Administratorship have been conducted faultlessly since his appointment and he has rightfully earned an election to succeed himself.

Henry P. Dalton has held the office of County Assessor for four successive terms, sixteen years in all. Although his candidacy for the party nomination at the August primaries was spiritedly contested by a popular and capable citizen, the majority of those who participated in the primary election showed that they still reposed confidence in Dalton and nominated him for still another term of four years.

M. J. Kelly, the County Treasurer, has proved such an efficient custodian of the county funds that he received the endorsement of the Republican, Democratic and Union Labor parties at the primaries, and he is assured of a larger majority than any other candidate on the county ticket, for every voter in the county reposes implicit confidence in Mr. Kelly's integrity.

Honest James B. Barber, who has served the county long and well as its Tax Collector, has fairly earned a life tenure of the office as the legitimate reward of many years of faithfulness to the trust which the people have confided to his care.

The party nominee for County Auditor is E. F. Garrison. His long experience as a deputy in the office of the City Auditor assures the county efficient service in the more responsible position to which he now aspires and to fill which during the next four years he will be elected by the people next Tuesday.

Re-Elect Supervisor Kelley.

Supervisor Joseph M. Kelley has proved during the two terms he has served the county as a member of the board one of the most progressive and hard-working representatives it ever had. Every public improvement in which Alameda county has been interested in the past eight years Kelley has given it the heartiest support. It should be remembered that in the matter of road improvement, boulevard construction and the erection of county buildings more genuine progress has been made than in any previous eight years in the county's history.

No member of the board worked more zealously for the construction of the scenic foothill boulevard from Fruitvale to Hayward than Supervisor Kelley. While narrow-gauged and short-sighted citizens decried that improvement and condemned it as a foolish and wasteful use of the county revenues, Kelley stood firmly by the conviction that it would prove ultimately one of the best business investments ever made by the county in road construction. The clearness of his foresight and the correctness of his judgment has been amply vindicated since the boulevard was completed. There is not a finer boulevard in existence in the State and none as popular. If it were possible to trace the benefits which the city of Oakland and Alameda county have derived from the construction of this great public highway, their sum total would in all probability show that it has already paid for itself with good interest on the investment. It has increased property values all along the line and every community in touch with it has profited enormously from it. And its popularity and value are increasing steadily with the passage of time.

Through Kelley's intelligent efforts Alameda county is also in possession today of the finest and most modernly equipped county jails in the entire country.

Kelley's re-election means continued progress for the county. He is a man of original, practical ideas, which he has the courage to exploit and urge when most other citizens are either in doubt or too faint-hearted to support or not clear-headed enough to fully realize their enormous value to the county at large when carried out. His plan of ridding Oakland harbor of the obstructions with its perfect use for commerce, by the construction of one or more subways under its navigable waters to join Oakland and Alameda and give a free outlet for the growing traffic between the two cities, is one that must commend itself to every thoughtful and intelligent citizen as a measure which is full of meaning, to the progress and prosperity of not only the two cities directly concerned, but for the county at large. Everything that aids the commerce of Oakland harbor and adds to the wealth of the east bay shore cities contributes indirectly to the welfare of the county. The bay shore cities cannot prosper without the county prospering proportionately also. The re-election of Supervisor Kelley is, therefore, essential for the hastening of this and other important public improvements which must be undertaken sooner or later or the interests of the county and the east bay shore cities suffer. Every voter in the Third Supervisorial district should, therefore, rally to Kelley's support next Tuesday.

Regarding a Misleading Circular.

Notwithstanding the fact that County Superintendent George W. Frick has administered the affairs of his office economically and at as small an expense as an efficient service would permit a circular has been put out during this campaign over the signature of Mr. Frick's opponent, who was superintendent for eight years preceding Mr. Frick, making certain comparisons between the alleged cost of maintaining the Superintendent's office during the last three years of that gentleman's incumbency with the three years of Mr. Frick's term, ending June 30, 1910. This circular, besides containing inaccuracies and misstatements, omits to call any attention to the rapid increase of population following the earthquake of 1906. It should be borne in mind that Superintendent Frick's term of office began in January, 1907. The records which are open to all, show that the average number of census children for such three years of Mr. Frick's administration was about 50 per cent greater than the average number of census children during the last three years of his opponent's administration.

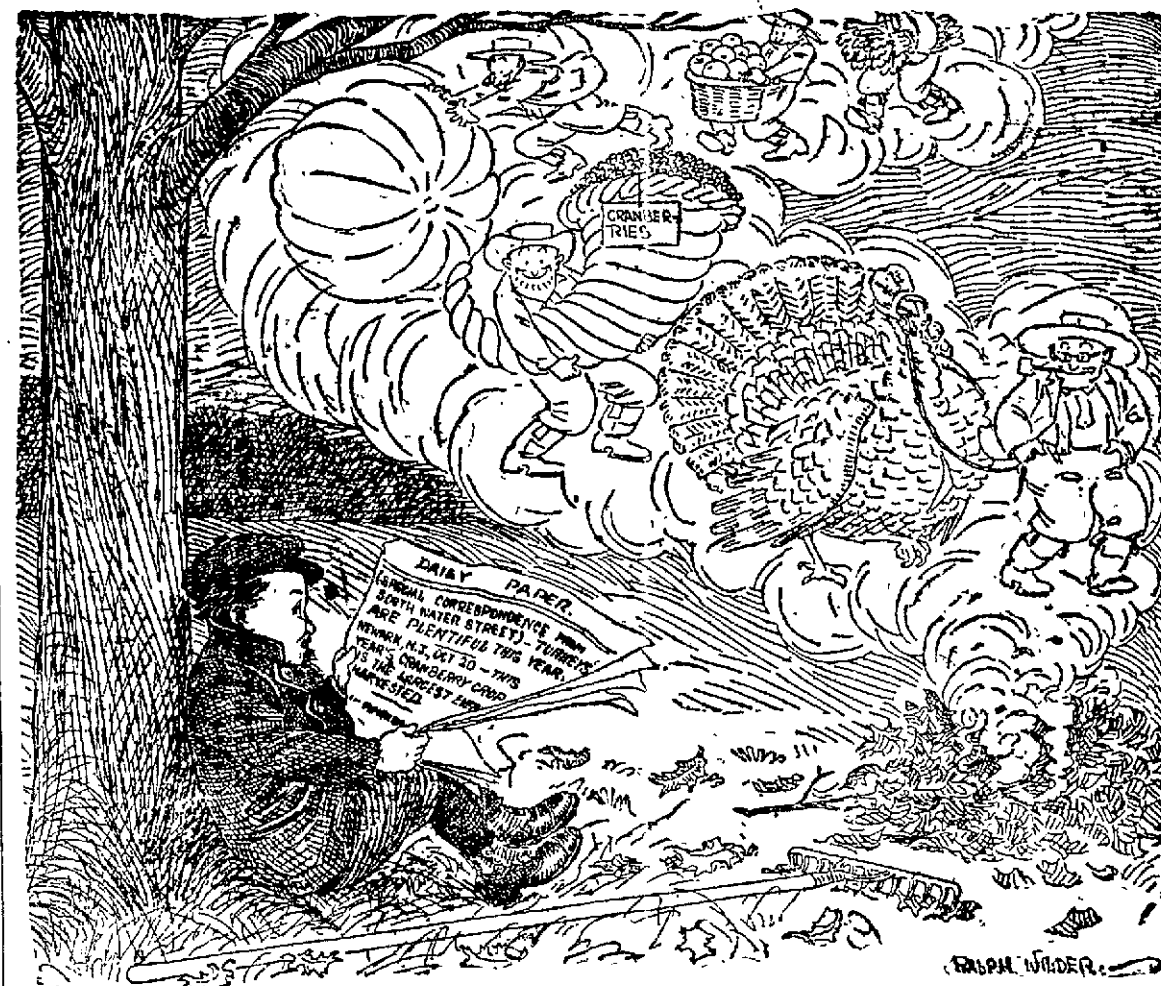

To illustrate further the manifest unfairness of this circular's comparisons: During the three last years of its author's incumbency there were graduated from the grammar schools of the county 3153 pupils. During the three years of Mr. Frick's term there were graduated 5205 grammar school pupils, an increase of over 65 per cent. Again, in the figures given out in this circular as the total expense, including salaries, of running the Superintendent's department during the last three years is included the expense of providing and furnishing a library and County Board of Education room, the expense of refurnishing the Superintendent's office and purchasing new and necessary apparatus, all of which was done by the Board of Supervisors and was deemed necessary by them in order that the department could conduct its affairs in accordance with modern, up-to-date standards, and with due regard to the convenience of the public having business with such department. This circular gives figures in an attempt to show that there will be an increase next year of 46 per cent in expense over last year. To make this showing its author takes the actual cost, including salaries of Superintendent and deputies, of running this department, namely $10,285, and compares it with the estimated cost of next year, namely, $15,750, instead of comparing such estimated cost for next year with the estimated cost of last year, which was $14,670, or only seven and a half per cent less than the estimated cost for next year. Last year Mr. Frick, as is the custom in all public offices, put in an estimate to the Board of Supervisors large enough to cover any possible emergency which might arise, and when the year was over it was found that he had so run the office that the actual amount expended was $9842 less than the estimate. In making his estimate this year, he followed the same policy and undoubtedly, running the office in the same economical way as he did last year, the amount he will actually expend will be less than the estimate in about the same proportion that it was less than the estimate this year.

It is thus seen that in fact the probable increase in expense of running this department for next year over last year will be seven or eight per cent instead of forty-six per cent, as stated in this misleading circular. Will such an increase, in view of the increase of the population of the county, be an extravagance?

This circular states that the expense of running this department, exclusive of salaries of the Superintendent and deputies, will next year amount to $6050. This is not so. Such expense for last year under Mr. Frick was only $2028.92. This is a matter of public record and if Mr. Frick is re-elected this expense next year will be little greater.

A plain inference to be drawn from another statement in this remarkable document is that the salary of the Superintendent is at present greater than it was during its author's administration. This is not true. The salary to the end of the present term is the same as it has been for years. There has been an increase, which has taken effect in the salaries of the deputies, and an increase in the salary of the Superintendent, which will take effect next year. These increases are only sufficient to put this important office on the same basis as the other offices of the county. Will it be contended that educational people are not "worthy of their hire," or that principals and deputies in such an office should receive less than principals and deputies in other county offices?

SOME IMPORTANT CROP REPORTS

Mr. Frick's opponent himself, during his incumbency of the Superintendent's office, personally tried to induce members of the legislative delegation to make increases of the salaries of the deputies and to increase the salary of the Superintendent from $3000 to $3600 per year. This statement can be verified by inquiry of the members of the legislative delegation from this county who were in office during the last term of the gentleman's administration. While the population of the county and the clerical work of the Superintendent's office has increased fully one-half since the earthquake, and while since then there have been numbers of additional deputies allowed in other county offices, there has been but one additional deputy allowed in the County Superintendent's office.

One can understand the insincerity of this circular when one considers the promises being made by its author, with a reference to free text books for public school pupils. He was County Superintendent for eight years, and he did not cause free text books to be furnished. He knows that neither he nor any other person occupying the position of County Superintendent has anything to say as to whether text books shall be furnished free, and knows that the Board of Supervisors has no legal power to cause free text books to be furnished. He knows that in order to get free text books the law will first have to be amended, and that this can only be done by the Legislature.

Superintendent Frick believes in performances rather than in promises. He is that kind of sterling integrity that would scorn to make an ante-election promise which he knew he could not perform when elected for the sake of catching votes. He has consistently opposed, except where it was absolutely necessary, changes in text books prescribed by the Board of Education in the course of study in the schools, for the reason that such changes entail an additional and unnecessary expense upon parents.

While the re-election of George W. Frick is undoubtedly assured, in view of the implied criticisms of his administration so unjustly made by his opponent in the circular here before referred to, it becomes the manifest duty of all persons interested in maintaining the present high standard of efficiency in the Superintendent's office, and interested in the welfare of the public schools, and more particularly of all educational people, to give Mr. Frick's candidacy such support as will result in his majority being so overwhelming as to constitute a rebuke to the campaign methods which inspire the preparation and publication of such an unjust and unfair document as the circular heretofore referred to.

Perhaps it would be well for the police commissioners to require the members of the Oakland police force to read the police regulations. Frequently the public is given evidence that the average patrolman is innocent of knowledge about the regulations which constitute his code of duty. For instance, George F. de Golia, a well known citizen of excellent repute and a lawyer of prominence, was arrested because he paused on the street to look at a bulletin board. When his case was called in the police court it transpired that the officer who made the arrest had filed no complaint and was not present in court to substantiate his charge. The police regulations specifically require an arresting officer to be present when the case comes up in the police court. The wisdom and justice of this regulation are obvious. There should be expedition in justice in the first place, and in the second, officers should not be permitted to make arrests without filing complaints stating the offense committed and being present in the court when the case is called. Otherwise men could be jailed over night by policemen who may feel disinclined to file a complaint or appear against the persons arrested. Either the regulations should be enforced or burned as old rubbish.

Twenty Years Ago Today

W. W. Moore, familiarly known as "Billy Moore, the hackman," who ran for supervisor on the American ticket, has a good story on Bassett, whose name was on the American ticket for Senator in the sixteenth district. Moore and Bassett were working at the polls supposedly in the interest of the entire American ticket. A voter approached the polls and asked for an American ticket. Bassett stepped up to him and offered him a straight Republican ticket, with the exception that the names of Bassett and Moore had been substituted for the Republican nominees. The voter scanned the ticket carefully and, at last, said to Bassett, "I can't vote for that man Bassett. He is too much for me to swallow. Moore, I don't know. The rest are all right. So he scratched off Moore and Bassett and voted the rest of the Republican ticket."

PREDICTING GREAT CRISIS IN SPAIN

About to Break.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—There is still a great deal of tension over the Madrid situation which has been reflected in a sharp fall of Spanish newspaper prices. Rumors of a possible revolution have been current since the 1st of October, but during the two or three days preceding the revolt in Lisbon.

Two articles in the Spanish press of the 1st of November, one in the "El Sol" and the other in the "El Mundo," both of which are considered the most influential of the Spanish press, are constantly sending out dispatches which are promptly denied by the Spanish government.

These dispatches have been mysteriously stopped at the frontier and have not been sent through a letter box in the city since the 1st of November.

Among the international financiers of London there is a great deal of interest in the Spanish situation, but so far no one is able to predict with certainty when the outbreak will occur.

SAN LEANDRO, Nov. 5.—Plans and specifications have already been submitted to local contractors for their bids on the construction of two new buildings at the corner of the corner of 14th and Main streets, which are soon to be erected at the corner of 14th and Main streets and Hayward avenue at a cost of $8000 apiece. The buildings are to occupy one of the best corners of the town.

The present plans call for one of the buildings to be of one story, but so built that any other amount of floors may be built on when necessary. The other is to be a one-story affair, 32x30 and will be used as a garage by M. C. King.

SHIP ASHORE ON REEF;
ALL BUT ONE SAVED

Sailor Swims Ashore With a

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The story of the wreck of the freight ship Prince, of the Prince Line on a coral reef near Holland Point southwest of Cuba, and the loss of its million dollar cargo of coffee, was graphically described in the ship log written by First Officer R. B. Wilson, who, with Captain Peter Johnston and three of the crew reached here from Havana today on the Ward Line Esperanza.

One of the firemen was lost. Third Engineer R. J. Godfrey was taken to the Mercedes hospital in Havana, suffering with severe contusions of the back and the captain and crew after fighting the hurricane for four days, saw the Crown Prince rent asunder by the gale. They reached the mainland of Cuba by a miracle.

WORDING OF LOG

Officer Wilson's log read: "We left Santos and Brazilian ports with 75,000 bags of coffee and after touching at the Barbados October 7 proceeded to New Orleans. On October 13 we passed the little Cayman Islands and ran into a brisk southeast wind which by the following morning changed to a gale blowing eighty miles an hour. All day on the 14th the wind continued to increase in violence and the seas were running over our decks carried away all the forward gear. The next day we sighted a three-masted schooner that had been waterlogged and wrecked by the gale. No one was aboard. On the 15th the Crown Prince was enveloped in a driving spray from a hurricane sea. A giant swell was on and it was impossible to see a speck or hear

RAN ON CORAL REEF.

"At 9:30 that night we ran stern first on a coral reef. There was a third and a noise like grinding and tearing and the next moment the ship swung around and was driven further on the reef by the mountainous sea. The engineer and his crew had just got clear in the engine room when the ship struck and as they clambered in safety to the engine room roof, they saw the after deck break with a noise like a big gun.

The second and third engineers and two apprentices made for the life boats over the engine room, but found that one had been crushed to pieces. Third Engineer Godfrey was dashed against the main rigging where he landed with so great force that his back was seriously injured.

RESCUED BY OTHERS

Godfrey was lying helpless on the engine room roof and at the risk of their lives the second and third officers rescued him and brought him to where the rest of the crew had sought shelter beneath the wheel houses.

Toward morning the hurricane abated and we could see shore 200 yards away. There were low coral reefs with a background of dense underbrush and jungle. The roll call was read and Fireman Ford found that he was missing. The second officer and first steward attempted to launch the starboard life boat on the weather side but as we dropped her slowly from the davit the wind and sea caught her and hurled her against the ship smashing her to splinters.

KNOCKED INSENSIBLE

"I was knocked insensible for a time but Apprentice Patton with an injured foot swam to shore and a light line attached to a buoy was floated to him. Two sailors with a heavier line followed him and after lashing the line to a tree trunk communication with the shore was established.

Then we got ashore. Captain Johnston who had behaved in the coolest manner being the last to leave. A monkey and cat were also saved. One cat being drowned. We searched the beach by moonlight but found no trace of Ford.

On October 15 a ranchman came to us from his farm six miles away and captain and chief engineer went home with him. All our men had been cut and bruised by the coral. We finally found Ford's body and buried it.

BUILDINGS COLLAPSE CAUSE OF EXCITEMENT

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—Great excitement was caused in the neighborhood of Second and Bryant streets this afternoon when an unoccupied warehouse on Federal street near Second collapsed. An unidentified person turned in a fire alarm and the report spread that two men had been buried under the debris.

The firemen rushed to the scene prepared to begin work at once for the relief of the supposedly imprisoned workmen but found upon arrival that no one was near the building at the time of the collapse and that it had not been occupied since the fire. The demolition of the building was due to the excavating work which is being done by the Rincon warehouse for a foundation for a new building. Workmen employed on the excavating say that the old warehouse was full of cracks.

Bullock and the block was closed by Mrs. W. K. Bullock. The block already is covered with full grown cherry trees.

DUCHESSES IN RAGE OVER GIFT BY D'ANNUNZIO

Italian Poet Makes 500 Parisian Women Presents of His "Only Copy."

RECIPIENTS COMPARE NOTES; WRITERS FLEE

Takes Care That No American Beauties Receive One of His "Autographs."

(By MARQUIS DE CAS' ELLANE.) PARIS Nov. 5.—Gabriele d'Annunzio the celebrated Italian poet and novelist is with us and he has distributed the apple of discord among 500 of our cleverest and most beautiful women in the shape of 50 copies of his latest book, on each copy of which he has written "To Mme. X—the only copy I have in Paris."

Now as all these bright social lights belong to the same club and are generally acquainted with each other they soon began to compare notes and this especially was the case a reception given by a well-known duchess who announced blandly that she was in receipt of the only autographed copy of D'Annunzio's new book. Of course 49 other duchesses flew at her and during the controversy the nimble poet luckily made his escape.

A GRACELESS LOT. I once knew a poet who really wrote a very good poem about a lady's eyes. He invariably began a new love affair by dedicating this poem to the lady of his fancy. Through all the affairs of the heart the poem did good service until one day these two met and compared notes and as on happened to be the poet's wife I have no hesitation in saying the discussion was a lively one. All of which goes to show what a graceless lot poets really are.

CHARMING AMERICANS. Apropos of which there are about 50 American women married to old Roman families and in point of good looks I must say they hold their own against the proudest patrician beauties. Their charm is their wit, their vivacity and their brilliant intellect. Though at present many American Roman women are in Paris, such as the Princess Colonna, the Princess Rospigliosi, the Duchess de Torlonia and the Princess Rospigliosi, I have not heard that any one of them has received these "only autographed" copy of D'Annunzio's latest book.

It is believed that friends or thieves who watched the progress of building the ship stole a march on him, got out the ship and endeavored to run it. It is not known whether or not they flew the two miles.

Mary MacLane Is Coming Back, Looking for a Husband Who'll Make Good Copy

The Girl Who Set the Nation by the Ears Some Years Ago by Writing a Book of Lurid Confessions, Promises to Produce a Play in Chicago, Which Will Knock the World a Twister.

(From an Interview Given in Chicago in 1930.)

WHEN MARY MACLANE CHANGED HEARS.

"I HATE men. I cannot analyze the hatred, but I hate them all." Thus did Mary MacLane announce her change of heart on the subject of the "Man Devil." She now earnestly hopes he will never come to her with the "deep, red happiness of love."

She was smiling, childlike, cordial, her conversation punctuated with a schoolgirl giggle that was infectious. There was no trace of the cynical, insolent, "chip on the shoulder" author.

"Then you will never marry?" she was asked.

"No; not unless I can marry a woman."

"Then you did not mean all you said concerning your love for the 'Man Devil' whom you would some day meet?"

"I suppose I meant it when I wrote it."

"You do not mean it now?"

"No, I hate him. I hope he will never come. I never want to see or hear of him."

"I do not think the man lives who understands my book," she said next.

"Why? You would not ask if you could read the letters I receive from men? Women do not write about my book. But the men give me advice, deplorable, horrible, foolish advice. They tell me to mend my evil ways and settle down and get married. They pity me in my wickedness. They console and enumerate my vices. They preach, preach, preach. Then others ask to meet me, and say they are my devil; and still others ask me to marry them, or tell me how to invest the money from my book. I never read the letters any more. I throw them away unopened. 'What do men know of a woman's soul?' My book is a soul."

Then she giggled again. The blush was gone.

"I have no manners. I hate people with manners. They are like men, arrogant fools. I look because they pretend to be what they are not. I would not be what I am not because it is too much trouble. Besides, I am better as I am."

"Then why do you fuss your hair?"

"Because I am vain."

"According to your own standard, is it not hypocritical to fuss your hair?"

"No, because you can see it is 'fussed.' Hypocrisy is to pretend something you are not. You can see I 'fuss' my hair. By 'fussing' my hair I admit I am vain."

"Are you really a thief, as you said in your book?"

"Yes, I am naturally a thief."

"I am also naturally a gambler."

"Life is such a pitiful thing; everywhere I turn there is nothing—nothing."

I am a genius.—Mary MacLane.

HE is coming back! Mary MacLane is coming back—to Chicago.

After four years of comparative obscurity the girl who has loved 500 times,

"Montana Marie Baskin," the girl cynic and literary blacksheep who set the world by its ears in one short week, is to return to our midst. Everybody knows of the expected visit and everybody is preparing for the onslaught of "poor little Mary's" pessimistic and grilling pen.

Interest in the cynic from Butte, Mont., has waned for the last four years, because the "girl without a conscience" has been spending her time in secluded spots in the east and south producing colorful epigrams and superheated opinions for which she is famous.

But the spark has kindled the dying interest in time.

Mary is coming to Chicago—not with a second book of confessions or a stump speech, not at all. She is coming with a play! That's the spark!

Public Due for a Cynic.

What will Mary's play be like—where is it to be produced, and who are the "noted actors" of whom Mary speaks in a letter to a friend, who are going to produce

FROM THE HEART BOOKS OF MARY MAC LANE.

Some day the Devil will come to me and say, "Come with me."

And I will answer, "Yes."

And he will take me away with him to a place where it is wet and green—where the yellow, yellow sunshine falls on heaven-kissing hills, and misty, cloudy masses float over the valleys.

And for days I shall be happy—happy—happy!

For days! The Devil and I will love each other intensely, perfectly—for days! He will be incarnate, but he will not be a man. He will be a man devil, and his soul will take mine to itself and they will be one—for days!

Imagine me raised out of my misery and my obscurity, dullness, and nothingness into a full, brilliant life of the Devil—for days!

The love of the man devil will enter into my barren, barren life and melt all the cold, hard things, and water the barrenness, and a million little green growing plants will start out of it.

When the sun is setting in the valley and the crests of those heaven-kissing hills are painted violet and purple, and the valley itself is reeking and swimming in yellow-gold light, the man devil—whom I love more than all—and I will go out with it.

My barren, hungry heart will come at last to its own. The red flames of the man devil's love will burn out forever its pitiable, wooden quality, and he will take it and cherish it—and give me his.

My young woman's body likewise will be metamorphosed, and I shall feel it developing and filled with myriads of little contentments and pleasures. Always my young woman's body is a great and important part of me, and when I am married to the Devil its finely organized nerve power and intricate sensibility will be culminated to marvelous completeness. My soul—upon my soul—will descend consciously the light that was never on land or sea.

This will be for days—for days.

I am fortunate that I am not one of those who are burdened with an innate sense of virtue and honor which must come always before happiness. They are but few who find their happiness in their virtue. The rest of them must be content to see it walk away.

But with me virtue and honor are nothing.

I long unspeakably for happiness.

And so I await the Devil's coming

From lisle thread stockings; from round, tight garters; from bright brass belts: Kind Devil, deliver me.

From women and men who dispense odors of musk; from all sweet girls; from "gentlemen": Kind Devil, deliver me.

From a servant girl with bed teeth; from persons who make a regular practice of rubbing oily mixtures into their faces; from the bed that sinks in the middle: Kind Devil, deliver me.

From a nice young man; from tin spoons; from popular songs: Kind Devil, deliver me.

From weddings; from taper-corns; from codfish balls; from lips that wobble as one walks; from a waistline that slopes up in front: Kind Devil, deliver me.

From the kind of people who call legs "limbs"; from unripe bananas; from bathless people; from any masculine thing that wears a pale blue necktie; from agonizing elocutionists who recite "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight" and "Lips That Touch Liquor Shall Never Touch Mine"; from a Salvation Army singing hymns in slang: Kind Devil, deliver me.

From the kind of man who sings "O Promise Me"—who sings it; from people who persist in calling my good young body "mere vile clay"; from soft old bachelors and soft old widowers: Kind Devil, deliver me.

And hurry, Kind Devil, pray—for I am weary.

As she is today.

When She Wrote Her First Book

real stars, and it will surely knock the dear old public a twister."

The few of the artistic amblings of Mary's erratic mind which called forth varied and assorted epithets and compliments are given below, just as Mary wrote them:

"I am a genius."

"I care neither for right nor wrong—my conscience is nil."

"The world contains no parallel to me—I am a genius."

"Life is a pitiful thing."

"My soul walls out its grief in loneliness."

Fame the Star of Longing.

Mary was a cheerful soul. All she wanted was fame. "I wish to acquire that beautiful, benign thing, fame. O, I want it—I want it!" Mary acquired in one week what she had longed for all her life. The week after her "Confessions" came off the press she was known from coast to coast. She became the rage with the appearance of her second book, the famous Anna-bell Lee story. Soon after the sagebrush cynic retired to the quiet atmosphere of Rockland, Mass., and there let her writing abilities have full play. Burning philosophy and torrid comment she indulged in to her content, living on her fame, rather obscurely, it is true. Now, after a few ventures into newspaperdom, she is out after the "beautiful, benign thing" again, and this time it's a play.

When Mary wrote her "Confessions" she was a girl of 19, and yet she shocked the world in one breath. Now Mary has grown into a woman with a wider knowledge of the world. If Mary could shock people when she was a girl what Mary can do now can only be imagined. She is going after fame again with redoubled vigor.

But there is another thing that Mary is now in search of, and that is a husband.

Yes, a husband. Just an everyday sort of husband.

Nothing fancy will do; she wants the kind that is kept in stock. No other need apply. She doesn't want him for love—just to study and analyze as one would a frog. She would like to put him in a book.

Good Angling Along Bachelor Boulevard.

In Mary MacLane going to find that husband in Chicago? Along Bachelor boulevard, overlooking the lake, are the homes of some of our best homegrown bachelors. They like beautiful things; so does Mary MacLane. They do what they please; so does Mary. Any one of them would make a fine, home loving husband if properly handled.

Now the question arises: Will Mary MacLane lass one of our handsome bachelors and tether him to the home post while she writes more naughty things to please the public. She has failed in other cities to find a man who would marry her if she had the chance—perhaps she may succeed here. Chicago is a great town for unmatched men.

And Mary is a rather comely looking person herself. She has pretty brown hair, good, intelligent looking eyes, and a petite figure. She doesn't wear the same styles in clothes as she did when she came from Butte. Her gowns are "creations" that would take any man's eye. Perhaps, after all, she may find her husband here.

Along the lake front there is great consternation. Staid bachelors are wondering if one of their number will fall. There is some doubt as to whether the husband to be will submit tamely to being boiled down to hard, concise terms, analyzed, scrutinized, and hypnotized by a cynic who has "loved six thousand times" and still says "O, I want to be loved—I want to be loved!"

Talk about the thrills and dangers of aviation! What about Mary MacLane—as a wife?

Here's a chance for the matrimony seeking bachelors to try their luck.

Will one of them win? You never can tell.

the play? The message that caused such excitement in the hearts of stage people and club men is printed below just as it was written. In speaking of her dramatic effort the girl who considered Butte "such a dreary place" and thought that open work hose were "hellish" says:

"It is to be a problem affair, played by a company of

BOY SCOUTS MOVEMENT GROWING IN BERKELEY

BERKELEY, Nov. 5.—More than 500 boys are expected to be enrolled as members of the Boy Scouts in this city before the close of the year, judging from the interest that is being taken in the organization at the present time.

To expedite matters and to gain as much uniformity in the organization of the different patrols as may be desirable all scout masters have been requested to register at once at the headquarters of the Boy Scouts in the Wright building. Enrollment cards are now on distribution at the office.

Orders are also being taken for the three classes of scout badges. Tenderfoot, patrol leader and scoutmaster. The orders are only taken in quantity. The uniform is to be here in a short time. It is required that a regulation be signed by a scoutmaster before a scout can obtain one of these suits which will be distributed by Hesseman & Co.

The office hours at the headquarters are from 3 to 5 every afternoon except Saturday and Sunday.

F. F. Bunker Declares Law Is

President of Body Thinks It Is a Bluff Plenty of Flags in Schools.

BERKELEY, Nov. 5.—"Superintendent Bunker's excuse that he is waiting to get handsome flags to place in all the school rooms is not a valid one," James H. Todd, said today. "I am not acquainted with Todd, but he is apparently a trouble-maker. He has been trying to find irregularities elsewhere in school affairs."

Superintendent of City Schools Frank F. Bunker, "I haven't been arrested yet because there are flags in all the school rooms, and don't expect to be," said Roy J. Young, president Board of Education.

Whether Superintendent Bunker regards James H. Todd's threat to have the board of education arrested in a serious light or as a belated Halloween joke, he branded Todd a trouble-maker tonight. A few minutes later Scott declared it was the duty of the school board to comply with the state law requiring the Stars and Stripes to be displayed in all the school rooms, and on the flagstaffs upon the grounds, and said that if this was not done it was incumbent upon the district attorney's office to enforce the law, now that attention has been called to its violation in Berkeley.

"MIGHT DONATE FLAGS."

"Why doesn't Todd try to see the good things in our school work here, instead of hitting upon something ridiculous," declared Superintendent Bunker tonight. "He did not see to it last season why there were a few rooms without flags. If he really and sincerely wants to do some good, he might donate a few flags. The emblem is displayed in the majority of the school rooms, but we have been waiting to obtain larger and handsome flags where they are lacking. The children and mothers clubs have taken upon the task of making or buying flags, and in the time it is expected that all the rooms will be properly provided for. The Daughters of the Revolution recently offered to help out in the undertaking. There is not enough money in the school department's treasury to supply this want. We could put in cheap flags but we don't intend to do so. I am not acquainted with Todd, but he is apparently a trouble-maker. He has been trying to find irregularities elsewhere in school affairs. He had a complaint recently in the matter of the employment of teachers. He should be able to see that we are living up to the spirit of the law, and soon will be observing the letter. One of the things aimed at in the school administration in Berkeley is the cultivation of patriotism."

TODD IS CONFIDENT.

Todd, who is a retired manufacturer and member of the Elks, declared tonight that he believed something would be done about providing flags for the middle class and all the flagstaffs by the middle of next week, when the days of grace which he has given the board of education will expire.

"I do not intend to tear Roy Young or Mrs. Carlisle from their families and their civic duties by swearing out a warrant for their arrest, but I intend to keep at this thing until the law is obeyed. It is up to the district attorney. His office has referred to the cost of buying flags immediately. Twenty-five years have elapsed since this law was placed into the statute books, and now the question of affording money with which to enforce it is just being raised. Superintendent Bunker's excuse that he is willing to get handsome flags in all the school rooms is not a valid one. I think he should try to rustle up some banners for every room. The law was made to be enforced."

BERKELEY CHARITIES ARE ENDORSED BY COMMISSION

BERKELEY, Nov. 5.—At this week's regular meeting of the municipal charity commission endorsement was given the Berkeley dispensary, the Berkeley hospital, the Berkeley and the Children's Home Society of California, and the matter of endorsing the Maud Ballington Booth home in San Francisco was taken under advisement.

It was resolved by the commission that all endorsements granted by it shall be valid for one year only, the organizations receiving such sanction being required to furnish the commission with annual reports from year to year, when renewing their applications.

The Berkeley charity organization society already has the endorsement of the commission, and it was decided that every possible aid would be given by the commission to the civic body in charge of the charity day campaign for the benefit of Berkeley's three charitable institutions, of which the organization just mentioned is one.

'MADONNA IN ART'
LECTURE SUBJECT

Adelphian Club of Alameda Addressed by Ministe at Union Meeting.

ALAMEDA, Nov. 5.—Mrs. A. J. Burger presided as hostess at the union meeting of the Adelphian Club today when the feature of the program was an address by Dr. E. S. Brush on "The Madonna in Art." Dr. Brush said in part:

"My interest in 'The Madonna in Art' is really twofold. First, I feel the history of Italian art is one of the most interesting narratives in the world. The story of the rise and progress of the art movement from Cimabue to the death of Raphael is the most charming, the most extraordinary, the most incredible human narrative. It is interwoven with the whole history of Florence, where a new plastic was a greater event than a victory of the army. The heart and soul of the art growth in Italy was the Madonna."

"The history of England or America is such history as 'A Study in Gray,' 'The White Horse' or 'The Paradise of the Angels.'"

SUPREME ATTEMPT.

"Then the Madonna in art represents the supreme attempt of the creative imagination to picture the ideal woman. Civilization is always the woman. The Teutonic people have identified woman in an entirely different way. It is impossible to return to the medieval ideal; but the modern should include the older view. With all the work of our modern world appealing to us and with all the advance in our life of woman's place and sphere, the eternal feminine must still abide. The Madonna may still teach us all great lessons, perhaps sorely needed in this modern, hard, cold, work-a-day world."

"Among the Raphael Madonnas was one of the Raphael Madonnas now in the National gallery and for which the government paid $375,000 25 years ago. Today it is priceless, it is the best Raphael in Great Britain. The Raphael Madonnas of the masterpieces of Titian and Mantegna and Del Sarto and Correggio, in all there were 24 different artists represented, including a few of the modern painters like Hoffman and Rossetti."

THANKS CHAMBER FOR

ALAMEDA, Nov. 5.—H. Wilkens, president of the chamber of commerce, has received the following self-explanatory telegram from R. J. Taussing, secretary of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition Company:

"I am instructed on behalf of the board of directors of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition Company to convey to you its thanks for the splendid cooperation your committee has given this exposition, and the splendid manner in which you have helped in creating interest in the constitutional amendment for the ten million dollars for the exposition fund has been most gratifying."

The amendment will carry largely through your efforts and the cooperation of the chamber of commerce between California and Louisiana.

"Your continual support is earnestly solicited that the coveted recognition may be secured. Please accept our deepest appreciation."

"R. J. TAUSSING, Secretary."

Improvers of Berkeley Will Demand Apparatus for Their District.

BERKELEY, Nov. 5.—The Loma Improvement Club, composed of property owners in northeast Berkeley, tonight held its first meeting since the refusal of the Board of Education to allow the organization to hold meetings in the Hillside schoolhouse went into effect. The meeting was held at the home of H. H. Camper, 1516 La Roy avenue.

It was expected that action would be taken towards continuing the club's effort to hold meetings in the school building, but the matter was left in the hands of a committee to report at the next meeting.

ASKS FIRE PROTECTION.

The issue of fire protection was uppermost in the discussion tonight. Members are thoroughly aroused over the lack of a fire station nearer than Berryman, which is eight blocks distant, at the foot of a steep hill which the fire horses have difficulty in negotiating while drawing an engine.

It is hoped that a new chemical engine, which the city is to purchase, will be assigned to La Loma park district. A committee is endeavoring to secure fire apparatus and will report later.

SAN FRANCISCO FIRM
LIBELS BRITISH SHIP

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—Upon a libel preferred by the W. P. Fuller Company in the Federal Court today the British steamer Penarth Castle, lying off Meigs wharf, was held by the authorities. The complaint of the Fuller company was that on August 8 the Penarth Castle left Antwerp, Belgium, with 5240 packages of glass consigned to the firm in San Francisco. It is alleged that the glass is now stained and blackened and unfit for use. Damages of $5000 are asked.

An order for the ship's release was filed with the court soon after the complaint. Through the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company $7500 has been posted as security.

The United States marshal leveled an attachment against the tug Walter Hackett on libel instituted by the Keystone Boiler Works for $350 repairs. The Walter Hackett is now lying off the Long wharf on the Oakland side.

CHILDREN INTERESTED IN FOLK LORE TALES

ALAMEDA, Nov. 5.—If the interest in the story telling hour held on Saturday at the Alameda Free Public Library increases it will be difficult to accommodate the children in the men's smoking room, which was crowded with two hundred eager listeners this morning. Mrs. Mary Schaefer Olson addressed the audience on folk lore tales. Mrs. J. A. Crisan, wife of the pastor of the First Unitarian church, will preside over the story telling hour next Saturday. Librarian Marcela Krauth has decided to vary the program weekly in order to give the children the opportunity of hearing different stories.

UNIONISTS' DEFEAT TAKES ENGLAND BY SURPRISE.

Victory of Liberals at Walham's Tow Goes Against Every Prediction.

FICKLE DISTRICT TURNS
AGAIN AND DECISIVELY

Lord Morley's Resignation Is An Event Very Much Unexpected.

(By WILLIAM T. STEAD.)

LONDON, Nov. 5.—In the excitement of the coming elections it is impossible that you should have been so interested in the fortunes of parties in Britain. Nevertheless, a course of elections is in progress without influence over here, it is possible that our vicissitudes may possess some interest for your readers. The one outstanding fact of the week is the decisive defeat of the Liberal candidate at Walham's Tow. This is one of the largest constituencies in England. It is peopled by the overflow of London and has a reputation for fickleness.

HAS SEE-SAWED.

In the preceding five elections it has gone twice Conservative and twice Liberal. The Unionists were confident that as a result of the Budget and Osborne judgment they would either win the seat or at the very worst reduce the Liberal majority by one-half.

Twelve daily newspapers energetically supported the opposition candidates; only five supported the Liberal man. The suffragettes threw their whole influence against the Liberal. Nevertheless when the poll was declared it was found that the Liberal majority had risen from 218 to 276.

RESULT IS DECISIVE.

This, coming on the heels of the Liberal victory at South Shields and Liberal-Labor gains in the municipal elections, is decisive. No one now pretenses to believe, even at the Tory headquarters, that the general election would place the Unionists in power.

The stability of political opinion in the constituency since the last general election is remarkable. By-elections have taken place since last June and in no one single instance has the result of the election reversed the verdict of the constituencies of the general election. In the Liberal majority rose; in six it was somewhat reduced.

REFLECTED IN RANKS.

The mold is reflected in the Tory ranks. The Unionist party organization is not ready for the fight. But you know that if he were to challenge an appeal to the country he would be beaten and a second general election, resulting in a decision against the Liberals, would be the Conservative party would be up. Hence the renewed efforts that are being made to arrive at some semblance of agreement in the constitutional issue that will tide matters over the coronation.

The speeches of T. P. O'Connor, advocating modified home rule, and rather upon internal organization of the Dominion of Canada, than upon the constitution of the United States, are believed to indicate a possible ground between the home rulers and Unionists.

RESIGNATION A SURPRISE.

Lord Morley's resignation has taken the public by surprise. With a man with him a few weeks ago he breathed no whisper of any such intention. He had just appointed Lord Farnham as the new Viceroy of India, and all the talk was about his future elevation to his new position. It is true that Lord Morley is 72 years of age. When he took office five years ago he told me that he did not believe that he could hold on more than a couple of years. He reminded me that he had been five years in office without a suggestion that he did not feel like to remain another five.

It is true that a keen observer had remarked that his frail earthly tenement was only held together by a dominating will, but he seemed frailer twelve months ago than he does today. That his resignation is not prompted by any difference of opinion with his colleagues is proved by the fact that he remains a member of the cabinet.

DASHED OFF CAR; IS FATALLY HURT

San Francisco Reporter Sustains Fractured Skull in Accident.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—Victor Reed, a reporter connected with a local morning paper, was fatally injured at 5 o'clock tonight at Hillcrest in San Mateo county, when his car was hurled from a high embankment. Reed had been sent out to obtain information in the neighborhood of Colma, and, from reports received, it is believed that he jumped from the moving car at Hillcrest. He lost his balance and fell, striking on his head. He was taken to the Mission hospital being noticed, the ambulance was in waiting. A careful examination disclosed the fact that Reed's skull had probably been fractured. He is 22 years of age and has a wife and child living at Hillcrest.

WOMAN INSANE IS CHARGE
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—Hannah Welch, who shot Deputy Sheriff Jack Barr when he attempted to enter her house with an attachment, was tried on a charge of insanity by a jury in Judge Dunne's court on November 5th. If the jury next week fails to find her incompetent she will be tried for assault with a deadly weapon.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA TEAM PLAYS TWO GAMES OF RUGBY FOOTBALL

MANY RICH STAKES ARE TO BE DECIDED AT EMERYVILLE

Meet of California Jockey Club Promises to Be Classy One.

A week hence—shorter than that—and the bangtails will sport their silks in the inaugural race at Emeryville for the season of 1931 and 1932. That the coming meet will be a highly successful one is evident from the number of horses that are quartered at the track and from the number of applications that have been filed for stable room.

Secretary Percy Treat of the New California Jockey Club is receiving each day big batches of entries, many of them being for the various stakes and so far there are more than 600 nominations for the many events scheduled to take place during the coming meet. Several well-known owners are represented in the latest additions to the list among them being R. J. McKenzie, Barney S. Breiber and Henderson and Hogan all of whom are liberal nominators.

Earl Linnell is to bring no less than fourteen speed burners from the east, six of these being yearlings.

Trainer W. Schrieber has entered the several horses he is handling for W. C. Weaver & Co. on the Kentucky circuit among them being Joe Money, Southern Gold and Mankie. He has four others that will come from Lintonia just as soon as that meet is closed.

Secretary Treat has a letter from Barry Schrieber in which he asks that he would leave St. Louis in time to be on the ground by November 20, and the further stations that he would need every stall he reserved before he left for the east at the close of last year's season.

Dave Henry has work at Woodland fitting Schrieber entries for the coming meet and there are several races to come from the farm at Missouri.

Theodore Abadie who is now at Lintonia writes that he will bring a handie of Ben Brown and Yalapa.

E. Geely who is training his stable has nominated Schoolmarm for several of the stake events.

C. A. Cassidy agent for Herdman & Hogan notified the jockey club officials that two carloads of horses owned by the firm were scheduled to leave Louisville Thursday.

GUS HETTING BECOMES MEMBER OF OAKLAND BASEBALL TEAM

Here is a funny one in baseball Friday evening while the managers of the Coast League were discussing baseball in general prior to the meeting, Judge McCredie and Ed Walter were talking about the merits of several players.

The Oakland president was of the opinion that Hetting was a mighty handy man to have on a team, recalling perhaps his brilliant performance in the last Oakland Beaver series, at Fordland.

"He is a first-class player, I'll admit," exclaimed the Judge, "but I have no use for him now."

"You don't mean to say you want to get rid of him do you?" exclaimed the Oakland manager.

"Sure I do," came back the Portland boss. "Do you want him? If you do, why I'll waive all claims to him right now."

"Done," said Walter, and now Gus Hetting, the man that stirred up the worst row in the Coast League ever had is to be a member of the Oakland baseball team in 1931.

PROMOTING OF BOXING NOT A FINANCIAL BONANZA

Fight for Boxing Permits This Year of San Francisco Will Be Tame.

(By EDDIE SMITH.)

From the present indications the coming winter is to be as busy a one in the boxing world as that of the last few years.

Jimmy Conforth will handle the professional show in San Francisco this month and in December Louis Blot will round out the year with the Nelson-Wolcott affair.

Then will come the porting out of the permits for the coming year. Once again the boxing game in San Francisco will be thrown to the mercy of the holder of political position to be handed out as a bribe.

It does not promise a very lively struggle between promoters this year however as the sport does not promise the profit of the olden days.

Jimmy Conforth and Jim Griffin are almost sure to land their portion of the permits next year and it will have a very good chance to again break into the game.

The experience in promoting boxing has been an expensive one to Blot for he is not one cent less than $5000 when he comes out of the game.

Griffin has made a little money and this is so of Conforth. On the whole however the promoting of boxing has not been a wealth producer during the past year and the man who is willing to allow his neighbor to do the promoting of the bouts will be enjoying them from a good seat at the ringside.

After having made a test of the manner in which the shows of the Oakland promoter are conducted the protestants have withdrawn their protest against the staging of the bouts at the Piedmont Pavilion and the popular organization will continue with the report as of old.

This change in attitude has been brought about through the Wiselmen sending out invitations to many people to visit their shows who had never seen a boxing contest.

The manner in which the shows are conducted and the class of the contests for the most part has convinced the protestants that a wrong had been done, and in a spirit of fairness that is commendable the protestants have withdrawn their petition of protest.

It has been reported that Lew Powell will come to the coast with Charlie Harvix and Owen Moran. Lew did not make the expected trip to San Francisco.

Harvix has been boosted by the San Franciscoites to the skies and did all he could to make him a great card but the first showing Lew made with Johnnie Mario did not create a sensation among the coast fans.

Harvix's manager felt that he can do better on the coast. Powell was very nervous in his first start so far from home and would not doubt to better his performance.

The boxing fan of the big village is something after the style of the foreigner however. The performer has to make an instantaneous hit or he will not do.

Victor Hansen the Columbia middleweight again displayed his ability with the gloves by defeating Jack Correll in twelve rounds at Macleod.

While Correll is not anything but a boxer he has a few years ago will be a shiny fellow and anything but an easy man to put out.

Hansen has been working to the front with rapid strides of late and he should make a great card for the men of the coast who are in a contest before one of the clubs about the bay.

Gumbert Smith is still at Chalmers and will probably be matched to meet the coast. The match will be made to meet the coast.

Gumbert's written up that he would like to come to Oakland for another try at the game and if a man can be found who is willing to take a chance on him he will be a great card for the coast.

The great one is in much better condition than he was when last seen here and would do a lot better in a battle with any of the new line of heavyweights who have been developed here since he was active in the ring.

A movement has begun at Salinas, Kansas for a state wide fight against Sunday baseball in the state.

How I Cure Men

DR. PALMER The Master Specialist

ONE MAN out of every four has Weakness and is not as strong, virile and aggressive as he should be.

This is a fact established by medical statistics.

Are you reader that Fourth Man? If so this is written for your special benefit to prove to you that there is a safe sure way out of your trouble.

Why do I cure Weakness always? Because I have studied this condition more closely and to better purpose than any living man.

And my equipment and facilities for treatment are the most complete to modern and thorough that have been devised.

Over 5000 men—brokers, lawyers, bankers, stockmen, mining and railroad officials, business and professional men of all kinds—have been successfully treated by my New Method.

A record of practical results a full of encouragement for the Fourth Man who is earnestly seeking a cure.

Many since a well meaning physician fails to cure Weakness.

And why? Because they make the mistake of regarding it as a general constitutional decline involving the whole system.

They do not know that it is a derangement of the special glands and nerve centers causing reflex symptoms with a capacity for harm without limit.

That discovery was mine.

I was the first to discover—that a damaged prostate gland congested with blood and the whole pelvic system is at fault.

And this imperative vitality in our part quickly restores the other functions—so that the feeling of weakness is general but the cause is purely local.

I cure permanently and for all the "Weakness" Varicocele, Hydrocele, Stricture, Kidney Bladder and Prostate, Specific Blood Poison and all other ailments.

Hernia cured without operation.

Talks on Teeth

—BY—
Rex Dental Co.
(Incorporated)

Good Teeth and Good Looks

How frequently you hear such expressions as "She never ought to laugh," "Her teeth spoil her beauty," "What a pity she hasn't good teeth," etc., etc.

As we have often said before in these brief announcements, good teeth and good looks go hand in hand. There was an excuse for poor teeth before the discovery of the ALVEOLAR METHOD of supplying missing teeth without the aid of partial plates or so-called bridge work. There was nothing better offered when teeth were loose, diseased, decayed or missing, but to fill up the hole with a row of what were rightfully termed "false teeth." They deceive nobody — they were as false in looks as in name.

You can imagine the sensation that was created when the ALVEOLAR METHOD was first brought to the attention of the American people. We promised that we could duplicate natural teeth so closely that it would be impossible to distinguish the artificial from the natural. People were incredulous—we had a vast amount of skepticism to overcome in the beginning, but now we can refer to so many people who are wearing these beautiful teeth and enjoying them—for they are not alone good to look at, but are good to use—that there is hardly a community on the Pacific Coast but what we can refer to one or more patients of ours who are wearing these teeth. This method is practically painless. There is no surgery, boring or cutting into the gums connected with it; there is nothing about it in any way that you need dread. If you have two or more teeth left in either jaw and are wearing a partial plate or a tortuous bridge we want you to do one of two things—either come to one of our offices and have a free examination made of your teeth, a service which we perform absolutely free and without obligating you in any way, or if you are not near enough to call in person write for our booklet entitled "ALVEOLAR DENTISTRY," which we send free on request. If you will read this book carefully we believe it will awaken a desire on your part to come to our offices and have this work done, no matter how great the sacrifice of time or money. The work is not expensive and does not entail much of a sacrifice of time to complete.

ALVEOLAR TEETH and good looks go hand in hand, and good health follows as a matter of course.

We shall hope that this short talk will be the means of causing you to either call or write today for further particulars regarding this, the most remarkable achievement of dental science of modern times.

BERKELEY ELEVEN AND BUSHROD IN TIE AT TOP

College Town Team Defeats Winged S; Mosswood Eagles Blanked.

The Berkeley team of the Senior Football League defeated the Winged S by the score of 17 to 0 yesterday afternoon on the Bushrod grounds. Although outweighed by their opponents, the Berkeley team broke through the Winged S line time after time. The features of the first half were a long run down the field by Bond and a goal kick by Morin. The score at the end of the first half was 17 to 0 in favor of Berkeley.

In the second half, by hard playing, Berkeley increased its lead. Morin made another field goal and S. Patten, after a spectacular run down the field, made a touchdown, which was later converted. Another touchdown, which was also converted, was made by Berkeley. The names lined up as follows: Berkeley—E. Paden, L. E. Grady, L. T. Holbard, L. G. Morin, R. K. Paden, G. Mitchell, R. T. Bond, R. E. Webb, R. Shuman, R. H. Taylor, R. E. Monte.

Winged S—Van Morick, R. E. Strick, C. G. Desplasse, L. E. Hagan, E. J. Johnson, H. J. Parnell, B. Wilson, Q. Moody, F. B. Allinger, R. H. McNulty, L. H. Parker, L. G.

BUSHROD BLANKS MOSSWOODS.

Immediately after this game the Bushrod and Mosswood Eagles, of the same league, clashed. Bushrod, supposed to be the strongest team in the league, averaged twelve pounds more to a man than the Mosswoods. Mosswood played a magnificent game throughout, but in the first half made a long run down the field, but was downed on the twenty-five-yard line by Mosswood. In the second half, however, by fumbling the ball failed to convert. Anderson played well at fullback for Bushrod, but Bushrod had many chances to score on account of fumbling.

Greenman of the Mosswood team made a beautiful tackle and prevented a touchdown just before the whistle blew. The score at the end of the first half was 17 to 0 in favor of Bushrod.

SECOND HALF BEGINS.

At the beginning of the second half the game seemed, with neither team appearing to gain any advantage. But in the middle of the half the forward pass was successfully used and De Soto scored another touchdown. Again, however, Bushrod failed to convert. McMahon, by the aid of a fabled kick, made a spectacular run. Carey, however, downed him on the thirty-five-yard line. With just two minutes to play, Anderson successfully dodged Carey and scored the last touchdown. Again Bushrod failed to convert, and the game was over. McMahon, De Soto, Anderson and McMahon starred for Bushrod, while Greenman, Carey, Greenman and Hunt played good for Mosswood. The final score was 25 to 0 in favor of Bushrod, and left Berkeley and Bushrod the third leaders of the league.

Fremont Loses to Berkeley High 6-3

Following the refusal of Oakland High school to contest with Fremont High at Tugby yesterday afternoon, the latter team played a game with Berkeley High, and put up such a showing that they will probably be recognized in the future in spite of the fact that they have only been at the new game for three weeks. The score was 6 to 3 in favor of Berkeley. The contest took place at the Grove street hall grounds.

Captain Hunt and "Mickey" Ford played an exceptionally clever game for Berkeley and Captain Cohen, Head Coach and Captain Cohen, Head Coach and Captain Cohen, Head Coach were the stars of the Fremont team.

The showing of Fremont against the veteran team of Berkeley High, made yesterday, was considered far superior to the Berkeley-Oakland contest recently held and that the Fremont team is rapidly rounding into form was evinced by their playing.

BOY SCOUTS GO ON HIKE TO DIAMOND CANYON

Three West Oakland Companies Spend Day on Excursion Into Hills.

With haversacks filled with hard tack and other regulation fare, 15 members of the American Boy Scouts from the Stag, Eagle and Goat companies of West Oakland in charge of Rev. A. Cass, scout master and under command of Captain Lloyd Case of the Stags, left Oakland at 1:30 yesterday morning for a tramp into the hills beyond Diamond canyon, where they spent several hours, returning late in the afternoon.

Every Saturday such an excursion is taken by all the boys who are able to go, the long tramp testing their endurance and placing them in a condition which enables them to attempt greater distances each time.

Strict military routine was observed while on march, although frequent stops were made, at which time the scouts were permitted to follow their own inclinations.

BOOSTER FOR FAIR THROUGHOUT EAST

Democratic Candidate for Congress Evokes Cheers by Stating Policies.

BERKELEY, Nov. 5.—A report as to the sort of literature which New Orleans is sending broadcast in the east in its campaign for the 1915 Panama-Pacific Exposition is brought to Berkeley by Francis Perrier, former mayor, who has just returned from a three-week business trip to Chicago, Detroit and Toronto.

The circulars sent out by the Crescent City, says Perrier, call attention to the relative proximity of the cities of San Francisco and New Orleans to the eastern centers of population, evolving an argument for the Louisiana metropolis on the strength of its nearness for eastern visitors and of the smaller cost of transportation.

FAVOR SAN FRANCISCO.

Quantities of this literature was found on the train upon which Perrier traveled, but its effect, as far as he learned, was entirely favorable to New Orleans. Everywhere he went, the former Berkeley executive found boosters for San Francisco as the logical fair site. He talked long and often for the Golden Gate city, drawing that many exposition visitors would desire to travel through the canal upon its completion, and the trip to San Francisco would give them this opportunity.

CHILD WINS PRIZE FOR COMPOSING BEST POEM

"The Children's Dream" Written by Ruth Dunning, Takes Honors in Contest.

Ruth Dunning, one of the brightest students in the Manual Training and Commercial High School, has been awarded a prize for writing the cleverest poem entered for The Scrib. contest.

Here is the prize poem:

"THE CHILDREN'S DREAM."

In the evening, fairy figures
Over the sleeping children were;
They turn of fragrant perfume
With cool dew their face lave.
Mistily, sweetly o'er them shading
Dreams of rivulets and flowers,
Meadows bright, with nooks for hiding,
And soft, mossy, grassy bowers.
Billy Possums race round, ready
With the Teddies at their backs,
Hobby-horses, drums and lollies,
Candies, sweetmeats pile in stacks.
Firecrackers, burning rockets,
Grinning pumpkins, acorns and bland,
Eyes that gleam in burning sockets,
Serve as guide lights o'er the land.
There in fancy romp the children
In this magic land of bliss,
Where the songbirds sing glad music,
And there's joy and happiness.

AVIATORS ANXIOUS TO COMPETE FOR HEARST PRIZE

John B. Moissant to Try for Glory of Ocean to Ocean Flight.

TRIP IS FEASIBLE, SAYS HUBERT LATHAM

Cables to France for More Durable Monoplane for Intended Attempt.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—One of the principal topics of discussion among the world-famed aviators recently assembled at the international aviation meet at Belmont Park was the $50,000 prize offered by W. R. Hearst for the first aeroplane flight from coast to coast. It was unanimously agreed that the flight would be made within the time limit of one year and that the offer of a prize will have a far-reaching effect upon the development of the aeroplane as a vehicle for practical purposes.

SCOFFS AT MAPS.

John B. Moissant, who flew from Paris to London and won the Statue of Liberty flight, typifies an absolutely new school of flyers. Though he is a novice, having owned his biplane only since last July, he is noted the world over as one of the most expert cross-country fliers alive. Instead of depending upon maps or upon his familiarity with the topography of the country, he uses a compass.

"If I should tackle the flight from ocean to ocean, you may depend upon it that I will fly as straight as my goal as I can get there," said Moissant. "I don't believe in avoiding obstacles. I intend by soaring high enough to always glide clear of the dangerous spots one is flying over. For this reason I held my machine at a high altitude while flying from Paris to London, as well as while sailing around the Statue of Liberty."

WILL TRY FOR PRIZE.

"I am planning to fly for the Hearst prize, because I think that the coast to coast flight is the greatest honor an aviator can achieve in the near future. It offers not only a rich money prize, but great glory for the man who does it. I have not the slightest doubt that the man who wins the prize put up by Mr. Hearst will be immortal in the history of aviation."

"I am tempted to pay the duty on my machine and remain in America for awhile and try for the prize offered by Mr. Hearst," said Hubert Latham. Latham's exploits with the Antoinette monoplane made some of the most interesting history of the early days of aviation. He is among the few pioneers still alive.

"I heard about Mr. Hearst's offer before I came to America," continued Latham. "I was very much interested in it because I had met Mr. Hearst in Paris. From what I had learned of his personality I was rather anxious to know that his offer would be unique."

CABLES FOR MACHINE.

"Now that I know better I will confess, in confidence, that I thought this prize was for one of these things that can't be done. But since I have been in America I have made inquiries and I find it's wholly feasible. For this reason I am cabling to France to find out if the Antoinette people cannot make me a monoplane with greater stability and built on more durable lines. If I can get a craft I will assuredly make an effort to be the first man to fly across the American continent."

No Relief From the "Regular" Physicians

Oakland, Cal., August 6, 1910.

To the Public: I wish to certify that I have been cured by Dr. T. Foo Yuen of chronic stomach trouble, so that others suffering from the same cause may be enlightened and go to him for treatment.

About five years ago, while living in San Francisco, I began to have attacks of indigestion, which gradually increased until I had to call in a physician, and when there I was treated by two American physicians of good repute, but obtained no relief, the attacks becoming more frequent and more severe. One day in my stomach at that time became almost unbearable.

Since moving to Oakland, I have treated with six well-known physicians who exhausted their skill with no good results. I suffered much intense pain that I cried in agony and wished to die. The doctors said nothing could be done for me except to give me morphine to ease the pain. But my friends would not have it so. Last September they hurried me to see Dr. Foo, who had a short time before located at 1212 Broadway, Oakland. After he had examined my pulse he said I had serious stomach trouble. I began to have his herbal treatment at once, and after taking it for two months I noticed a decided improvement, seldom having any pain, and I was able to eat and sleep. After the expiration of six months Dr. Foo discharged me as cured. I have since had no return of the trouble, and I feel the cure will be permanent. My weight taken in 1906 was 255 pounds, which had been reduced to 114 pounds when I went to consult Dr. Foo. I now weigh 145, and think in a short time I will be up to my normal condition in every respect.

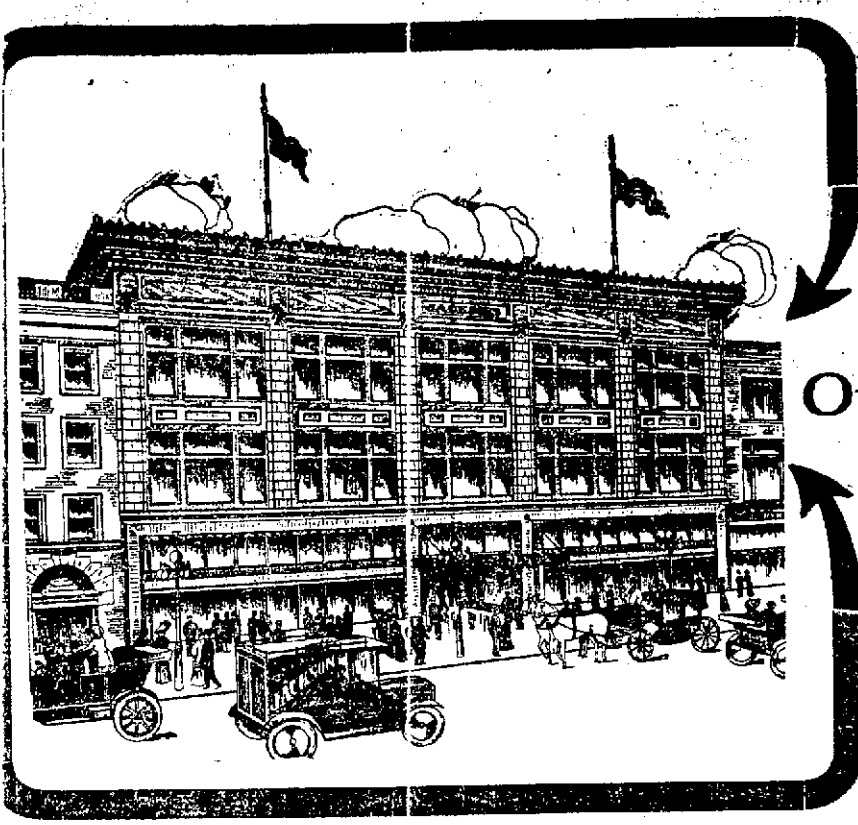

I found Dr. Foo a kind and courteous gentleman, and made advice that was suffering to avail themselves of his wonderful skill, which far surpasses that of any physician that I have ever consulted.

Better I owe my life to Dr. Foo Yuen, and my gratitude is unbounded.

PAYONET TO AGAIN BE USED IN ARMY

Orders Received at Presidio to Resurrect Weapons Almost Obsolete.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—After being considered almost obsolete weapons for the past ten years, the Payonets of the infantryman has been taken into favor again and in the future the United States soldiers will practice diligently with both auxiliary weapons.

A general order from the War Department received at the Presidio yesterday provides that instructions in Payonets manual shall be given the infantrymen and instructions in saber manual to the mounted troops.

The Payonets are small folding bayonets, modeled after the one in use of the British army, which is used by the British army, will be issued and will have the end protected by a leather ball to prevent injury.

The War Department has issued orders that mounted officers must pass an actual service trial of rough riding similar to the one made by Colonel Roosevelt when President.

LIBERTY SECURED BY COPIOUS TEARS

Weeping Barber's Tale of Woe Reaches Heart of Judge.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—Who was it wrote about "tears, idle tears?" Perhaps there was something unusual about the tears Joseph Monaco shed, perhaps it was only the quantity of tears he shed before Police Judge Shortall this morning when he was charged with stealing 21 towels. At any rate they were not idle tears, for they gained him his liberty.

Then it was that a glad smile broke on Monaco's face and the tears stopped falling. He even assisted the court bailiffs to mop up the flood of tears on the floor with the 21 towels he had been charged with stealing.

Monaco is a barber. He was accused of stealing the towels from the William S. Moore Towel Supply company and giving them away. When the case was called for trial Monaco broke down and wept.

TEARS REACH JUDGE.

"My wife and baby are in Chicago," he cried. "I had planned to have them with me for Christmas. It breaks my heart."

Judge Shortall's heart also was touched. He dismissed the case.

A yuletide story also brought about the release of Tessie Gorman, charged with being drunk in a public place. Tessie Gorman bore the record for arrests during October. She was arrested eight times. During the four days she spent in the city prison the last time she had so changed in appearance that the court did not know her until she had told who she was.

"It is a great improvement that I have made, your honor," she said. "You see, I am getting ready for Christmas, and I want to look good." This case also was dismissed.

'ENEMY'S' COUNTRY WILL BE INVADED

San Franciscans to Carry Expedition Campaign Before Trans-Mississippi Congress

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—Prepared to make a hard fight for the Panama-Pacific fair for San Francisco, strong delegations of local business men will leave here November 17 for San Antonio, Texas, to ask the support of the delegates of the Trans-Mississippi Congress, which holds its annual convention there from November 22 to 25.

Colonel Harvey D. Loveland will head the delegation, but as a representative of the Panama-Pacific committee and as special delegate of the California Development Board of the Chamber of Commerce. Plans for the sending of the delegation were made by Colonel Loveland and A. W. Scott, the publicity committee of the Panama-Pacific committee. Among the delegates will be William R. Wheeler, Frank H. Gould, C. M. Wooster, A. J. Delamar, T. Cary Friedman, Gus Branner and H. A. Jast of Oakland.

"We are going to San Antonio ready for a hard fight," said Colonel Loveland today. "We have already written the publicity committee of the Trans-Mississippi states to learn who are the delegates to the congress, and then we will plan our campaign when the information comes. I have no doubt that we will win and the influence of the Trans-Mississippi Congress in favor of San Francisco will mean a good deal. We ought to have the support of all the Trans-Mississippi states, and if we succeed in enlisting the delegates in our behalf, a great deal will be done toward securing the fair for San Francisco."

Colonel Loveland is a past president of the Trans-Mississippi Congress and is well acquainted with the leaders of the organization.

RECENT SALES OF OAKLAND REALTY

Outside buyers continue to show confidence in the value of Oakland realty and appreciation of the residence sections of the city as a place to live. Charles Taylor of Taylor Brothers reports that there is a steady inquiry for suburban property here from out of town investors, both for the purpose of homes and as an investment. In this connection the firm has made many sales in Peninsula Heights overlooking Lake Merritt. Here it has been the custom of the firm to build the homes and sell the entire property.

Some of the recent sales of undeveloped property made by Taylor Brothers are as follows: to Judge E. M. Gibson, 59 foot lot in Sixth street near Telegraph; to James W. Horne, 100 foot frontage on Sixty-third street near Telegraph; to George P. Wilson, 40 foot lot on Stow avenue; to John W. Greenlaw, 40 foot lot on Stow avenue; to Joseph T. Hinch, 160 foot frontage on Wesley avenue, and to Robert W. Woodburn 45 foot lot on Wesley avenue.

The following sales are reported by George W. Austin:

Vacant lot east side Linden street south of Twenty-fourth street, 50x125 feet to H. C. Edwards for Mrs. Mattie A. Braden.

Two-story 8-room house on Bruce street to J. H. Floyd for Mrs. Kelly of San Francisco.

FINISHING ROCK RIDGE ROADWAYS

All of the Macadam Pavements Being Oiled; Work to Be Completed Soon.

Speaking of the extensive improvements going in in the Rock Ridge properties, Fred E. Reed, subdivision manager of the Layman Real Estate Co., said:

"Two weeks from now the oil macadam pavements in Rock Ridge will be completed and the whole property will be open to the public. The roads in the park have been closed for a few weeks because of the street work, but this is now about finished and soon Rock Ridge will be one of the most popular drives in the bay region. The oil is now being laid and the big steam roller is steaming up and down the winding streets, while large forces of men are aiding in laying the final touches in the splendid improvements in the park. When all the roads are paved there will be four miles of streets and eight miles of frontages in the Rock Ridge properties."

Both Rock Ridge Park and Rock Ridge Place have sold very rapidly, and the Layman Real Estate company expects the same quick sale for Rock Ridge Terrace, the new property which is to be opened in a few weeks. The Terrace is in the hills just back of Rock Ridge Park and is particularly suitable for villa sites. Frontages will be no less than 100 feet, and the building restriction on the different homes will range from $3500 to $14,000. Some reservations are already being made in this property though it will not be formally opened until the street work in Rock Ridge Park is finished and the Terrace is brought near to the Broadway entrance.

RUSHING WORK ON REALTY BUILDING

Syndicate 8-Story Addition is Now Mounting Rapidly in the Air.

The steel framework of the eight-story addition to the Realty Syndicate building is going up with a rush, the iron workers having this week got fairly started on the job. The contractors are under a time limit with a penalty attached to every day it overruns and a premium for every day saved. It is expected that the building will be ready for occupancy by June 1, 1911. While the work of construction is in progress, the Syndicate land that is a possible temporary decrease in its realty business, because of the ill-considered of travel in the opposite side of the street to avoid the scaffolding cluttering the sidewalk in front of its office. To overcome these conditions Nat. M. Crossley, the manager of the Realty Syndicate, says:

"We do not propose to allow our business to decrease on account of building operations, and following the example of any good merchant, we are offering special inducements to overcome the ill-luck of experiencing a decrease in business, and in fact will undoubtedly enjoy a very rapid increase on account of the prices we are quoting. This property is among the closest moderate priced residential property in Oakland. It is located between Broadway and Telegraph, and not far from the Fifty-fifth street Key Route, consequently residents can easily reach San Francisco or any part of Oakland, Berkeley or Alameda. It is the only property of the kind left in Oakland, and when these few lots are sold out, it will be impossible to obtain anything as desirable at these prices."

The Syndicate has several hundred miscellaneous lots scattered all over Alameda county, which they propose to close up before completion of the Syndicate building.

Prosperity of Oakland and Its Environs Is Now Permanently Established

PHYSICAL EVIDENCES OF GROWTH OF OAKLAND AND ITS MATERIAL PROGRESS

Millions Being Spent in New Buildings, the Construction of Street Railways and Public Works

The records of the Board of Public Works for the month of October show that permits were issued for building improvements in Oakland involving an expenditure of nearly $80,000. From now on we may look for increased activity in building in this city. Within the next two or three months Oakland will witness the starting of many new buildings involving the expenditure of a sum of money running well into the millions. These will be followed in quick succession by other structures of a like character and providing for the expenditure of other millions.

History of the Growth of Cities

The history of all Pacific Coast cities shows that once they pass the 100,000 mark in population they continue to grow at an increased ratio. Oakland is far away ahead of the 200,000 population mark, whether the United States census of 1910 shows it or not, and it is proving the truth of the theory regarding the future progress of a municipality after passing the 100,000 mark.

Wherever a visitor wanders in Oakland today he is confronted with the evidences of growth in the great variety of costly improvements which are under way in all sections. These improvements are not confined to the erection of new buildings, but to costly enlargements in the rapid transit facilities provided by the electric railway systems gridironing the city and reaching out far into the suburb and neighboring cities lying to the north and south of it. All over Oakland today are to be seen large gangs of railway workers remodeling old tracks and building new extensions, invading new territory to accommodate new tracts that have been subdivided and which are being rapidly covered with new homes, many of them of the more costly character.

Busy Scene in the Business District

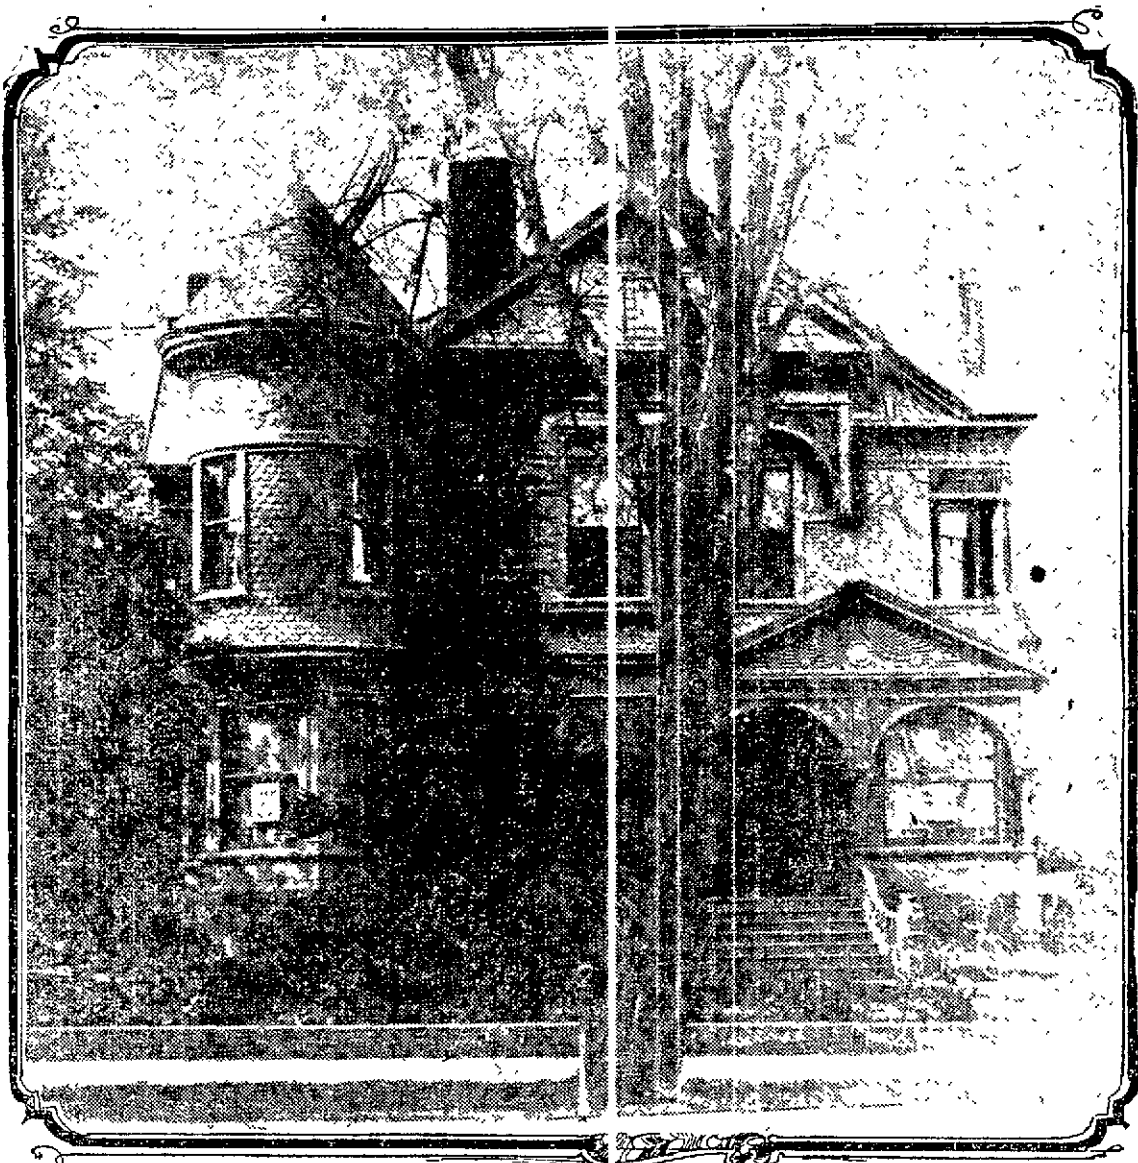

For several weeks past the principal thoroughfares in the main business district of Oakland have been the scene of the greatest activity in railroad construction. Remodeling approximately one mile of double railway track, embracing many switches and cross-town line crossings, on the busiest thoroughfare of the city has been a strenuous undertaking. Hundreds of laborers, tracklayers and skilled mechanics have been employed on the work and it has been carried out with such skill and expedition as to give the minimum obstruction to traffic and the least amount of inconvenience to the public. So systematically has this gigantic undertaking been carried out that the tracks are in operation and cars moving on schedule time while the work of re-construction is still incomplete.

New Street Railway Being Built

During the past week, also, the Peninsula Electric Railway Company, a subsidiary of the Southern Pacific Company, has begun in earnest to construct the long-planned extension of the Webster-street line along Franklin street to Twentieth and then across the city westward to the Sixteenth-street station near the western water front, preparatory to the conversion of the present steam railway from the ferry landing at the western end of the Alameda mole into a line operated wholly by electric power. The work of preparing the new roadbed and the delivery of the structural material on the ground is now in progress. Thus the same scene of extraordinary activity in railway construction that has been in evidence for many weeks past on Broadway is now being repeated on other thoroughfares intersecting the central business district.

And while these activities in street railroading are in progress, the initial operations associated with the construction of a half mile of solid concrete masonry for the municipal wharves in the southern water front are fairly under way. A few weeks hence the big undertaking will assume substantial form. This improvement and the construction of the Livingstone-street wharf at the eastern end of Brooklyn basin point plainly to the growth of commerce which follows in the wake of an increasing population.

STRUCTURAL STEEL FRAME OF THE OAKLAND BANKERS' HOTEL IS NEARLY FINISHED

Only One Story and the Towers Remain to Erect; New Contracts Awarded; Stockholders Pay Subscriptions Promptly

The structural steel frame work of the big Oakland (Bankers') Hotel has reached the seventh floor. Only one more story and the two towers remain to be erected. The erection of these is temporarily suspended owing to the delay in the delivery of steel on the premises, the Mulliken Bros. of Long Island, N. Y., the manufacturers who have the contract for supplying the metal, having fallen behind somewhat.

Steel Frame Work Nearing Completion

The last consignment of structural steel was shipped from New York on September 23 and is now on board ship at San Francisco. It will presumably be delivered early in the coming week, when the steel workers will resume operations. It is believed that the last shipment for the building is now on the way, also.

The two towers will stand eleven stories above the ground floor, thus rising four stories above the roof of the building. The four big derricks which have been used in erecting the massive steel frame are now standing on the seventh floor of the building. They are to remain in that position until the construction of the frame work is finished, so that when they are again dismantled it will be for final removal from the premises.

Telephone Service Contract Let

At a meeting of the board of directors of the hotel company held during the week a contract was awarded to the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company at a rental of 25 cents per phone per month. The telephone company puts in a switchboard and all trunk lines throughout the building at its own expense. The switchboard alone will cost about $1700. Guests will be charged five cents per call for the use of the phones. The hotel company is to receive 50 per cent of the phone revenues and the same percentage of the revenue from telephone booths which will be erected on the ground floor.

Street Paving Contract Awarded

At the same meeting a contract was awarded for the paving of the four streets on which the hotel fronts to the Ransome-Crummey Co., which firm was the lowest bidder, and the secretary of the hotel company was authorized to direct the paving contractors to do the work whenever in his judgment it is necessary to proceed with it. This contract also provides for the grading of Fourteenth street from Harrison to Allee street, the building of the big hotel having made it necessary to open that street. The board of public works has, also, secured the opening of Fourteenth street through the Boardman (formerly the Mrs. Charles Webb Howard) place from Allee to Jackson street and when the legal steps are taken that block will also be paved, curbed and sidewalked.

Fourteenth street will then be open to traffic clear through to the Twelfth street dam, as the easterly end of it sweeps in a graceful curve southward through the Lakeside park land north of the new electricity building.

Stockholders Paying Up Promptly

Secretary Edoff of the Oakland Hotel company says the payments on subscriptions to stock are coming in very satisfactorily. Comparatively little of the eighth call was allowed to become delinquent on November 1, and every day payments are being made by those who allowed themselves to become delinquent. In many instances stockholders covered their stock payments three or four weeks ahead of time. The prompt manner in which stockholders have responded to the later call is interpreted as a mark of their faith and confidence in the success of the enterprise. Many of the first to pay the last call made were subscribers who had previous to the seventh and eighth calls been slow in paying up and difficulty had been experienced in some cases in the collection of the installments. The last two calls have met with voluntary responses in every instance—a condition which makes the hotel directors feel very pleasant. The money market has grown much easier during the past summer and the prompt payment of the subscriptions to the hotel stock is one of the strongest and most gratifying evidences of it.

NEW BOULEVARD TO PIEDMONT

Wickham Havens Company to Join Mandana Boulevard With Crockett Tract.

The opening of the East Piedmont Heights Extension tract of the Wickham Havens Company has begun in earnest to construct the long-planned extension of the Webster-street line along Franklin street to Twentieth and then across the city westward to the Sixteenth-street station near the western water front, preparatory to the conversion of the present steam railway from the ferry landing at the western end of the Alameda mole into a line operated wholly by electric power. The work of preparing the new roadbed and the delivery of the structural material on the ground is now in progress. Thus the same scene of extraordinary activity in railway construction that has been in evidence for many weeks past on Broadway is now being repeated on other thoroughfares intersecting the central business district.

NEW APARTMENT HOUSE ON EIGHTH

Sather Estate to Erect a Seven Three-Room Apartment House On Market.

L. L. Salesbury, agent for the Sather estate, reports that his clients are about to erect a $15,000 building at the southwest corner of Eighth and Market streets. When finished it will contain five large stories on the ground floor with seven three-room and bath apartments on the second floor, all modern in every respect. The water service is to come from the Sather estate's own plant located on the premises. A delirium of the early Spanish has been used for the exterior and will be executed in plaster and tile. A contract has been awarded for the construction of the building and the designs are by Architect R. W. Blake of this city.

By way of the road described almost a mile in. The road through Sather Park is the very direct. The direct route will be a convenience greatly appreciated and cannot help but add to the value of the lots in the East Piedmont Heights Extension.

KNIGHTS ACQUIRE BRIGHAM HOME

Oakland Council, K. of C., Purchase Handsome Property at Oak and 10th Streets.

The Frank E. Brigham property at the southwest corner of Oak and Tenth streets, has passed into the ownership of Oakland Council of the Knights of Columbus. The deal was closed by the adoption of a resolution at a meeting of the council held Friday night deciding to take over the property, on which an option had been given to the council a short time ago. The closing of the deal was delayed until last night because Mr. Brigham had given out two other options which had to be released to clear the way for the knights to secure the property without any incumbrance.

The property comprises one-quarter of a block, the grounds having a frontage of 100 feet on Oak street and 135 feet on Tenth street, and the Brigham residence is one of the finest remaining in the older section of the city. The negotiations with the Knights of Columbus were made through George W. Austin and the price which Oakland Council pays for it is $15,000.

The property will undergo extensive alterations to adapt it not only as a room and general headquarters for the members of Oakland Council, Knights of Columbus, but also as a club house for such of the members as may desire to make it their home. These alterations will cost several thousand dollars.

GRANDSON OF FAMOUS PAINTER IS IN WANT

LONDON Nov. 5.—The great grandson of George Romney, the famous portrait painter, is now traveling from Mexico to London about 250 miles, without any means of subsistence beyond what he can beg on the way. His name is George Romney, and an appeal has been made by a woman interested in his case for funds to save him from the workhouse. He is nearly sixty years of age and his misfortunes are stated to be chiefly due to the fact that he is afflicted with so distressing a stammer that a doctor declared that his efforts to speak are effecting his heart. He has attempted to earn a living in various ways. He has made a little money by sketching, by washing dishes at restaurants, by addressing envelopes and by posing as an artist's model. He is now absolutely without resources and is in a very feeble state of health. He has an invalid sister who is in possession of an income of $250 a week and it is hoped to release a sufficient sum to secure for him a similar amount.

PICTURESQUE SEMI-SWISS HOME

New Residence of A. Cords Which Is Being Erected in Pleasant Valley.

A. J. Snyder reports that since the construction work of laying the trolley line along Grand avenue north of the lake there has been great activity in the properties along the beautiful boulevard and especially in the Pleasant Valley. A. J. Snyder's report is that the new residence of A. Cords in the east Piedmont and northeast Oakland. It has been designed by Architect J. Cather Newman.

The exterior is of cedar shingles and with redwood trimmings. A large black and white cat work present a very clean and well defined outline. The new, projecting window and balcony, the recessed sleeping balcony and porch, all add to the effectiveness of this home. There are seven large rooms contained in this home. The living room in size is 15x22 feet with its book, and arch and porticoed within a few weeks, the number of new homes that will be built in this locality will undoubtedly surpass that of any other part of the city, while the natural beauty of the foothills along the northern shore of Lake Merritt will become more and more known through this new route into the Piedmont hills.

FOURTEENTH ST. CITY HALL SITE

The Capwell Property Will Be Transferred to City at Price Named Over Year Ago.

According to Mayor Mott, the deal will be closed in a few days with H. C. Capwell for the Fourteenth-street frontage adjoining the health office building, which property is needed to round off the new city hall site. "We have had a verbal option on the property for over a year. When we were making estimates on which to base the bond proposition, we asked Mr. Capwell to name a price for the property. He was reluctant to do so because he was then building a house on the site of the new building he is about to erect on the half-block fronting on Clay street, between Fourteenth and Thirteenth streets. We told him, however, that the acquisition of the property by the city was essential to carry out our plans for a new city hall. Mr. Capwell thereupon named a figure at which he would sell to the city and to the city only. That figure is a great deal lower than what the property is worth today; but Mr. Capwell is not taking any advantage of the advance in frontage valuations which has occurred since he gave us a figure on the property. We did not ask Mr. Capwell to give the city a written option, because we knew his word was as good as a bond. The property has been all along at the city disposal since we got the matter to take it over, and that at the same figure as Mr. Capwell named over a year ago. Mr. Capwell has been absent from the city recently, but returned here last week and he is ready to make the transfer as the figure named, and we will probably take over the property at the next meeting of the board of public works. Some of the newspaper got the matter all wrong when they stated that Mr. Capwell was holding out for a higher figure than the property could have been bought at the time the estimates for the bond proposition were being made. Capwell is not that kind of a man."

Both Parties Claim New York Victory

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—"It is not possible that Dix will have less than 100,000 plurality in the state," declared William S. Rodie, chairman of the executive committee of the State Democratic Committee, today.

"We will carry the state for the ticket by more than 100,000 and for Stimson by 50,000," said Chairman Rodie in a statement issued at the same time at the Republican headquarters.

The Democratic chairman said John A. Dix would run ahead of the ticket.

The Republican campaign manager admitted that Henry L. Stimson would run behind.

WINTER SEASON WILL BE A BUSY ONE FOR THE AUTO

Automobile Show Will Be the Best Ever Held Out Here; Motordrome Now Seems a Certainty

By J. A. HOULIHAN.

This winter season promises to be a busy one in so far as the automobile is concerned in California.

SHOW WILL BE A SUCCESS.

Just two weeks distant is what should prove the best exhibition of motor cars ever held on the Pacific Coast. The entire floor space of Idora Park has been sold out for the occasion; were the pavilion twice its size it would hardly be large enough to provide space for the number of cars anxious to exhibit.

For the season of 1911 the motor car makers have confined themselves to refining their products by taking care of the little details. The Ford style of body is coming into universal use. Not a maker but who has adopted this style of body. And it has come to stay. It is sensible and comfortable, particularly so in the winter season.

WEEDING OUT MUSHROOM MAKERS.

The industry itself is assuming a steeper aspect. The mushroom maker is being rapidly weeded out. The next few months should see his abolition. It's a good thing. At his best this type of maker is an intruder of the worst sort. By flimsy advertisements and "wild" immediately for territory reservations," he ropes in many a sucker; secures his money; in every case hopes to, and usually does, get enough to start the manufacture of a few cars. They are junk wagons in every sense of the word. Furthermore, every car he turns out and disposes of means one less buyer of a standard and good automobile. The sooner the death knell is tolled over him the better for every one concerned.

The winter season is a certainty, provided we can raise a comparatively small sum of money. Benefits following an event of his kind have been elaborated upon time and again. Let's pull together on this proposition.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR MOTORDROME.

Prospects are brighter than ever for the motordrome. For a time it looked as though the project was a certainty, and that work would be underway. In fact, the track itself completed by this writing. Advances of every kind have been in the path of Promotor Prince. Now, however, the big item, the location, seems solved, two or three being under advisement. A decision and actual construction can be looked for in the near future, and racing in it is not an impossibility around New Year. San Francisco capitalists have pulled every string to get the track for San Francisco. It has been of no avail. Climatic conditions here and there forego the possibilities of success in the Golden State city.

All in all, a winner of excitement is on ap. It has been many a year since we've had real good winter sport.

Among the recent of the late model are to come here are the four and six cylinder Ford Door Mitchells. Demonstrators in these styles were received this week by Osen and Hunter. The mechanical features and different styles in which the car now comes were fully explained in these columns some two weeks ago. Within the next four weeks carload shipments are expected, as soon as they are received the local company will commence deliveries on a number of orders.

SMALL ADS SHOW OWNERS' DESIRES

Daily Advertising Columns Is Autolst's Clearing House for Trouble.

Just how pleased or displeased motor car owners are with their machines is very accurately reflected in the small ad column of the metropolitan dailies, according to automobile men and advertising managers of the newspapers. If an owner is not wholly satisfied with his car, and the concern from which he purchased his car is not in a position to make adjustments, changes and repairs as should be made by reputable dealers, the owner will eventually seek to rid himself of his car by expressing himself through the small ads of a daily newspaper. For, given circulation, the small ad is exceedingly effective and yet inexpensive.

Recently there appeared in the Sunday edition of a leading daily newspaper in Los Angeles 254 small ads devoted exclusively to the sale or trade of second hand automobiles, of which the owners for various reasons wished to dispose. A tabulation of the names of the machines mentioned in these 254 advertisements showed that there were from one to as high as thirteen cars of the same makes, all more or less well-known makes, but of which the owners wished to get rid.

A most remarkable incident in connection with 254 advertisements, and one of which the Studebaker and E-M-F interests are making much capital is the fact that out of those 254 machines there was not one E-M-F or Lenders car offered for sale or trade. This, on top of the fact that there are more than 2500 E-M-F and Lenders owners in Southern California alone, pretty nearly proves absolutely that E-M-F and Lenders owners are satisfied owners.

1911 Chalmers Radiator Attracts Attention

The Pioneer Automobile Company has received a great many letters and inquiries asking what the light blue bar means at the top of the 1911 Chalmers Radiator. In order to set the public right on this matter Mr. E. P. Brinegar of the Pioneer Automobile Company makes the following statement: "The Chalmers stock cars, when sent into motoring contests, are always painted azure blue, and from this they have come to be known everywhere as Chalmers 'bluebirds.' These bright blue cars have won, during several seasons, more victories in proportion to the number of events entered, than any other make of car."

"Motor Age" last year gave the Chalmers the title of "Champion Cars of the Year." This year the car further justified the title by winning the 1910 Golden Tour—the longest, hardest endurance contest ever held. It is a commemoration of what Chalmers cars have achieved on road and track and all that this blue bar is being placed on the radiators of all Chalmers models. It is a badge of distinction—a symbol of victory—a thing for every owner to take pride in."

Weinstock, Nichols Enlarge Territory

Col. E. Weinstock, president of the Weinstock, Nichols Co., is visiting Los Angeles where the Weinstock, Nichols Co. have just taken over the Southern California branch of the Morgan & Wright Rubber Tire Co. and combined it with their general supply business at 216 South Olive street. This makes the Weinstock, Nichols sole representatives for the Morgan & Wright output in California, Nevada, Arizona and Hawaii.

INTEREST CENTRES IN POPE HARTFORDS

Motoring Public Receives New Car With Favor; Put to Severe Test.

Since their arrival here but a little over a week ago the 1911 Pope-Hartford have been the center of attraction in local autoing circles. When on the salesroom floor of the Consolidated Motor Car Co. these models have been almost continually hidden by the crowd of motor enthusiasts who have been pushing their way to inspect the new Pope-Hartford mechanical developments, while on the streets their elegant lines and graceful styling have attracted all eyes.

Jack Fleming the noted Pope-Hartford racing driver, has been putting these new demonstrators through a series of most strenuous tests and enthusiastically declares them the most marvelous machines for combined speed and climbing capacities that he has ever seen.

Speaking of the reception that the motoring public has rendered these cars, Harry Wehe, president of the Consolidated Motor Car Co., said "We greatly appreciate the truly unusual interest that local automobile enthusiasts and experts have taken in these 1911 models. During all my experience in the automobile business I have never seen a reception given any car that anywhere near approaches that tendered this season's Pope-Hartford. I am fully convinced that the 1911 Pope-Hartford is a genuine exceptional car, and when the public generally come to know the machine they will undoubtedly realize that this opinion expressed by me is not formed because of any prejudice on my part in favor of the car we sell."

Prof. Colvin, of the University of Washington, who has completed sixteen days upon a diet of nothing except plain water, declares that eating is "merely a habit."

Dawson Superintendent Of Stoddard Agencies

Arthur Dawson, one of the best-known of the men active in the automobile world on this side of the bay, and an Oakland boy, has been made superintendent of agencies of the Stoddard-Dayton Co. on the Pacific Coast. His territory is from Bakersfield north to the Washington state line.

The position is a most important one. Thework attached to it entails the placing and establishing of new agencies.

The Stoddard represents natives on the Pacific Coast maintain in San Francisco a very large establishment. Cars of every model manufactured by the Stoddard-Dayton Co. are carried in stock, in nearly every case immediate delivery is possible on any of their cars. Until the establishment of a branch in San Francisco by Norman Church, a dealer on this car within sixty days was almost an impossibility. With this drawback overcome they should prove big factors in this territory.

New Officers Elected by W. P. Motor Company

At a recent meeting of the stockholders of the Western Pacific Motor Car Co. plans were laid for the coming season's campaign throughout their territory and an election of officers was held. The following will known business men of San Francisco, Oakland and Berkeley were elected:

O. D. Hopkins, president and general manager; E. H. Louder, vice-president; T. W. White, secretary; and L. A. Carter, treasurer. The Western Pacific Motor Car Co., although but recently organized, has taken its place as one of the most potential firms in local automobile trade circles. The executive qualifications of the new officers combined with their understanding of the motor car business insure the company even greater future influence.

Among other things, the new officers have made preparations for an excellent display of Inter-State and Warren-Detroit cars at the coming Oakland Automobile Show at Idora Park.

WOMAN MOTORIST EXPERT AT WHEEL

Masters Intricacies of Motor Car Years Ago; Cadillac Her Favorite Car.

Mrs. Carl Christensen, who is shown above at the wheel of a 1911 Cadillac, is a veteran woman motorist. In fact, one of the first women of the State to master the intricacies of the automobile. Her active advent as a motorist occurred some five years ago. Since then she has driven many thousands of miles, and has covered the entire State of California.

Of the many different make cars she has driven, the Cadillac of the new season strikes her fancy a more ways than one as the easiest car for a lady to handle. Easy to crank, and this fact necessary only in the morning with the motor cold, her car could justly be called a self-starter, she says, since it is out of gear starting is possible from the seat (leaving from the standpoint of the steering wheel no car is more facile of operation). Hence her fondness for the Cadillac.

Diamond Tire Co. Is Working for Exposition

Reports from the East indicate that the persistent efforts of the local automobile trade has gained the undivided support of eastern factories for San Francisco as the place to hold the Panama Pacific Exposition. Among the local firms which have prominently identified themselves with this movement is the Diamond Rubber Co. This concern has addressed a personal letter to every automobile manufacturer in the East asking them to be out for San Francisco. The letter emphasizes about three hundred concerns.

Everyone points, today, to the high standing of the Cadillac "Thirty."

It is a fact so obvious that, as soon as the word Cadillac is spoken, you know that a eulogistic comment will follow.

Few realize, however, the plain, practical, home-spun philosophy which has brought the 1911 Cadillac to its present unique position. It can be told in a phrase—a phrase so elemental that you must study to understand it—and that phrase is: "Only the good endures."

Time was not so long ago—when a huge volume of orders meant little or nothing.

The Cadillac Company knew that it meant nothing. We were not deceived. We were not swerved from our ideals.

But today, the fact that no dealer in the country can get as many Cadillacs as he can sell—in spite of an increase of 50 per cent in the production—is surcharged with significance. The increase of 50 per cent is itself significant and the inability of the dealers to get enough cars, in spite of this increase, is still more significant.

The sifting process—the process of selection and elimination—has been going on steadily, in the face of a fevered demand which no facilities could supply.

Never for one moment did the sales organization of the Cadillac Company forget that its highest mission was to find people everywhere who wanted a good car; that the quality of Cadillac sales was vitally more significant than the volume.

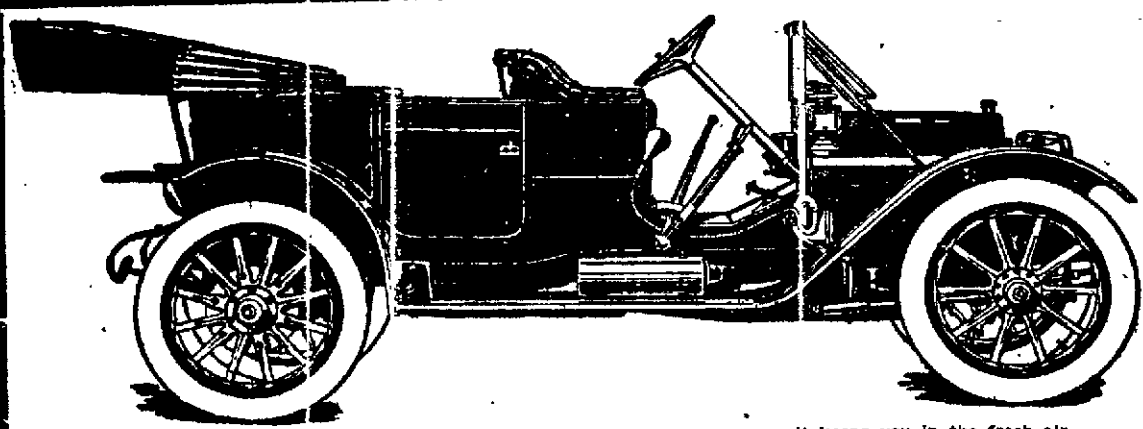

It has never entered the minds of the men who conceived the Cadillac, even though they have been continuously distracted by a demand greater than they could supply, to build any but the best and the most honest car they could.

That is the real reason why not a dealer in the country can get as many Cadillacs as he can sell.

"ONLY THE GOOD ENDURES," and, as long as the Cadillac Company adheres, as it always will, in principle and practice, to that high ideal, just so long will it enjoy its present high estate.

CENTRAL MOTOR CAR COMPANY

TWELFTH AND HARRISON, OAKLAND

It requires no track to run on—it doesn't have to stop at every corner—it keeps you in the fresh air.

More Than a Mere Machine

There is a fascination about an automobile that never wears off—a sort of ever-thrilling mystery. While the modern motor car is a machine, every part of which is perfectly easy to understand, yet every motorist will tell you his car is something more than a machine—a half-human thing.

We grow attached to the thing that serves us well—the horseman loves his horse, the engineer loves his engine, the motorist loves his good car, because it is always ready, willing, anxious to do his bidding.

There is something about the purr of the motor that suggests willingness, and there is something about the chug, chug, as it climbs a hill that suggests determination.

The automobile is a man's toy as well as his servant—a toy that is worth a man's time and attention. The driving of one calls forth the finest faculties a man has. It requires concentration, foresight, judgment, courage, initiative and sometimes endurance. The man who drives his own car cannot possibly put a price on the good it does him in the development of these qualities.

The motor car is the most wonderful mechanical thing that man has yet perfected—it is the joy of all who own one, the envy of all who do not.

It is the man who does not own a car that does most all the talking about upkeep expense. After he is an automobile owner you never hear another word—he is getting more than his money's worth in service, pleasure and health.

We want more people to buy motor cars. We would like to sell you a Chalmers, of course, but if, after investigation, you decide against us, we shall still say, "Buy a car—it is a good investment."

What We Are Trying to Do

The desire of the Chalmers Motor Company is to supply genuine motor cars to sell at medium prices—to build cars which will give all the service anyone could ask and sell them at prices within the reach of every prospective buyer.

It has been the aim to build cars that could go as far in a day and get back as surely and safely as any other cars no matter what they cost—to build cars that would be economical and durable through a long period of time.

These aims have been realized to their fullest extent in the Chalmers "Forty" at $2750. There is not a car on the market at any price that enjoys a better reputation in the motoring world than this wonderful car.

We do not ask you to take these statements on faith. All we ask is the benefit of an impartial comparison with other cars. Call at our showrooms and let us demonstrate to you all the sterling qualities of the Chalmers "Forty."

MOTOR TRUCKS TO BE BIG FEATURE

Commercial Vehicle Exhibit to Be Finest Ever Seen On the Coast.

Among the displays that will be especially featured at the Oakland Automobile Show is that of motor-driven commercial vehicles. Among the most prominent development of the past season's motor car trade has been the awakening interest in trucks and lighter delivery wagons. Nearly three times as many commercial vehicles are now represented on the local market as were here at this time last year and there is a well directed tendency in the part of all the large firms with extensive transfer requirements to displace their horse methods with the motor.

The Oakland show, which is scheduled for November 19 to 26, at Idora Park, will be the first motor car exposition in this vicinity to give space to commercial vehicles. This will offer an exceptional opportunity of a comparative study of the different features used by the various makes of trucks. Among the commercial cars already assigned the space the Alco, Autocar, Buick, Sawyer-Miller, Gradowsky and Grumman are worthy of special notice, because of the exceptional reputation already established by them in this vicinity.

Haynes Prominent in Georgia Road Tour

Among the most prominent contenders in the Georgia Road Tour were the two Haynes entries. The roads were among the worst in the South, but in spite of thorough going both Haynes cars made perfect scores. The following telegram forwarded to the Haynes Auto Sales Co. from the Cork & Motor Co. of Atlanta, Ga., tells the story:

"Our two Haynes cars, model 19's, belonging to private owner, with seventy-four other contestants, returned on time this afternoon from Georgia Good Roads Tour, thousands of miles, nine days out, some rough and sandy roads, absolutely perfect score no repairs or adjustments of any kind, not a miss or skip of water, and a car in three left Atlanta, Ga. Could do same stunt over on five minutes' notice."

Hup Globe Tourists Finding Rough Roads

Joseph R. Drake and Tom O. Jones, two of the three tourists who will make the world trip in a Hupmobile touring car, are now engaged in laying out the youth which the cars will follow in grinding the globe. This they are finding is no easy task. Their vast stretches where an automobile has never gone, where an automobile will be the first motor to travel. For these great areas there is no route maps or guide books. Except in the most general way no information is available for these territories, and the trip of the Hupmobile will be of value in adding to the available knowledge of the touring departments of the automobile association in this country and Europe.

It is expected that the complete itinerary will be laid out and all arrangements made so that nothing will interfere with the beginning of the trip.

The Test of a Car

WHAT is the test of a car today—what does an owner need most unless he is a millionaire? Economy of operation—combined with reasonable size and reasonable speed.

Judged by this touchstone, there is one car that suits every requirement—The White Gasoline Motor. It is a moderate size car—of moderate weight—moderate price, and above all, moderate in up-keep, having a four-cylinder, long-stroke engine, with power enough for every purpose. On this basis, and this basis only, White Gasoline Cars invite the inspection and comparison.

With regard to materials and method of manufacture, an unbiased expert—one of the leading men of the country—has said that it is impossible to build a car better than the methods now in vogue at the White Company's factory.

If you are interested in a car which combines this manufacturing excellence with a proper balancing of size and power, let us show you the car itself.

STERLING NOW WITH ELMORE AGY.

Well Known Bank Cashier Joins Hands With A. T. Smith in Motor Game.

The announcement just made that B. T. Sterling has associated himself with A. T. Smith, California distributor for the Elmore car, has occasioned great interest in local automobile trade circles. Sterling is well known in the local motoring fraternity, being secretary and one of the leading spirits of the San Francisco Motor Club.

As cashier of the Van Ness branch of the Central Trust Co., Sterling has come into close acquaintance with the automobile trade in San Francisco. Speaking of the addition of Sterling to the Elmore agency, Smith said:

"Elmore business has increased to a point where it is impossible for me to longer care for it without assistance. In the past I have been handling the Elmore, both retail and wholesale, throughout California by myself, but find that I cannot longer do it justice. Because of his recognized executive abilities and wide knowledge of automobile affairs, Sterling will undoubtedly be an ideal man for the Elmore agency."

MANUEL DESIRED TO FIGHT IT OUT

Wanted to Face Music, But Minister and Queen Over-ruled Him.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The real story of the king's retreat from Lisbon has just come out, and here it is: The Marquis de Villabona, the Spanish minister to Lisbon, and formerly the Spanish ambassador in London, is talking to himself the credit of having saved Spain from a civil war outbreak, but those who know him express the opinion that he played a distinctly discreditable part in the affair. Manuel was completely under the thumb of the marquis and his mother, who in turn was in the power of the marquis. When the marquis broke out Manuel was at the point of making a fight, but the marquis, fearing more for Spain than for the young king, insisted on flight, wherein he was supported by Queen Amelie. Together they overruled the boy's resolution. These are now known to be the true facts of the case. The marquis is a wily diplomat, with two false legs, and, as his enemies declared, "a top to his head that buttons on."

"TWELFTH NIGHT" IS GIVEN BY STUDENTS

BERKELEY, Nov. 5.—More than 600 parents and friends of Berkeley high school pupils attended the production of Shakespeare's comedy, "Twelfth Night," at the high school auditorium this evening. A large sum was realized for the benefit of the school piano fund. The students gave a creditable performance of the comedy and were the recipients of much applause. The principal parts were played by Miss Mabel Button as Viola, and by Eric Lawson as Duke.

AUTO MAKERS REALIZE VALUE OF ADVERTISING

Noted Expert Declares Daily Newspapers Offer Rich Field for Motor Car Producers

In an article written for the New York Times, Frank Presbury, well-known advertising authority and head of the Frank Presbury Company, of New York, discusses the present status of the automobile industry and declares that more and more manufacturers are recognizing its value.

"In the automobile manufacturing industry conditions have changed vastly during the past decade. Ten years ago the motor car was little more than a luxurious plaything—a land yacht, so to speak—of the fortunate few whose means and inclinations led them to the purchase of what was then a new and altogether unsatisfactory possession.

The times have advanced and the automobile has improved until now it can be considered as thoroughly reliable as any other method of locomotion. The day this latest adjunct to twentieth century civilization has become an economic necessity, indispensable alike to the leisure class, the city dweller, the suburbanite, and the farmer. The car has even invaded the business world, and is slowly, but nevertheless surely, emancipating the horse from his heaviest labors.

The business of automobile manufacturing has grown with the demand for the product—from a few small factories in 1900 to several hundred mammoth establishments at the present day. The output of cars has enormously increased, likewise the capital invested and the number of employees. At the same time, the average sales price per car has been materially reduced.

These facts indicate clearly enough the present status of the enterprise. The needs and requirements of the automobile-buying public are being more carefully considered and more adequately met; in other words, the supply is overtaking the demand and competition is making itself felt.

The situation is of great advantage to the customer. He no longer accepts "any old car" as good enough because he fears he cannot get another at any price without a long and tedious delay. "Deliveries" are now made in a few days, and "sales on the floor" have become increasingly common.

WIDER ADVERTISING METHODS IMPORTANT.

With the classification of the automobile as an economic necessity, with the recognition of keen competition among manufacturers, and the near approach of the time when the supply will be equal to, if not overtop, the demand, the matter of wider advertising of the automobile becomes more and more important. It is true that automobiles are and have been advertised largely for many years, but it is also true that most of this publicity has been intensive rather than extensive. Manufacturers have been content to make their announcements in their own trade papers, the leading magazines, and a few of the more prominent illustrated periodicals. The broader fields of the great city dailies and the newspapers of smaller communities have been largely neglected, or, if used this has been done merely by the local agent or dealer. There have been very few broad general daily newspaper advertising campaigns on the part of the manufacturers themselves.

DAILY PRESS OFFERS RICH FIELD.

That the daily newspaper is one of the richest of advertising fields for the automobile business as it exists today there can be little doubt. First of all the daily newspaper repeats its message every twenty-four hours. Next, it reaches all classes of people. And thirdly, it is read by the active and progressive members of every community. Furthermore, many newspapers by their unerring journalistic instinct that instantly seizes upon vital facts and presents them in the most interesting form, have adopted and are including "automobile news notes" as permanent features of each issue. The automobile happenings of a day or a week are recognized as of interest to all readers, whether the chronicle tells of a Vanderbilt Cup race or the motor car outing of a neighbor.

If the manufacturer desires to maintain his hard-earned prestige—either for superiority of product or quantity of output—he must reckon, in the days to come, with the daily paper. He cannot remain satisfied with telling his story to the public once a week or once a month, valuable though that may be. He must tell it day after day, tell it with variety, tell it with added "news" facts, and the relation of recent achievements. He must recognize the cumulative value of repetition. And he must never let his public forget him.

The 1911 Ford Door Maxwell touring cars were received yesterday by McIver and Becker. The arrival of this car, which has been delayed for some three weeks, created a little stir, particularly among Maxwell owners. Demonstrations were in order during the entire day; the closing signal last night found Sales Manager Hull a tired man. No less than fifteen demonstrations were made by him, and several orders taken for delivery at the earliest possible date.

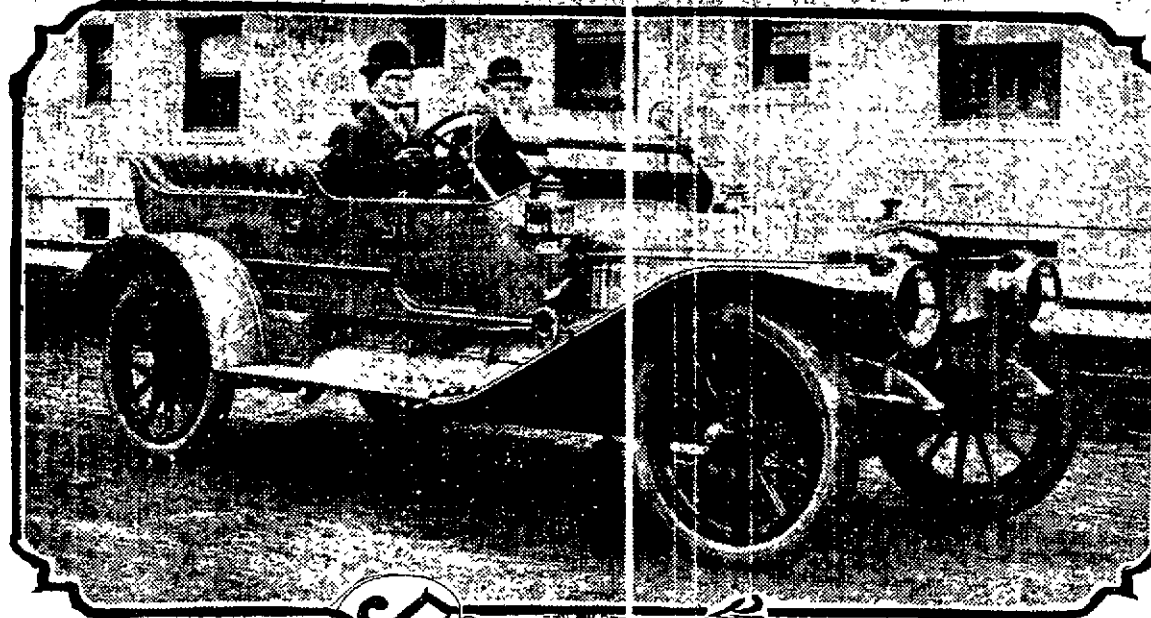

Some of the changes on the 1911 Maxwell include improvements in the way of details. The oiler on the new car, for instance, pumps the oil from the crankcase to the sight feed on the dash, then back to the cylinders. It is of an improved type such as used on the highest grade of cars. Economy of oil fuel is a strong feature claimed for this system. The Maxwell unit power plant provides again this season. In past seasons this style has proven entirely satisfactory.

Speed lever inside the door, mud guards shaped after the French style of mud guards, a new Maxwell car with a new adjustment only and a motor almost noiseless are other features brought into use for 1911.

The Maxwell motor is of the T head one cylinder. With the five bearing crank shaft on which it operates, long motor life is insured.

Reese and Lawrence, Buick and Oldsmobile distributors here, have been advised by wire that a big shipment of the new Oldsmobile are en route for the coast and should arrive in good season for the show.

DOCTOR SHOT BY MADMAN PATIENT

Servants Try to Kill Assailant
But Victim Protects Him
From Harm.

LISBON, Nov. 5.—Dr. Bombarda, a celebrated specialist for mental diseases, was visited in his consulting room by an army officer, Lieutenant Roberto, whom he had formerly treated at a hospital.

The doctor asked after his present state of health, and the madman answered by firing three revolver shots, wounding him in the abdomen. Dr. Bombarda, a powerful man, threw himself on the aggressor, and both rolled on the floor, the madman emptying the three remaining chambers of the revolver. Hearing the noise, the doctor's servants rushed in. They saw their master in a pool of blood and promptly attempted to kill the assailant. Dr. Bombarda, however, rose and, throwing himself in front of the officer, cried: "Don't hurt him! He is a madman!" On this he fell back, being expired at 8 o'clock that evening.

Dr. Bombarda was one of the most distinguished and respected men of science in Portugal. His recent adherence to the Republican party caused a great stir. He was elected to parliament as a member for Lisbon at the last elections.

Touring Car are included in this shipment. The Limited Touring Car is fitted with a powerful motor this season, the specifications calling for cylinders cast in pairs with a five inch bore and six inch stroke. Great claims are made that the new Oldsmobile exceeds by far anything which this company has previously produced.

In addition to these cars to be on exhibit at the Oakland show, there will be the new Buick truck and the famous Buick 40 racer.

HARVARD'S BIG FELLOWS TOO MUCH FOR CORNELL

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 5.—The brawny gridiron warriors of Harvard this afternoon trotted upon Cornell's featherweight eleven and rolled up a score of 27 to 0.

The touchdowns made by Cornell in the last few minutes of play saved them from utter rout, they being the first aggregation to send the ball over the crimson line for a score this season. That the Ithaca team scored at all was due to the fact that the Cornell coaches sent in an almost entirely substitute team in order to give the regular men a rest.

The heavyweight crimson backs penetrated the light Cornell line at will.

Harness Season Will Close Today at Park

The San Francisco Driving Club will close the local light harness race season today at the stadium speedway. A card of six trotting and pacing races has been arranged, with which to conclude the season, and the sport should be the best that has been put on the park track this year.

The card lists a large one and from five to ten horses will go in each race.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 5.—The Stanford varsity Rugby fifteen ran up a score of 27 to 0 on the Olympic Club in a game played here this afternoon. The San Franciscans played a good game, but had neither the endurance nor the technique which characterized the play of the college men.

Near the beginning of the first half Kern, who has been one of the strongest men on the fifteen throughout the season, broke his right leg just above the ankle. Exactly how the accident occurred cannot be determined, but it is known that the limb was broken in a collision with an Olympic player. This is a serious, though not irreparable loss to Stanford.

The kicking of Brown, the Cardinal fullback, was a feature of the contest. Time after time he would find touch on wonderfully well placed boots at 40 or 50 yards. Erb, as usual, executed some extremely difficult kicks and Stan Mitchell, playing center three-quarters, played with a noticeable touch of his old form.

THOBURN REPLACES KERN.

Stanford kicked off at the opening of the game and the clubmen, by a series of dribbling passes and kicks for touch, brought the leather back to the center line. From a line out near this point, Partridge broke away for 23 yards and passed to Sandoli, who crossed the goal line, scoring the initial try. Dole kicked an easy goal. Score: Stanford 5, Olympic 0.

Immediately following the subsequent kick-off Kern was injured and was replaced by Thoburn. A number of pretty passing rushes were executed by Harrigan, Mitchell, Reeves and Geissler, but no score was made until a penalty on the forty-yard line gave Erb an opportunity to try a drop kick for the goal. The attempt was successful. Score: Stanford 8, Olympic 0.

The Olympic dropped out to touch at the forty-yard line. From the line-out Erb passed to Geissler, who slipped the leather to Harrigan as the latter shot around the ruck, and he carried it into touch on the two-yard line.

Dole secured the ball on the line-out and plowed through for a try. He failed to convert. Score: Stanford 11, Olympic 0.

SCORING IS EASY.

Erb secured the pignskin on the dropout and booted back to Miller who returned to Erb. The latter crossed kicked to McKenzle who put the ball into touch near the center line. A passing rush from Mitchell to Geissler, Reeves carried the ball twenty yards toward the goal, but McKenzle and Miller brought it back. Here the Cardinal forwards carried the ball before them down the field, putting it into touch at the fifteen-yard line.

From a line-out Erb passed to Harrigan, who crossed kicked to Sharpe. The latter went down the field for about 70 yards and was prevented from scoring by Mitchell's tackle.

From this time on the ball was kept in play until the Cardinal got the only successful defense of the college men preventing a score.

Soon after the kick-off in the second period a passing rush starting from a line-out brought the ball to midfield. Here Erb secured the ball and passed to Harrigan to Thoburn. Harrigan who took the ball into touch. From the line-out Minahan broke through, clearing 30 yards scoring a try. Dole missed the goal. Score: Stanford 14, Olympic 0.

Later Geissler and Erb dribbling the ball before them brought it to the ten-yard line, where the former booted it over and fell on it. Geissler converted his try. Score: Stanford 19, Olympic 0.

For some time following this try the Olympic team worked together beautifully, threatening the Stanford goal repeatedly. The university fifteen gradually forced the pignskin back, however, into the San Franciscans' territory.

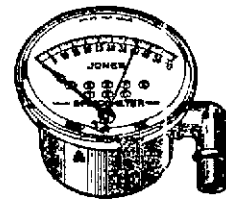

A passing rush from Harrigan to Minahan to Chada placed the ball in the hands of Reeves, who ran twenty-five yards to a goal. Geissler converted. Score: Stanford 24, Olympic 0.

A final try was scored from a line

SOUP BEARER TRODS CAT'S TAIL; HOSPITAL

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—A common black cat appearing at an inopportune moment in the restaurant at the Alhambra, resulted in two persons receiving imprudent blows of hot soup and Andre being obliged to go to the receiving hospital for treatment for a dislocated left elbow.

Andre was serving the patrons. Just as he was about to place a bowl of soup on the table he stepped on the tail of a black cat that darter across his path. The bowl of the hot soup started Andre, he lost his balance and fell on the floor. The hot liquid splashed on two of Andre's arms and the unfortunate waiter, angry because he had lost his left elbow was dislocated. "I have been good to that cat," said Andre while the police surgeons were preparing to put him under the influence of ether. "But—how you say beam-novaire again?"

Out, Thoburn to Erb. Geissler failed to convert with a difficult goal. Score: Stanford 27, Olympic 0.

EDITORIAL

What New Money Means to Oakland
One of the most necessary factors in the development of any city is "new money." Without it no city can grow, and therefore the greatest good that can be done a community is to bring outside capitalists into it to put new money in circulation. That is what Rock Ridge is doing for Oakland.

A certain man of means from outside the State had always planned to build a home in California when he retired. He had friends near Burlingame, and knew that country well. He had been in Oakland several times and rather liked it, but was not an enthusiast. After he had about decided to buy in Burlingame he saw Rock Ridge. The prices were so low for fine property and the restrictions so stringent that it interested this man at once as an investment, for he foresaw the inevitable growth of Oakland. Then the idea of living in Rock Ridge got hold of him, and the more he thought about it the more he wanted to live there, and nowhere else.

The result is Rock Ridge has bought just one more good desirable resident to Oakland. That this buyer paid $12,500 for a fine site—and that someone in Oakland is richer by just that much "new money." But it didn't stop there. A $40,000 home is to be built, which means five or six months' work for a corps of carpenters, lathers, millmen, etc., as well as a large investment in building materials. And it doesn't stop there. This man brings his family and five or six servants to live in Oakland, and the best drygoods and grocery stores, as well as the cafes and the theaters, do more business. And even then it doesn't stop, for the friends of this man visit his home and are influenced through the beauties of Rock Ridge to come to Oakland to live. And the same thing repeats all over again.

This is only one of several such instances. Never before in the history of transbay real estate has any one subdivision attracted so many out of town buyers as residents. The idea of almost every prosperous business man in the country is to build an attractive home somewhere about the bay and retire when he is able. Just where these retired capitalists settle depends upon two things—the price and quality of the property. And in these things Rock Ridge stands alone. But mind you, it was the price and the quality of the property that attracted these buyers. And these people have found what they wanted in Rock Ridge. So can you.

PIPES PRECEDE PAVEMENTS

Streets in the Place Will Soon Be Ready for Rock and Oil.

The water pipes for the permanent system are now being laid in Rock Ridge Place. Four inch mains are going in on Rock Ridge Boulevard and across Park Place. Cement culverts are also going in on the property, and soon as this work is completed the heavy rock will be laid on the streets. The final work on the old macadam pavements is nearly being laid back in the place until the water mains are in. Then the pavements will be pushed to completion.

In the park the street work is progressing rapidly. All of the roads have received their second rolling and second oiling. They will now have to stand for a week before they are ready for the fine screenings. Everyone who has visited the park and seen the high grade street work that is going on in it has come away highly enthusiastic. This is only a part of the splendid improvements which altogether will cost the Laymance Real Estate Co. over $250,000, all with the purpose of making Rock Ridge the most beautiful residence property of California.

BUYS IN ROCK RIDGE

Physician's Wife Returns From Year Abroad and Buys Homesite in Park.

Mrs. Chester Tessa, the wife of Dr. C. J. Tessa, a well-known physician of Northern California, has bought a homesite in Rock Ridge Park. Dr. and Mrs. Tessa have just returned from a year spent in Europe, and will make their home here in the future. Mrs. Tessa felt that no place they visited equaled California as a place to live, and that Rock Ridge is the garden spot of the golden state.

The site selected by Mrs. Tessa is on West View Drive and is beautifully wooded. It has the view of the bay, which has made Rock Ridge famous; also the look across to the Claremont Canyon and the home of Charles Keeler.

To get to Rock Ridge Place take the College Ave. car to Lawton and walk one block east to Broadway.

SALE ON CROSS ROAD

Frank H. Ricker Follows Friend to Rock Ridge.

Frank H. Ricker has bought in Rock Ridge as the result of a purchase made last week by his friend J. S. Coyne. Mr. Ricker visited Rock Ridge to see his friend's new home, and was so delighted with it that he at once made a deposit on a site on the cross road. This is the street which leads into the park from Claremont Manor, and its large frontages have a $1000 restriction placed upon them because of their superior situation.

PERSONALS

E. L. Dorn has recently purchased a charming home in the Park on Ocean View Drive, across from R. H. Harris' home. The outlook from this lot is particularly beautiful. Through the trees one looks out upon the hills and mountains of Claremont and beyond to San Pablo Bay. The remarkable fact is that this property was sold for $21 a foot.

EDUCATOR BUYS SITE

C. E. Hudspeth, principal of the Washington school, is now a Rock Ridge owner. Mr. Hudspeth has bought a 75-foot lot facing west on Prospect drive. The marine view is one of the charms of this particular site.

PROPERTY ATTRACTS BECAUSE OF UNUSUAL CHARACTER

Rock Ridge Combines Country Charm with City Conveniences

One reason for the phenomenal sale of Rock Ridge property during the past year lies in the fact that his new subdivision has so many unusual and highly desirable features. The best class of buyers will no longer be satisfied with the usual residence tract—a flat, treeless piece of land, cut up into square blocks. Such a subdivision may be in the heart of the city or miles out, but it looks like every other one of its kind when it is built up.

People who can afford to build homes costing over $8500 are almost without exception the kind of buyers who want distinctive homes. They want to build houses which won't look just like every other one in the neighborhood. They know that to get real individuality into any home the site itself must be individual. In this particular, as in many others, Rock Ridge has satisfied the discriminating. For there is a vast variety of home sites in the confines of Rock Ridge—level and sloping lots, open and wooded ones, and sites with a view of the bay or an outlook toward the hills.

For all nature lovers it is a hardship to live in closely built portions of the city. Yet for many of them it is absolutely necessary to be within easy access of the business center. And because Rock Ridge offers a happy solution of just such difficulties many people who own attractive homes in the older residence sections are planning to move out to Rock Ridge.

As will be seen in the accompanying photograph Rock Ridge has all the charm of the real country—and yet it is within ten minutes of the heart of the business section by a nearby car line. Because of the restrictions which prohibits the cutting of trees, and making it impossible for a buyer ever to subdivide his large home site, there is every reason for Rock Ridge to retain its natural beauty. In fact, this will only be enhanced when the restrictions which are built upon the large frontages which are being sold so rapidly, in beautiful Rock Ridge.

The Last Homesite--Rock Ridge Boulevard

There is only one homesite left on Rock Ridge Boulevard—that beautiful street which commences at Broadway, where the classic entrance is, and winds through Rock Ridge Place into the Park. There is an ideal spot upon which to build a home. It is the kind of an spot upon which one dreams of but seldom finds. You can buy it today at $30 a foot, and sell it two years from now for $70 to $120 a foot.

When you are at Rock Ridge today be sure to ask about this lot—or find it for yourself. You can't miss it. It's just inside the entrance, to your right. And be sure to go out today!
